Egypt Restores Gen. Naguib To Presidency

Threat Of Army Revolt Forces An About-Face

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 27 (AP)—The threat of a revolt in army ranks forced Egypt's young military rulers tonight to restore popular Gen. Mohammed Naguib to the presidency.

An army spokesman said Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, who engineered Naguib's ouster on Thursday, would be Prime Minister. Before Thursday Naguib held both posts.

An official announcement broadcast to Egypt's millions said the decision was taken to "preserve the unity of the nation."

But even before the radio spread the word, thousands of cheering Egyptians gathered before Naguib's house in a Cairo suburb. There the smiling general, under house arrest since Thursday, slipped a brown bathrobe over his pajamas and waved to his people from the terrace.

In the streets of Cairo, where a few hours before armed police and soldiers stood guard to prevent possible rioting, scores of impromptu parades started, with the enthusiastic crowds shouting such slogans as "God save Naguib!" and "No revolution without Naguib."

Tears of joy ran down Naguib's cheeks as he told a reporter "we must all sacrifice ourselves for the sake of Egypt. This dissension is a tempest in a teapot." Naguib, 53, wore his major general's uniform as he waited to be called before a meeting of the 11-member Revolutionary Council.

The communique broadcast to 20 million Egyptians said: "The Revolutionary Council announced that to preserve the unity of the nation the council decided to restore Gen. Naguib as President of Egypt and Gen. Naguib has accepted."

This council of young military leaders announced early Thursday that Naguib had been removed as president and premier because he wanted to assume the powers of a dictator.

The bitter split within the council leaked to the public this morning as 36-year-old Nasser moved up tanks and field guns to guard army headquarters.

For hours the 11 young officers argued, then finally decided to back down and restore Naguib as chief of state in the interest of Egyptian unity.

The grim showdown which occurred without the shooting that seemed possible earlier in the day ended with Naguib more firmly established than ever as the popular hero of Egypt.

The question remaining was whether Naguib would be content to remain a figurehead President, as he has been in the past, with Nasser exercising the real power as Premier.

Nasser has been the driving power behind Egypt's new military regime. He was mainly responsible for the ouster of Farouk from the throne in July 1952.

Batchelor, Back In U. S., Thinks 'Holdouts' Will Never Come Back

Fears Reds Will Use Americans To Propagandize

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, one-time leader of the pro-communist American prisoners of war, said in a letter released here yesterday by Mrs. H. B. Wilson of Urania, La., whose son Aaron is one of the 21 remaining prisoners, that he believes the "holdouts" will be used for Red propaganda "until Communism is stomped out."

He said he did not believe they would be killed.

Batchelor, who arrived at McClellan Air Force Base in California yesterday en route from Hawaii to his home in Kermit, Tex., commented to questioning reporters covering his first arrival in the United States only:

"I don't think we'll ever see any of those fellows again. It doesn't look now like they can ever get back."

Batchelor told the reporters nothing of his beliefs concerning the fate of the remaining prisoners, but told Mrs. Wilson—in a letter he wrote to her Feb. 2—that he did not believe the POW's would be shot.

"I believe the Chinese will send them to school as they promised," the letter read, "to continue their indoctrination program with them.

"Then, after a few years, they will have thoroughly indoctrinated young Americans who will point to

Ex-Convict Held In Extortion Plot Against Jockeys

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) — A balding ex-convict from Baltimore was jailed today in a fantastic plot involving threats on the lives of two famous jockeys shortly before they were to ride in the $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park.

Robert Hugh Lonsford, 46, a mild mannered unemployed construction worker, was seized by the FBI and charged with attempting to extort $6,000 from jockeys Conn McCreary and Ted Atkinson.

McCreary said letters sent to him contained threats "to shoot Ted and myself when we least expected it. In one letter he threatened to chop off my hands so I'd never be able to ride again."

Atkinson said "This fellow apparently operated on the theory that all races are fixed. He said we knew which horses were going to win. He also said he knew we were betting against our own mounts and that he wanted in on the good things."

Lonsford, blinking his eyes nervously behind rimless glasses, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Roger Edward Davis who ordered him held for trial in $10,000 bond.

"You have indicated you will plead guilty," Davis said during the arraignment held in his law office because federal courts are closed on Saturdays.

"That's right," said Lonsford. "It doesn't matter about the bond. I can't make it, anyhow."

Newsmen asked him the reason for his actions.

"I couldn't get work and tried to make some easy money," Lonsford explained. "I thought I could make it this way. But it was all a hoax. I didn't intend to shoot anybody. I don't even have a gun."

Edward J. Powers, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Miami, said the arrest ended a three week search for a man who threatened the two jockeys with torture

Clearing Skies, Cooler Today

According to CAA officials at Selman Field the dust that filled the air in the Twin Cities last night was associated with a cold front, which passed through the area about 5:30 p.m. yesterday. Shortly before 10 p.m. the CAA predicted the worst of the dust would have passed over the Twin Cities by 1:30 a.m.

When contacted CAA reported the maximum temperature for the day was 83 degrees. The minimum to that time was 52 degrees.

The government weather bureau forecast clearing skies and lower temperatures for Louisiana today. Monday is expected to be fair, and warmer in the northwest portion during the afternoon.

Arkansas, it was predicted, will be clearing and colder in the east and central portions today. Monday is expected to be fair, and warmer in the north and west portions in the afternoon.

Drive To Slash Excise Taxes Is Due This Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The first move in a potent drive to cut many excise taxes in half may get under way early next week.

House Republican leaders said yesterday they are confident the Eisenhower administration will put up little or no real opposition to early passage of the bill.

There were broad hints the House Ways and Means Committee would take up the excise cutting proposal at a meeting called Monday for an unannounced purpose.

The plan, publicly backed by House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and other key Republicans and many Democrats, would bring down to 10 per cent all excise or sales taxes now above that level.

One GOP theory was that these cuts could help fight off a Democratic drive to boost individual income tax exemptions.

Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee said today they thought it was very significant that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey—in a private parley with them and Martin Friday—raised no objections to the planned excise cuts.

TOKYO, Feb. 27 —UP—Vice Admiral William M. Callaghan will replace Vice Admiral Robert P. Biscoe as United Nations Naval forces commander around Korea early in April, the Navy announced Saturday.

Biscoe, who has been the Naval commander in Korea for the past year and a half has been ordered to duty in Washington.

NEW DELHI, Feb. 27 —UP—The food situation in India has improved to a point where it is unnecessary to import wheat, informed sources said Saturday.

India will not take the 1 million tons of wheat allotted to her under the international wheat agreement for the year of July 1953 to June 1954, the sources said.

Detective Hit During Furious 2-Hour Battle

E. G. Huckabay, Maurice Miller, Die In Action

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 27—UP—A Negro shot and killed two police officers, including the Shreveport police chief, Saturday then fell fatally wounded as an angry posse rushed his barricaded tenant house some 20 miles south of here.

Killed in the furious gunbattle were Shreveport Chief of Police E. G. Huckabay, Maurice Miller, deputy sheriff of Bossier Parish, and the Negro identified as Man West, about 35.

State Police Lt. W. T. Tanner said Miller was shot down and his head split open with an axe as he went to the home of the Negro's mother to serve a non-support warrant.

Huckabay was killed and Shreveport detective J. B. Chandler was wounded in the hand as they rushed the tenant house where West had barricaded himself after killing Miller.

"It took us three hours to get the Negro," said Tanner. "More than 100 shots must have been fired

Four Youthful Firefighters Are Burned To Death

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., Feb. 27 (AP)—Four youths, trapped in a narrow mountainous gorge in Cherokee National Forest, burned to death today while fighting a forest fire.

The victims were Jerry Woods, Kenneth Pearson, Herman Carden, all 19, and Bobby Simerly, 16.

They were members of a six-man state fire-fighting crew which had been called out to combat a blaze on rugged Jenkins Mountain, near the Hampton community about six miles southeast of here.

State Fire Control Officer Don Smith said a sudden shift of wind apparently caused the blaze to leap through pine trees from one side of the 100-foot gorge to the other, trapping the youths.

"They tried to run out of the gorge but the terrain was too rugged and they couldn't make it," Smith said.

Young Simerly's father, Will, was head of the crew and he and a sixth member, James O. Reece, managed to escape. However, Reece suffered minor burns.

Dallas Lyons, 32, a Hampton farmer, posted $1,000 bond at Carter County jail tonight on charges of "malicious mischief and starting a fire." The charges were filed by Smith.

Sheriff Ray Johnson quoted Lyons as saying he was burning a field about 300 yards from the gorge where the youths were trapped. Lyons said wind whipped the fire out of control.

State fire crews and 29 U. S. Forest Service rangers fought the blaze all afternoon and into the night before bringing it under control.

Search Pressed For Lost Plane

The plane vanished after its pilot, Capt. M. Ray Cawley, 39, of Bountiful, Utah, reported yesterday morning he was near Wright, Wyo., 80 miles northeast of Casper, and would try to land at Rapid City, S. D.

Nothing was heard from the plane after that.

Clearing weather after a light snowstorm aided searchers and George Nelson, Wyoming aeronautics director, said he had hopes the entire northeastern corner of Wyoming would be covered by nightfall.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —UP—President Eisenhower went to Burning Tree club Saturday for lunch and round of golf.

Treaty Proposal To Be Issue In 1954 Campaigns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he doubts any further move will be made in Congress this year for a constitutional amendment curbing the President's power to make international pacts.

Commenting on the Senate's vote Friday night which killed a substitute by Sen. George (D-Ga) for an already-dead proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), Knowland said he knew of no move to reconsider the vote.

Bricker and George said, however, the issue would be revived in this fall's congressional campaign.

The Senate voted 60-31, one short of the necessary two-thirds of those participating, and thus the George proposal was killed.

Although any one of the absentee senators, or any who voted against the George plan, could move to reconsider next week, the split among the five who didn't vote was such that the George substitute evidently would lose it all 96 Senate votes were recorded.

George had proposed assistance under which treaties and other international agreements would be void if they did not conform to the Constitution. Executive agreements other than treaties could become effective as internal law only by act of Congress.

The Eisenhower administration had opposed the latter provision as likely to curtail the President's war powers and hamper his conduct of diplomatic relations with other countries.

Livestock Show In Delhi Opens Tomorrow; Rodeo And Show Stock Arriving

By FRANK NOONAN
(Morning World Farm Editor)

DELHI, Feb. 27—The Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show grounds were seething with activity as the preliminaries to the big exposition opening Monday were enacted here today.

Livestock streamed into Delhi from throughout the district and from many out of state points, swelling the senior division ranks to more than 200 animals and pushing the junior division total close to that number.

By early Monday both divisions are expected to have upwards of 350 livestock entries each, with the junior class having some 250 chickens on display.

As a part of the surge of activity necessary to get the stage set for the Monday opening of the five-day show, hogs were tagged, weighed, scrubbed down with soap and water and groomed for the test ahead. Herdsmen also worked diligently at the task of soaping and scrubbing their cattle.

At the ball park adjoining the show grounds, youngsters lined fence tops and arena railings Saturday afternoon as some of the rodeo animals were ushered into their pens to await their summons for performances on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The ball park ground where the rodeo will be staged, was disced and wet down so it would provide a welcome cushion for livestock and performers.

Most of the rodeo animals are scheduled to arrive by early Sunday officials said, and in all, will include 20 bucking horses, 20 Brahman bulls, 12 to 15 steers for bulldogging, 15 calves for roping, and between 10 and 15 Brahman cows for the milking contests.

Rodeo Chairman and program announcer, Bill Duplissey gave a brief preview of events to come as he tried his hand at roping calves from horse back. Other officials also got into the act as the spirit of the big show mounted.

On the show grounds one of the busiest persons was Delhi mayor, Roy Snider, who worked with making final alterations in and around the stock barns.

The senior cattle entries were off to a fast start early in the day, but the stalls in the junior barn were filling rapidly by late afternoon.

A part of the vast Saturday preliminaries scene was Lloyd Stone of Windsor, Ill., who observed his 25th birthday by helping groom some of his 18 registered Red Poll cattle entries in the senior division.

It was an unusual birthday celebration he admitted, but he hoped that it would pay off when the ribbons were handed out.

Stone has been in the cattle business since he started a 4-H

Publisher's Wife Terms McCarthy 'No. 1 Fascist'

ATHENS, Ohio, Feb. 27—UP—Author Agnes E. Meyer said Saturday Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy "would surely be thrown out of the Senate" if the Republican national committee disclosed "the disgraceful facts" about his record.

Mrs. Meyer, wife of Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post, also called McCarthy "our No. 1 fascist." She suggested that Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. take legal action against him.

"Attorney General Brownell would do the nation a greater service of instead of prosecuting a dead Communist, he would institute proceedings" against the Wisconsin Republican, Mrs. Meyer said. She apparently referred to Brownell's recent speech on the career of the late Harry Dexter White, accused Communist and one-time treasury official.

Mrs. Meyer made no detailed charges against McCarthy in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Ohio chapters of the American Association of University Professors. But she said "there will be no peace in the Republican party...the Senate...the country... until McCarthy's political career is ended."

Mrs. Meyer said McCarthy's "atrocious treatment" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker during a Senate subcommittee hearing "is merely the newest manifestation of a plague that has engulfed the country like a prairie fire."

She declared "congressional investigators are seeking to curb all expression of opinion" and said that "all our freedoms — not merely academic freedom—are being threatened today."

Mrs. Meyer urged that educational leaders rally their trustees and alumni behind them in a campaign to combat "a well-financed, deliberately planned movement...in this country to silence all dissent."

She declared that McCarthy has "devised sinister methods" by which force can conquer America without open violence. She called on President Eisenhower "to intervene to protect the honor of the military from McCarthy's insults.

Escaping Prisoners Leave Polite Note

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 27 (AP)—Two prisoners making the long trip across Washington in a locked panel truck managed to escape yesterday but left their embarrassed custodian a polite note.

Snohomish County Jail Superintendent Jim Hammond said when he looked for his prisoners, Jack Raymond and Lloyd Henefin, all he found was this message:

"Dear Jim; sorry to eat and run but we have to catch a train."

Army Suspends Woman Involved In Spy Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who figured in Sen. McCarthy's investigation of what he calls "Communist coddling" in the Army, has been suspended by the Army Signal Corps, her lawyer said today.

Atty. George E. C. Hayes, said she was notified yesterday that she had been suspended as of Thursday, "pending the adjudication of her case." Pentagon officials had no comment.

Hayes said Mrs. Moss has testified to the House Un-American Activities Committee, and will repeat it under oath to McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, that she isn't a Communist and never has been.

Mrs. Mary S. Markward, once an undercover agent for the FBI within the Communist party in the District of Columbia, told the McCarthy subcommittee Tuesday that an Annie Lee Moss was a dues-paying Red in the early 1940's. She was unable to definitely identify the woman who worked for the Signal Corps as the same person she knew as a Communist.

McCarthy said Mrs. Moss had been identified positively as a Red by a witness who has not yet appeared in open hearings. The senator said Mrs. Moss was promoted from a waitress to a decoding clerk handling "top secret messages" and he wants to know who was responsible for this, "knowing her to be a member of the Communist party."

The Army says Mrs. Moss, a grey-haired Negro, never handled secret codes or had access to the code room.

Mrs. Moss was on tap at a McCarthy hearing last Wednesday, but the senator suggested she was too ill to testify and warned her of possible perjury action. Her lawyer then said, after consulting his weeping client, that he did not think she was able to testify at that time.

Hayes said today he will be notified the first of the week as to when the subcommittee wants to recall Mrs. Moss.

Solons To Leave For Bikini Tests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —UP—The first group of congressional observers is expected to leave here next weekend for the A-bomb and H-bomb tests coming up in the Pacific.

It is believed the tests will include an experimental H-bomb explosion roughly twice as violent as the giant blast which "sank" an island and ushered in the hydrogen era on Nov. 1, 1952.

Other congressmen will follow the first group of observers at intervals later in March, it was understood Saturday.

The tests will be held at the Eniwetok-Bikini proving ground in the Marshall Islands. The test task force, commanded by Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson of the Army, is already on the scene. So are Atomic Energy Commission experts headed by Alvin C. Graves of the AEC's Los Alamos, N. M., weapons laboratory.

Mardi Gras Approaches Climax In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27—UP—Tradition-wrapped New Orleans which loves a parade almost as much as a tourist dollar, turned into a city that care forgot today as the fabulous Mardi Gras season entered its final three days of wild pageantry and easy living.

Little work will be accomplished as natives and the thousands of tourists, representing all the states and many foreign countries, watch parades, attend balls and prepare for Mardi Gras Tuesday, the fantastic finale of the two-month-long carnival season.

At least 13 parades and 10 glittering balls are scheduled between now and midnight Tuesday when the giddy pace ends and the sombre 40 days of Lenten Repentance begin.

Five parades are scheduled Sunday, including the all-women Venus parade. Favorites of symphonic operatic and popular music will be illustrated in the 16 floats of the Goddess of Love.

Search Pressed For Lost Plane

The plane vanished after its pilot, Capt. M. Ray Cawley, 39, of Bountiful, Utah, reported yesterday morning he was near Wright, Wyo., 80 miles northeast of Casper, and would try to land at Rapid City, S. D.

Nothing was heard from the plane after that.

Clearing weather after a light snowstorm aided searchers and George Nelson, Wyoming aeronautics director, said he had hopes the entire northeastern corner of Wyoming would be covered by nightfall.

Detective Hit During Furious 2-Hour Battle

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 27—UP—A Negro shot and killed two police officers, including the Shreveport police chief, Saturday then fell fatally wounded as an angry posse rushed his barricaded tenant house some 20 miles south of here.

Killed in the furious gunbattle were Shreveport Chief of Police E. G. Huckabay, Maurice Miller, deputy sheriff of Bossier Parish, and the Negro identified as Man West, about 35.

State Police Lt. W. T. Tanner said Miller was shot down and his head split open with an axe as he went to the home of the Negro's mother to serve a non-support warrant.

Huckabay was killed and Shreveport detective J. B. Chandler was wounded in the hand as they rushed the tenant house where West had barricaded himself after killing Miller.

"It took us three hours to get the Negro," said Tanner. "More than 100 shots must have been fired

Treaty Proposal To Be Issue In 1954 Campaigns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he doubts any further move will be made in Congress this year for a constitutional amendment curbing the President's power to make international pacts.

Commenting on the Senate's vote Friday night which killed a substitute by Sen. George (D-Ga) for an already-dead proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), Knowland said he knew of no move to reconsider the vote.

Bricker and George said, however, the issue would be revived in this fall's congressional campaign.

The Senate voted 60-31, one short of the necessary two-thirds of those participating, and thus the George proposal was killed.

Although any one of five absentee senators, or any who voted against the George plan, could move to reconsider next week, the split among the five who didn't vote was such that the George substitute evidently would lose if all 96 Senate votes were recorded.

George had proposed language under which treaties and other international agreements would be void if they did not conform to the Constitution. Executive agreements other than treaties could become effective as internal law only by act of Congress.

The Eisenhower administration had opposed the latter provision as likely to curtail the President's war powers and hamper his conduct of diplomatic relations with other countries.

Livestock Show In Delhi Opens Tomorrow; Rodeo And Show Stock Arriving

By FRANK NOONAN
(Morning World Farm Editor)

DELHI, Feb. 27—The Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show grounds were seething with activity as the preliminaries to the big exposition opening Monday were enacted here today.

Livestock streamed into Delhi from throughout the district and from many out of state points, swelling the senior division ranks to more than 200 animals and pushing the junior division total close to that number.

By early Monday both divisions are expected to have upwards of 350 livestock entries each, with the junior class having some 250 chickens on display.

As a part of the surge of activity necessary to get the stage set for the Monday opening of the five-day show, hogs were tagged, weighed, scrubbed down with soap and water and groomed for the test ahead. Herdsmen also worked diligently at the task of soaping and scrubbing their cattle.

At the ball park adjoining the show grounds, youngsters lined fence tops and arena railings Saturday afternoon as some of the rodeo animals were ushered into their pens to await their summons for performances on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The ball park ground where the rodeo will be staged, was disced and wet down so it would provide a welcome cushion for livestock and performers.

Most of the rodeo animals are scheduled to arrive by early Sunday officials said, and in all, will include 20 bucking horses, 20 Brahman bulls, 12 to 15 steers for bulldogging, 15 calves for roping, and between 10 and 15 Brahman cows for the milking contests.

Rodeo Chairman and program announcer, Bill Duplissey gave a brief preview of events to come as he tried his hand at roping calves from horse back. Other officials also got into the act as the spirit of the big show mounted.

On the show grounds one of the busiest persons was Delhi mayor, Roy Snider, who worked with making final alterations in and around the stock barns.

The senior cattle entries were off to a fast start early in the day, but the stalls in the junior barn were filling rapidly by late afternoon.

A part of the vast Saturday preliminaries scene was Lloyd Stone of Windsor, Ill., who observed his 25th birthday by helping groom some of his 18 registered Red Poll cattle entries in the senior division.

It was an unusual birthday celebration he admitted, but he hoped that it would pay off when the ribbons were handed out.

Stone has been in the cattle business since he started a 4-H

Publisher's Wife Terms McCarthy 'No. 1 Fascist'

ATHENS, Ohio, Feb. 27—UP—Author Agnes E. Meyer said Saturday Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy "would surely be thrown out of the Senate" if the Republican national committee disclosed "the disgraceful facts" about his record.

Mrs. Meyer, wife of Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post, also called McCarthy "our No. 1 fascist." She suggested that Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. take legal action against him.

"Attorney General Brownell would do the nation a greater service of instead of prosecuting a dead Communist, he would institute proceedings" against the Wisconsin Republican, Mrs. Meyer said. She apparently referred to Brownell's recent speech on the career of the late Harry Dexter White, accused Communist and one-time treasury official.

Mrs. Meyer made no detailed charges against McCarthy in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Ohio chapters of the American Association of University Professors. But she said "there will be no peace in the Republican party...the Senate...the country... until McCarthy's political career is ended."

Mrs. Meyer said McCarthy's "atrocious treatment" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker during a Senate subcommittee hearing "is merely the newest manifestation of a plague that has engulfed the country like a prairie fire."

She declared "congressional investigators are seeking to curb all expression of opinion" and said that "all our freedoms — not merely academic freedom—are being threatened today."

Mrs. Meyer urged that educational leaders rally their trustees and alumni behind them in a campaign to combat "a well-financed, deliberately planned movement...in this country to silence all dissent."

She declared that McCarthy has "devised sinister methods" by which force can conquer America without open violence. She called on President Eisenhower "to intervene to protect the honor of the military from McCarthy's insults.

Escaping Prisoners Leave Polite Note

Snohomish County Jail Superintendent Jim Hammond said when he looked for his prisoners, Jack Raymond and Lloyd Henefin, all he found was this message:

"Dear Jim: sorry to eat and run but we have to catch a train."

Army Suspends Woman Involved In Spy Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who figured in Sen. McCarthy's investigation of what he calls "Communist coddling" in the Army, has been suspended by the Army Signal Corps, her lawyer said today.

Atty. George E. C. Hayes, said she was notified yesterday that she had been suspended as of Thursday, "pending the adjudication of her case." Pentagon officials had no comment.

Hayes said Mrs. Moss has testified to the House Un-American Activities Committee, and will repeat it under oath to McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, that she isn't a Communist and never has been.

Mrs. Mary S. Markward, once an undercover agent for the FBI within the Communist party in the District of Columbia, told the McCarthy subcommittee Tuesday that an Annie Lee Moss was a duespaying Red in the early 1940's. She was unable to definitely identify the woman who worked for the Signal Corps as the same person she knew as a Communist.

McCarthy said Mrs. Moss had been identified positively as a Red by a witness who has not yet appeared in open hearings. The senator said Mrs. Moss was promoted from a waitress to a decoding clerk handling "top secret messages" and he wants to know who was responsible for this, "knowing her to be a member of the Communist party."

The Army says Mrs. Moss, a grey-haired Negro, never handled secret codes or had access to the code room.

Mrs. Moss was on tap at a McCarthy hearing last Wednesday, but the senator suggested she was too ill to testify and warned her of possible perjury action. Her lawyer then said, after consulting his weeping client, that he did not think she was able to testify at that time.

Hayes said today he will be notified the first of the week as to when the subcommittee wants to recall Mrs. Moss.

Solons To Leave For Bikini Tests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —UP—The first group of congressional observers is expected to leave here next weekend for the A-bomb and H-bomb tests coming up in the Pacific.

It is believed the tests will include an experimental H-bomb explosion roughly twice as violent as the giant blast which "sank" an island and ushered in the hydrogen era on Nov. 1, 1952.

Other congressmen will follow the first group of observers at intervals later in March, it was understood Saturday.

The tests will be held at the Eniwetok-Bikini proving ground in the Marshall Islands. The test task force, commanded by Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson of the Army, is already on the scene. So are Atomic Energy Commission experts headed by Alvin C. Graves of the AEC's Los Alamos, N. M., weapons laboratory.

Mardi Gras Approaches Climax In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27—UP—Tradition-wrapped New Orleans which loves a parade almost as much as a tourist dollar, turned into a city that care forgot today as the fabulous Mardi Gras season entered its final three days of wild pageantry and easy living.

Little work will be accomplished as natives and the thousands of tourists, representing all the states and many foreign countries, watch parades, attend balls and prepare for Mardi Gras Tuesday, the fantastic finale of the two-month-long carnival season.

At least 13 parades and 10 glittering balls are scheduled between now and midnight Tuesday when the giddy pace ends and the sombre 40 days of Lenten Repentance begin.

Five parades are scheduled Sunday, including the all-women Venus parade. Favorites of symphonic, operatic and popular music will be illustrated in the 16 floats of the Goddess of Love.

Major General Quits Draft Board In Protest Against McCarthy Row

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 27—UP—Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle Saturday resigned from the Hagerstown draft board in protest against what he called the Army's "appeasement and surrender" to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The retired general said he did not want to be responsible for drafting youths who might be subjected to "wrath and abuse" from the investigating senator.

In a letter to Col. Henry C. Standwood, Maryland's selective service director, Hartle said:

"I cannot in conscience participate in the drafting of American youth for service whose current guiding precept and example appears to be that of appeasement and surrender.

"Furthermore, I have no desire to be a party to the placement of young Americans in a position where they might be unduly exposed to McCarthy wrath and abuse."

Hartle, who returned from the Army in 1946, commanded the first American troops sent to North Ireland in 1942.

Mardis Gras

Mardi Gras day which is Fat Tuesday.

The highlights of that fabulous tering balls are scheduled between day will be the advent of Rex, The Lord of Misrule, and the Negro counterpart of the White man's Mardi Gras, The Zulu King.

Although "modernized" this year the Zulu parade, which never follows a set route and winds about the city daylong, will retain enough of its African flavor to be recognized.

General masking is the theme of the day as revelers, frequently clutching bottles in one hand and dressed in outlandish costumes, make merry in downtown streets and greet Rex in all his regal splendor.

All policemen are pressed into duty, but their presence is only to keep the celebrants from committing actual mayhem.

The final parade Tuesday night will be that of the Mistick Krewe of Comus, the oldest of the Mardi Gras organizations. At the stroke of midnight, The Courts of Rex and Comus meet for a toast and to officially end the Mardi Gras.

Rooms as far as 60 miles around the city were at a premium and "pullman cities" were mushrooming. Restaurants were jammed to capacity and in front of some of them lines a block or more long formed at the height of the dining hour

French quarter bar owners, who had complained of a slack season "as far as tourist go," the past several months, anchored one hand on the cash register and grinned at the crowds.

Tanner said the Negro met Miller at the door of the house and fired a charge of buckshot from a double-barreled shotgun into the deputy, then chopped his head open with an axe.

Scores of peace officers from adjoining areas and state police moved into the area and opened fire on the house after allowing the Negro's mother and two children to leave.

Huckabay, Chandler and two other officers rushed the back door of the house in an attempt to get the Negro.

Chandler, right behind Huckabay, was wounded in the hand, but killed West with a shot from his pistol. Tanner said he dragged the Negro's body from the house as it caught fire and burned.

Funeral arrangements for Chief Huckaby had not been set late Saturday night. He is survived by his wife and two children, William Huckaby and Miss Maude Huckaby.

Funeral services for Officer Miller will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Osborn chapel. Burial will follow in the Centuries Memorial Park cemetery in Shreveport.

Linda Jordan's Father Expected Today Or Monday

According to reports received here last night M-Sgt. W. H. Jordan, of 1000 Filhiol avenue, whose 10-year-old daughter was killed in a traffic accident here Feb. 20, is en route home, and is expected to arrive here today or Monday in order to be with his family.

Reports stated that a Monroe HAM (amateur) radio operator, had been in contact with HAM operators in the Far East and learned that Sgt. Jordan had boarded a plane en route home. The Monroe radio operator, who could not be contacted last night, was reported to have said that the message concerning Sgt. Jordan had be relayed to him by way of the Philippines and Hawaii.

As of last night, however, no official confirmation had been received from the Army.

Funeral services for 10-year-old Linda Jordan will be held at 3:30 p.m. today at the College Baptist Church.

Pallbearers will include W. W. Hathorn, William Rassberry, and G. A. Walcott.

Linda was killed instantly and her sister critically injured Feb. 20, when they stepped from behind a city bus on College avenue, at the intersection of Evangeline street, and into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Albert Galligher, of Edgewater Gardens.

Later in the season he will serve as guest teacher of choral and instrumental music at Montana State University in Missoula, Mont.

Charles Rochester and Mrs. Rochester were in Monroe for a brief stay Saturday enroute to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. Most people here have heard of this man but for the benefit of those who do not know, Charley Rochester spent his teen age years in Monroe, and between classes in the city of Monroe schools he did the work of porter at Hotel Monroe.

But so good a job was done that he became a clerk at this hotel, and that was only the beginning. Next he was clerk at the Marion Hotel in Little Rock and from there he went places.

He held managerial posts in three of the large Chicago hotelries; then moved to a similar job at the Hellenden in Cleveland and on east until he landed in Hotel Lexington, one of the elite hotels of New York City, where he has made a nation-wide fame.

He was delighted to see Monroe again and his wife also was pleased with the city. Former Gov. James A. Noe extended courtesies and although in Monroe only a few hours, every minute was filled with interest for the couple, as they were privileged to meet a few old time friends here of the Rochester family.

project with two cows when he was 15-years-old. He also raises sheep and hogs, and last year and the year before had the grand champion barrow at the Delhi show. He also had grand champion barrow at the state livestock show at Baton Rouge one year, he said.

The first junior beef animal to be brought into the stalls was owned by Johnnie Sturgeon, Jr., 12, of Monterey, La., 4-H son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Sturgeon, entered a Hereford steer.

The first junior swine were brought in Saturday by Delhi F.F.A. and 4-H club members, while the second group came from Union parish.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baskin Parks, the attractive miss entered a Hereford steer and a grade steer. She was accompanied by her 11-year-old sister, Martha, who also entered two steers.

Carolyn had a purple ribbon calf last year at Delhi and a blue ribbon calf here for the previous year. She and her sister are saving money from the sale of beef project animals to be used for college attendance later.

They reported that their father was so impressed with the project animals that they had raised that he had offered to buy them out so he could bolster his own herd.

All, however, all was not hurry-flurry at the stock show. An entry belonging to Willis Jones of the Delhi F.F.A. offered marked contrast to the general surge of activity on the show grounds.

Undisturbed by the symphony of noises around them created partly by swine rebelling under soap and brush, nine pigs enjoyed a late afternoon snack while their Hampshire mother took her ease in a deep matting of straw.

Late entries in the senior cattle division showed the total in that bracket easing beyond the 200 mark with between 100 to 150 more expected by late Sunday or early Monday, a development which might overtax available barn space.

Senior entries Saturday included, according to J. H. "Buddy" Martin, show secretary-treasurer, 16 cattle from Louisiana State University Baton Rouge, in four breeds, Brahmans, Herefords, Angus and Shorthorns.

Also in the Saturday senior entries were 13 head of cattle from the Mississippi Shorthorn Breeders Association; four from the 4-B Hereford ranch; seven from Poston and Hall Shorthorn Farm, Brownsville, Tenn., and 62 registered Angus cattle from the Bil-Mar Plantation, Delhi.

The Bil-Mar cattle will be on exhibition until Wednesday afternoon when they will be sold at auction.

Most of the entries in the junior poultry division are expected to show up Sunday. No senior division swine had arrived by late Saturday afternoon, but some were expected Sunday and Monday, according to Martin.

Rioters Shot In Attempt To Seize Damascus Radio

DAMASCUS, Syria, Feb. 27—UP—Troops loyal to ousted President Adib Shishekly shot and killed a number of rioters attempting to seize the capital's radio station Saturday night and asked rebel army leaders to a conference in an attempt to head off a full-fledged civil war.

The army under Col. Shawkat Shoukeir, army chief of staff, still was in control of Damascus and imposed a strict 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

However, at 10 p.m., roaming demonstrators still were trading occasional shots with troops.

The troops dug in on the capital's outskirts against rebel forces reported about seven miles from the city.

The revolutionary forces, headquarters in Aleppo, Syria's largest city and in command of the entire northern portion of the country, had given the Damascus garrison until 6 p.m. (10 a.m. CST), to surrender.

In smashing the rebel attempt to storm Damascus radio the garrison troops first used clubs against the demonstrators and then opened fire. Several persons were killed or wounded, but the number of casualties was not known immediately.

Shoukeir appeared to be trying to remain neutral in the struggle for power between speaker of the lower house Maamoun El Kuzbari and former President Hasham El Atassy, who the forces from the north support.

Kuzbari proclaimed himself acting president after parliament was dissolved.

During the afternoon demonstrators surged through the capital's streets. They stoned and chased two former Shishekly deputies, Mounir Ghannam and Mouhamad Ablassly who escaped in a taxi.

As the rebels approached the city Aleppo radio, which they control, demanded all Shishekly supporters be ousted and called on the Damascus garrison to disobey orders and desert to the revolutionary forces.

Western Dust Settles Over North Louisiana

Clouds of Texas and Oklahoma dust hung over northeast Louisiana late yesterday as a small storm blew in on the heels of a mild cold front.

CAA officials at Selman Field said the front covered an area extending over central and east Texas and Oklahoma and extended south to Houston, Galveston and New Orleans and north to Little Rock. The eastern edge of the front passed Monroe at about 5:45 p.m. yesterday afternoon, blotting out the sun and limiting visibility to a few miles.

Fear Americans

"The Communists will have a life-time use for them—until communism is stomped out."

Batchelor, in the letter to Mrs. Wilson, said he did not believe any of the letters he had written back to the remaining POW's had been read by them.

Stating that he had exerted a powerful influence among the prisoners, Batchelor accused the Reds of holding back his letters because "they wouldn't dare tell them that I had found out that the Communists were wrong. Otherwise some might get to thinking that perhaps I was right."

Batchelor, arriving in California yesterday, refused to comment on his immediate plans except to say he wanted to get home to Kermit, Tex. as soon as possible. He was scheduled to be checked in at Travis Air Force Base hospital yesterday.

According to the Associated Press, he also refused to comment on the investigation of the false germ warfare confessions of Marine Col. Frank Schwable.

The ex-POW's face brightened only once in his short talk with newsmen at the air field. That was when a reporter told him "I saw an old friend of yours several weeks ago, Pappy Noel." Noel, an Associated Press photographer, spent 40 months in a North Korean prison camp before his repatriation and at one time plotted an escape with Batchelor.

"My gosh, how's old Pappy doing," the Texas exclaimed. "Did he get his teeth fixed up? Did he get any of his weight back?"

Told that Noel is now a picture of health, Batchelor said "My, golly, that's fine. That's really good to hear."

Batchelor said the army has assured him his Japanese wife would be able to fly to the United States within a week or 10 days.

"Dear Mrs Wilson,

"I received your letter of Jan. 25 a few minutes ago along with two others. One from Mrs. Bell, Otho G. Bell's wife, and the other from a mother clinging to a thin thread of hope that her missing son was still alive.

"It looks as though our efforts have been unsuccessful as the Communist took the men back the other day. I wrote Aaron three or four letters and my wife likewise wrote him. We sent him pictures of her and I together, told him that we were very happy and in no danger of prosecution by our government.

"I sent him the letter your brother sent to me.

"However, I do not believe Aaron was able to read them. After I left the leaders of the group would guess that letters from me would be forthcoming and would likewise be destructive to their cause if the men were allowed to read them.

"The Chinese had issued orders that no one was to leave no matter what the cost. The order was already out that no one was to read mail. All they had to do was to enforce that order and their purpose was achieved—a wrecked life for 21.

"Americans, including the leaders, Kyoko—my wife—and I wrote several letters. One of the fellows there was the closest friend I ever had. I know without doubt that he would have followed if given a chance to hear from me. He didn't come so it is obvious what has happened.

"Radio Peking said I was undergoing 3rd degree methods (In UN territory.) of tortue to extract information and atrocity stories from me. That is obviously what they tell the other fellows there. The diplomatic representative for the group accused Gen. Thimayya of the Indians of kidnapping me.

"You see I exerted a great amount of influence among the men and they had to do something that would take the sting out of the harm in propaganda that I've given them and to lessen the shock of my repatriation.

"They wouldn't dare tell them that I had found out that the Communists were wrong. They said I was "kidnapped" by the Indians.

"Every election the group held I got a unanimous vote—from everyone. That is significant of how much influence I exerted. They had to take drastic steps, being careful not to picture me as a traitor as they did Dickenson (First of the holdout prisoners to return), so they could convince them that the "American imperialists" will resort to anything.

"That's the way the situation stands, Mrs. Wilson. I do not believe any of those boys will be shot. I believe the Chinese will send them to school as they promised—to continue their indoctrination program with them.

"Then, after a few years, they will have thoroughly indoctrinated young Americans who will point to America with authority and say terrible things about it.

"The Communists will have a life-time use for them—until communism is stamped out.

"I believe you will still be able to contact him (Aaron) through 'The Chinese People's Committee for World Peace', Peking, China.

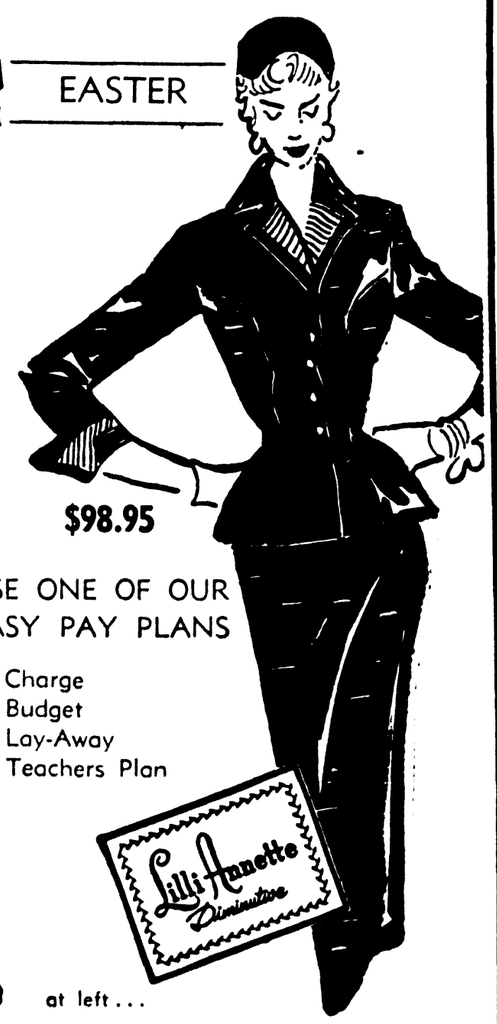

"Someday I would like to avail myself the opportunity of visiting you and telling you more of your son. Aaron is still a good friend of mine because I know it is not his fault.

Major General Quits Draft Board In Protest Against McCarthy Row

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 27—UP—Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle Saturday resigned from the Hagerstown draft board in protest against what he called the Army's "appeasement and surrender" to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The retired general said he did not want to be responsible for drafting youths who might be subjected to "wrath and abuse" from the investigating senator.

In a letter to Col. Henry C. Standwood, Maryland's selective service director, Hartle said:

"I cannot in conscience participate in the drafting of American youth for service whose current guiding precept and example appears to be that of appeasement and surrender.

"Furthermore, I have no desire to be a party to the placement of young Americans in a position where they might be unduly exposed to McCarthy wrath and abuse."

Hartle, who returned from the Army in 1946, commanded the first American troops sent to North Ireland in 1942.

Mardis Gras

Mardi Gras day which is Fat Tuesday.

The highlights of that fabulous tering balls are scheduled between day will be the advent of Rex, The Lord of Misrule, and the Negro counterpart of the White man's Mardi Gras, The Zulu King.

Although "modernized" this year the Zulu parade, which never follows a set route and winds about the city daylong, will retain enough of its African flavor to be recognized.

General masking is the theme of the day as revelers, frequently clutching bottles in one hand and dressed in outlandish costumes, make merry in downtown streets and greet Rex in all his regal splendor.

All policemen are pressed into duty, but their presence is only to keep the celebrants from committing actual mayhem.

The final parade Tuesday night will be that of the Mistick Krewe of Comus, the oldest of the Mardi Gras organizations. At the stroke of midnight, The Courts of Rex and Comus meet for a toast and to officially end the Mardi Gras.

Rooms as far as 60 miles around the city were at a premium and "pullman cities" were mushrooming. Restaurants were jammed to capacity and in front of some of them lines a block or more long formed at the height of the dining hour.

French quarter bar owners, who had complained of a slack season "as far as tourist go," the past several months, anchored one hand on the cash register and grinned at the crowds.

Tanner said the Negro met Miller at the door of the house and fired a charge of buckshot from a double-barreled shotgun into the deputy, then chopped his head open with an axe.

Scores of peace officers from adjoining areas and state police moved into the area and opened fire on the house after allowing the Negro's mother and two children to leave.

Huckabay, Chandler and two other officers rushed the back door of the house in an attempt to get the Negro.

As Huckabay leaped through the door, the Negro raised up from under a bed and fired at the police chief. The charge struck him in the left shoulder and head. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Chandler, right behind Huckabay, was wounded in the hand, but killed West with a shot from his pistol. Tanner said he dragged the Negro's body from the house as it caught fire and burned.

Funeral arrangements for Chief Huckaby had not been set late Saturday night. He is survived by his wife and two children, William Huckaby and Miss Maude Huckaby.

Funeral services for Officer Miller will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Osborn chapel. Burial will follow in the Centuries Memorial Park cemetery in Shreveport.

Reports stated that a Monroe HAM (amateur) radio operator, had been in contact with HAM operators in the Far East and learned that Sgt. Jordan had boarded a plane en route home. The Monroe radio operator, who could not be contacted last night, was reported to have said that the message concerning Sgt. Jordan had be relayed to him by way of the Philippines and Hawaii.

Charles Rochester and Mrs. Rochester were in Monroe for a brief stay Saturday enroute to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. Most people here have heard of this man but for the benefit of those who do not know, Charley Rochester spent his teen age years in Monroe, and between classes in the city of Monroe schools he did the work of porter at Hotel Monroe.

But so good a job was done that he became a clerk at this hotel, and that was only the beginning. Next he was clerk at the Marion Hotel in Little Rock and from there he went places.

He held managerial posts in three of the large Chicago hotelries; then moved to a similar job at the Hellenden in Cleveland and on east until he landed in Hotel Lexington, one of the elite hotels of New York City, where he has made a nation-wide fame.

He was delighted to see Monroe again and his wife also was pleased with the city. Former Gov. James A. Noe extended courtesies and although in Monroe only a few hours, every minute was filled with interest for the couple, as they were privileged to meet a few old time friends here of the Rochester family.

project with two cows when he was 15-years-old. He also raises sheep and hogs, and last year and the year before had the grand champion barrow at the Delhi show. He also had grand champion barrow at the state livestock show at Baton Rouge one year, he said.

The first junior beef animal to be brought into the stalls was owned by Johnnie Sturgeon, Jr., 12, of Monterey, La., 4-H son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Sturgeon, entered a Hereford steer.

The first junior swine were brought in Saturday by Delhi F.F.A. and 4-H club members, while the second group came from Union parish.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baskin Parks, the attractive miss entered a Hereford steer and a grade steer. She was accompanied by her 11-year-old sister, Martha, who also entered two steers.

Carolyn had a purple ribbon calf last year at Delhi and a blue ribbon calf here for the previous year. She and her sister are saving money from the sale of beef project animals to be used for college attendance later.

They reported that their father was so impressed with the project animals that they had raised that he had offered to buy them out so he could bolster his own herd.

All, however, all was not hurry-flurry at the stock show. An entry belonging to Willis Jones of the Delhi F.F.A. offered marked contrast to the general surge of activity on the show grounds.

Undisturbed by the symphony of noises around them created partly by swine rebelling under soap and brush, nine pigs enjoyed a late afternoon snack while their Hampshire mother took her ease in a deep matting of straw.

Late entries in the senior cattle division showed the total in that bracket easing beyond the 200 mark with between 100 to 150 more expected by late Sunday or early Monday, a development which might overtax available barn space.

Senior entries Saturday included, according to J. H. "Buddy" Martin, show secretary-treasurer, 16 cattle from Louisiana State University Baton Rouge, in four breeds, Brahmans, Herefords, Angus and Shorthorns.

Also in the Saturday senior entries were 13 head of cattle from the Mississippi Shorthorn Breeders Association; four from the 4-B Hereford ranch; seven from Poston and Hall Shorthorn Farm, Brownsville, Tenn., and 62 registered Angus cattle from the Bil-Mar Plantation, Delhi.

The Bil-Mar cattle will be on exhibition until Wednesday afternoon when they will be sold at auction.

Most of the entries in the junior poultry division are expected to show up Sunday. No senior division swine had arrived by late Saturday afternoon, but some were expected Sunday and Monday, according to Martin.

Rioters Shot In Attempt To Seize Damascus Radio

DAMASCUS, Syria, Feb. 27—UP—Troops loyal to ousted President Adib Shishekly shot and killed a number of rioters attempting to seize the capital's radio station Saturday night and asked rebel army leaders to a conference in an attempt to head off a full-fledged civil war.

The army under Col. Shawkat Shoukeir, army chief of staff, still was in control of Damascus and imposed a strict 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

However, at 10 p.m., roaming demonstrators still were trading occasional shots with troops.

The troops dug in on the capital's outskirts against rebel forces reported about seven miles from the city.

The revolutionary forces, headquarters in Aleppo, Syria's largest city and in command of the entire northern portion of the country, had given the Damascus garrison until 6 p.m. (10 a.m. CST), to surrender.

In smashing the rebel attempt to storm Damascus radio the garrison troops first used clubs against the demonstrators and then opened fire. Several persons were killed or wounded, but the number of casualties was not known immediately.

Shoukeir appeared to be trying to remain neutral in the struggle for power between speaker of the lower house Maamoun El Kuzbari and former President Hasham El Atassy, who the forces from the north support.

Kuzbari proclaimed himself acting president after parliament was dissolved.

During the afternoon demonstrators surged through the capital's streets. They stoned and chased two former Shishekly deputies, Mounir Ghannam and Mouhamad Abiassly who escaped in a taxi.

As the rebels approached the city Aleppo radio, which they control, demanded all Shishekly supporters be ousted and called on the Damascus garrison to disobey orders and desert to the revolutionary forces.

Western Dust Settles Over North Louisiana

Clouds of Texas and Oklahoma dust hung over northeast Louisiana late yesterday as a small storm blew in on the heels of a mild cold front.

CAA officials at Selman Field said the front covered an area extending over central and east Texas and Oklahoma and extended south to Houston, Galveston and New Orleans and north to Little Rock. The eastern edge of the front passed Monroe at about 5:45 p.m. yesterday afternoon, blotting out the sun and limiting visibility to a few miles.

Fear Americans

"The Communists will have a life - time use for them—until communism is stomped out."

Batchelor, in the letter to Mrs. Wilson, said he did not believe any of the letters he had written back to the remaining POW's had been read by them.

Stating that he had exerted a powerful influence among the prisoners, Batchelor accused the Reds of holding back his letters because "they wouldn't dare tell them that I had found out that the Communists were wrong. Otherwise some might get to thinking that perhaps I was right."

Batchelor, arriving in California yesterday, refused to comment on his immediate plans except to say he wanted to get home to Kermit, Tex. as soon as possible. He was scheduled to be checked in at Travis Air Force Base hospital yesterday.

According to the Associated Press, he also refused to comment on the investigation of the false germ warfare confessions of Marine Col. Frank Schwable.

The ex-POW's face brightened only once in his short talk with newsmen at the air field. That was when a reporter told him "I saw an old friend of yours several weeks ago, Pappy Noel." Noel, an Associated Press photographer, spent 40 months in a North Korean prison camp before his repatriation and at one time plotted an escape with Batchelor.

"My gosh, how's old Pappy doing," the Texas exclaimed. "Did he get his teeth fixed up? Did he get any of his weight back?"

Told that Noel is now a picture of health, Batchelor said "My, golly, that's fine. That's really good to hear."

Batchelor said the army has assured him his Japanese wife would be able to fly to the United States within a week or 10 days.

"Dear Mrs. Wilson,

"I received your letter of Jan. 25 a few minutes ago along with two others. One from Mrs. Bell, Otho G. Bell's wife, and the other from a mother clinging to a thin thread of hope that her missing son was still alive.

"It looks as though our efforts have been unsuccessful as the Communist took the men back the other day. I wrote Aaron three or four letters and my wife likewise wrote him. We sent him pictures of her and I together, told him that we were very happy and in no danger of prosecution by our government.

"I sent him the letter your brother sent to me.

"However, I do not believe Aaron was able to read them. After I left the leaders of the group would guess that letters from me would be forthcoming and would likewise be destructive to their cause if the men were allowed to read them.

"The Chinese had issued orders that no one was to leave no matter what the cost. The order was already out that no one was to read mail. All they had to do was to enforce that order and their purpose was achieved—a wrecked life for 21.

"Americans, including the leaders, Kyoko—my wife—and I wrote several letters. One of the fellows there was the closest friend I ever had. I know without doubt that he would have followed if given a chance to hear from me. He didn't come so it is obvious what has happened.

"Radio Peking said I was undergoing 3rd degree methods (In UN territory.) of tortue to extract information and atrocity stories from me. That is obviously what they tell the other fellows there. The diplomatic representative for the group accused Gen. Thimayya of the Indians of kidnapping me.

"You see I exerted a great amount of influence among the men and they had to do something that would take the sting out of the harm in propaganda that I've given them and to lessen the shock of my repatriation.

"They wouldn't dare tell them that I had found out that the Communists were wrong. They said I was "kidnapped" by the Indians.

"Every election the group held I got a unanimous vote—from everyone. That is significant of how much influence I exerted. They had to take drastic steps, being careful not to picture me as a traitor as they did Dickenson (First of the holdout prisoners to return), so they could convince them that the "American imperialists" will resort to anything.

"That's the way the situation stands, Mrs. Wilson. I do not believe any of those boys will be shot. I believe the Chinese will send them to school as they promised—to continue their indoctrination program with them.

"Then, after a few years, they will have thoroughly indoctrinated young Americans who will point to America with authority and say terrible things about it.

"The Communists will have a life-time use for them—until communism is stamped out.

"I believe you will still be able to contact him (Aaron) through 'The Chinese People's Committee for World Peace', Peking, China.

"Someday I would like to avail myself the opportunity of visiting you and telling you more of your son. Aaron is still a good friend of mine because I know it is not his fault.

ROBERT C. EDSON
National Director

Red Cross Head To Be Here Mon.

Robert C. Edson, assistant national director of disaster services of the American Red Cross will be in Monroe Monday to coordinate final plans for the opening of the 1954 fund raising campaign. He will make three appearances including radio, television and speaking to the Monroe - West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly meeting.

Edson became assistant national director on March 5 of 1952 after nearly a decade's activity in these services in the midwestern area.

He joined the midwestern area Red Cross staff in August of 1942 as director of disaster preparedness and civilian war aid. A year later, when all disaster services were consolidated into one administrative program, he became overall director of disaster services, retaining this post until being sent to Washington early in 1952.

Edson directed numerous disaster relief operations, most serious of which were the Panhandle tornadoes in Texas and Oklahoma in April, 1947, and the K-M-O-I floods of July, 1951, the latter of which is the third greatest disaster relief operation in Red Cross history. As area disaster services director, he had over-all responsibility for many more, among them the Texas City explosion occuring only a few days after the April, 1947, tornadoes.

A native of St. Joseph, Mo., Edson was graduated from William Hewell College, Liberty, Mo., in 1928 and received an M. A. degree in social psychology at the University of Colorado in 1934.

After teaching for a few years, he entered the field of juvenile delinquency control and for two years 1935-37, was chief probation and parole officer of Buchanan County, Mo. For the five years just before entering Red Cross work, he served as director of probation and parole for the state of Missouri.

Fire Destroys Stored Cotton

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Feb. 27 (Special)— An early morning blaze destroyed approximately $8,650 in stored cotton and cotton seed and a $2,000 building five miles south of here Saturday. The building was the property of the Amacker estate and was located on the Way-A-Way plantation, near Hollybrook.

The 65 tons of DPL cotton seed, valued at $125 per ton, and taree bales of cotton were stored in the seedhouse, located near a combination gin and grain elevator. Although the storage house and its contents were a total loss, neither the gin nor the grain elevator was damaged.

Mitchell Refuses To Eat Dinner With McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today it was on principle that Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell turned down an invitation to a dinner where Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was to speak—and therefore Mitchell did not mention a previous engagement.

Actually, it developed, Mitchell already had agreed to talk at a St. Patrick's Day banquet in Troy, N. Y. The invitation he refused was to a banquet the same day, March 17, by the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago.

The committee announced last night that Mitchell first wrote the Chicago club Feb. 1 and received a reply from the club's past president, Joseph J. Cavanagh Feb. 5 carrying a "charge or implication" that Mitchell was not opposed to communism.

Mitchell retorted Feb. 25 asking the club's officers to disavow Cavanagh's letter. He said he would not break bread with a man "who has borne false witness against over 30 million Americans." He referred to McCarthy's charge in a Lincoln's Birthday speech that "the Democratic party bears a label corroded with communism."

The present club president said the organization had no comment on a "private fight" between Cavanagh and Mitchell.

William O'Dwyer Arrives In Miami For Brief Visit

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 —UP—William O'Dwyer, ex-mayor of New York and former U.S. ambassador to Mexico, slipped to Miami in the pre-dawn darkness Saturday to "visit with friends for a few days."

O'Dwyer flew here from Mexico City for his second trip to the United States since he resigned as mayor during investigations of crime and corruption in New York city.

O'Dwyer said he did not plan to travel outside Florida. In New York, Miss Simpson, now a star on a local radio station, was busy moving and not available for comment.

The 63-year-old former politician, now living in Mexico as an "immigrant" lawyer, told a reporter who met his Guest Airways plane that he would return to Mexico City Wednesday. An airline official said O'Dwyer "is down in the Florida keys for a couple of days."

O'Dwyer has not been to New York since his stormy appearance before the Senate's Kefauver crime investigating committee in 1951. His only other trip to the U. S. since then was a flight to Los Angeles last year for a medical checkup.

ROBERT C. EDSON
National Director

Red Cross Head To Be Here Mon.

Robert C. Edson, assistant national director of disaster services of the American Red Cross will be in Monroe Monday to coordinate final plans for the opening of the 1954 fund raising campaign. He will make three appearances including radio, television and speaking to the Monroe - West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly meeting.

Edson became assistant national director on March 5 of 1952 after nearly a decade's activity in these services in the midwestern area.

He joined the midwestern area Red Cross staff in August of 1942 as director of disaster preparedness and civilian war aid. A year later, when all disaster services were consolidated into one administrative program, he became overall director of disaster services, retaining this post until being sent to Washington early in 1952.

Edson directed numerous disaster relief operations, most serious of which were the Panhandle tornadoes in Texas and Oklahoma in April, 1947, and the K-M-O-I floods of July, 1951, the latter of which is the third greatest disaster relief operation in Red Cross history. As area disaster services director, he had over-all responsibility for many more, among them the Texas City explosion occuring only a few days after the April, 1947, tornadoes.

A native of St. Joseph, Mo., Edson was graduated from William Hewell College, Liberty, Mo., in 1928 and received an M. A. degree in social psychology at the University of Colorado in 1934.

After teaching for a few years, he entered the field of juvenile delinquency control and for two years 1935-37, was chief probation and parole officer of Buchanan County, Mo. For the five years just before entering Red Cross work, he served as director of probation and parole for the state of Missouri.

Fire Destroys Stored Cotton

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Feb. 27 (Special)— An early morning blaze destroyed approximately $8,650 in stored cotton and cotton seed and a $2,000 building five miles south of here Saturday. The building was the property of the Amacker estate and was located on the Way-A-Way plantation, near Hollybrook.

The 65 tons of DPL cotton seed, valued at $125 per ton, and three bales of cotton were stored in the seedhouse, located near a combination gin and grain elevator. Although the storage house and its contents were a total loss, neither the gin nor the grain elevator was damaged.

Although U. S. and British governments have not adopted the metric system—meter, gram, liter — for measurements, U. S. and British scientists usually use it in their measurements.

Mitchell Refuses To Eat Dinner With McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today it was on principle that Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell turned down an invitation to a dinner where Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was to speak—and therefore Mitchell did not mention a previous engagement.

Actually, it developed, Mitchell already had agreed to talk at a St. Patrick's Day banquet in Troy, N. Y. The invitation he refused was to a banquet the same day, March 17, by the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago.

The committee announced last night that Mitchell first wrote the Chicago club Feb. 1 and received a reply from the club's past president, Joseph J. Cavanagh Feb. 5 carrying a "charge or implication" that Mitchell was not opposed to communism.

Mitchell retorted Feb. 25 asking the club's officers to disavow Cavanagh's letter. He said he would not break bread with a man "who has borne false witness against over 30 million Americans." He referred to McCarthy's charge in a Lincoln's Birthday speech that "the Democratic party bears a label corroded with communism."

The present club president said the organization had no comment on a "private fight" between Cavanagh and Mitchell.

William O'Dwyer Arrives In Miami For Brief Visit

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 —UP— William O'Dwyer, ex-mayor of New York and former U.S. ambassador to Mexico, slipped to Miami in the pre-dawn darkness Saturday to "visit with friends for a few days."

O'Dwyer flew here from Mexico City for his second trip to the United States since he resigned as mayor during investigations of crime and corruption in New York city.

O'Dwyer said he did not plan to travel outside Florida. In New York, Miss Simpson, now a star on a local radio station, was busy moving and not available for comment.

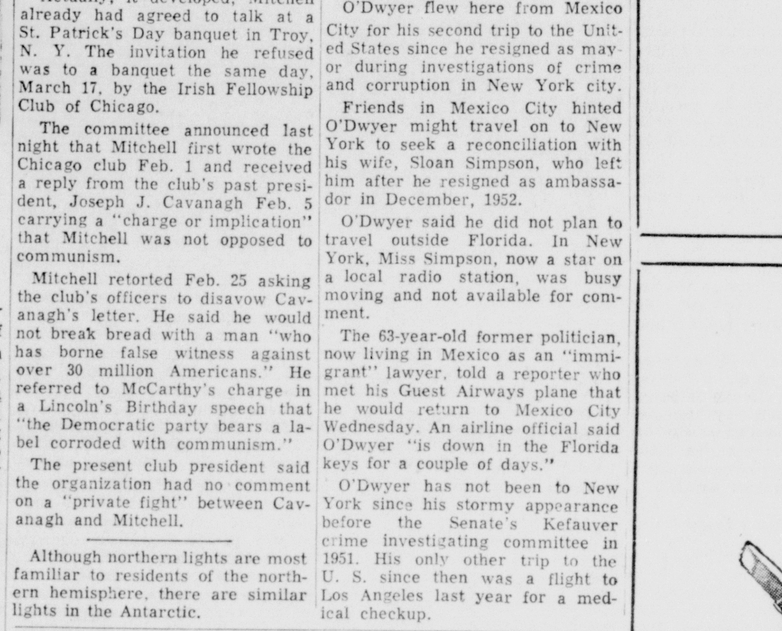

The 63-year-old former politician, now living in Mexico as an "immigrant" lawyer, told a reporter who met his Guest Airways plane that he would return to Mexico City Wednesday. An airline official said O'Dwyer "is down in the Florida keys for a couple of days."

O'Dwyer has not been to New York since his stormy appearance before the Senate's Kefauver crime investigating committee in 1951. His only other trip to the U. S. since then was a flight to Los Angeles last year for a medical checkup.

Crowns And Thrones May Perish— A Call To Arms

Conquerors, kings, dictators and emperors come and go, powerful civilizations leave their mark, but there is something that never leaves and that is the church.

Fellow Americans, these are bad times coming by the nation. They are trying times and they are confusing times. Never before has a population depended on the strength and the advice of God and prayer as it does now. It appears that He appointed the people of this nation to lead the world to peace and a brighter better world for all peoples of mankind.

The American people in times past have taken the sword of war and have given of their blood and other resources in three terrible wars. They have made sacrifices in order that the world may remain free. They have not asked the peoples overseas for consideration, they ask only that they be allowed to remain free and allowed to worship as they please. Unfortunately, freedom comes only by hard work. Worship comes not by merely attending church once on Sunday, but by living God 24 hours each day, seven days a week and all the weeks of the year. God expects you to work and live His faith.

Now, the peoples all over the world are called to fight for that faith with all their might and main. They are called to prepare to fight for the King of all Kings and they are called to fight for His church wherever it may be. They are called to fight for His church whether it be a little country church or a great cathedral in the city. They are called to fight for the Church whether it be a poor church in finances (there is no such a thing as a poor church in reality) and they are called upon to make many more sacrifices.

The man who has faith shall not perish in this conflict. He who loses faith is lost before he starts. In this conflict of minds which is being waged not necessarily on the battlefields, but in every city, yes, even many homes, faith is what counts. One cannot have that faith by merely showing up in church once a week, but one must pray, and ask God for help and guidance in the days to come.

These are hysterical times in which you live. A careful study of the situation based on a small amount of history will show how the nation presently stands as regards the battle now engaged. Citizens—wherever you may be, this is indeed a day for prayer. Only faith in God can possibly bring the American people through these dangerous times. Yet, look around you. How many people all over the world are asking God for help and for guidance? You'd be surprised. The number is not so large as you might think.

People all over the world have forgotten religion, they are forgetting the Church and they are forgetting how to pray. God can't even get into the classrooms and into some homes of this and other nations. In the name of all that is decent, how can the little children of the great land which everyone loves, which is this wonderful nation, how can they ever realize the beauty and the assistance of prayer if they are not taught the true meaning of God?

Today, people all over the world will be praying. They will be casting their faces to heaven and asking what it is they can do. Young and old, they will be surging to their places of religious worship and they will lift their hearts and their minds to God and ask Him for the guidance needed in the days and the months to come. In this area the people are indeed fortunate. They are served by fine men, forthright soldiers of God representing every segment of His church. They are served by some of the finest soldiers in God's great army. These are the leaders who will be called upon to help the people in this and other communities in the coming period of strife and confusion which lies ahead. Upon their words, everyone must depend.

Every church in this and other cities is as a beacon in the darkness. Every minister is as the bearer of the light. They cannot and they will not fail. They cannot bear the load by themselves however, and you must assist them with your mind and your heart.

As soldiers in God's army, this week, you will be called upon to don your armor of the cross and wear the uniform of God, armor and that uniform which has withstood the test of time. You will be asked to pray. Fellow Americans, it is hoped that you will look at the present events in the world, indeed, even in the nation, and that upon doing so, you will pray as you have never before prayed in your life. Now is not the time for denominational dissension. Does a great victorious army show the enemy a weak line of battle?

Soldiers all, Americans must this and every other Sunday, every other day, take the lead in the war which whether you realize it or not, is a holy one. You are fighting an army equally powerful and perhaps a lot more cunning. You are fighting an army which will show you no quarter and knows absolutely no mercy. It is either victory or defeat, there can be no compromise with destiny. This week, remember the words of God and fear not when you heed them. Remember the laws of God and live these laws each and every day of the year. If you have faith, no matter what happens, you will find in that faith, there is peace and there is the answer to the confusion of the times.

Ministers, wherever you are, let the bells of your church ring loud, louder than ever before. Americans, wherever you are, this is the day of prayer, the signal to take up the cross and march to victory in this, the world day of prayer.

Crowns and thrones may perish, kingdoms rise and wane, but the church of Jesus, constant will remain. Gates of hell can never, 'gainst that church prevail, you have Christ's own promise, and—that cannot fail.

The Chinese Wall Around Monroe

This is as good or better community as any in the United States in which to live. There are few people who have the advantages of a smaller city but still have the other advantages found in larger communities which are to be found in this area.

Actually, all one has to do to appreciate this community is to stay away from it for awhile preferably in some great Northern city where the people are as impersonal as the statues in the Washington Natural History Museum. However, there has in the past years, as in other communities, grown a spirit of encircling oneself in some kind of a wall of protection. The phenomena is hard to define but many people in this area refuse to consider events in the world around them as being important.

The people living in the larger cities, especially the Eastern communities well realize how the foreign and national scene effects them. They are made more aware of it when they enter their own apartment buildings and see huge black arrows pointing in one direction or the other stating in the boldest print, "SHELTER AREA THIS WAY." They are reminded of the importance of the affairs overseas each time they look to the top of a public building and notice an air raid siren. More important, they realize it when they hear the siren's eerie blast.

The people in this area are sometimes inclined to adopt the shortsighted view of any subject, not considering the long term ramifications of the problem at hand. This is most certainly not the only city in the nation to fall under the same spell and there are countless communities all over the nation which do not realize that the internal strife of the Mau Mau in Kenya Colony, or the severe water shortage in Pakistan have definite effect on their lives.

The world has grown smaller due to the air travel, the communications and by the terrible weapons man has so foolishly made. Many times, this newspaper is asked to write "more local editorials." In the belief that there is a great degree of local importance to every national and international event, it is necessary to balance equally the events which happen here in the Twin Cities, in the state, over the nation and in the foreign scene.

Americans, for better or worse, are now asked by their leaders to lead the world. The people sometimes are inclined to forget that it is ultimately they who will pass on the decisions made by the officials of the national government itself attempting to bring the necessary leadership to the world. You, the citizens of this area are all members of this team.

At one time or another, you will all be called to make some kind of decision. At one time or another, due to the power position now held by this nation, events overseas and in other parts of the nation, seemingly unimportant vitally effect your lives.

One finds when he visits this and other communities of similar size, that there has been erected some kind of a protective wall around the area. Much as the Chinese years and years ago attempted to keep out the marauders, a wall is in effect being built to keep out all "bad ideas." A wall is being built to keep the town and area from progressing.

To be certain, the people in this area are very fortunate. They have not the cares and the problems of the bigger cities and that is indeed fortunate, but the problems effecting them, in many ways, effect you. It is hard to define a purely "local problem." Unless it deals with city hall, the streets or some local happening, the event cannot be defined as purely local. On the other hand, events which happen in Ethiopia effecting the amount of the taxes you will pay, or the American troops sent to that area cannot be termed in many respects as anything other than local.

Every American has a tremendous responsibility resting on his and her shoulders today. Upon the decisions of you and the leaders of your nation, depends your future as living human beings and in fact, the future of this planet due to the great power of the hydrogen weapon.

This Chinese type wall of protection now exists only in the minds of some people, and it needs to be removed. What happens other places is today, many times, a local problem of the greatest importance.

The Red Cross

The Red Cross drive begins today all over this nation. It has a great quota which must be filled this year if it is to handle the usual great load of troubles which arise over the nation. The Red Cross was started during the last century as an effort to deal with the filth in military and other hospitals. Its motto, or flag, (the Red Cross), is an inverted flag of Switzerland and stands for humane treatment all over the world.

Everywhere you see the Red Cross you will know that someone is being relieved of pain and their injuries are being cared for. Hurricanes, tornadoes and all other physical or natural calamities are aided by the Red Cross wherever they may occur.

This year, the Red Cross needs more assistance than ever with which to build up its war chest. Many disasters last year nearly depleted the Red Cross treasury and there is an acute need for more money this next year. Red Cross money does not come from the government, it comes from you, the people of this nation.

As the drive continues, this newspaper will deal more extensively with the operations and the work of this organization. The Red Cross drive officially opens this week. Give it all the help you possibly can so that it can help you.

Safety And The Louisiana Delegation

Some weeks ago, Governor Robert Kennon, on the request of President Eisenhower asked numerous men and women from this state to travel to the national capitol at Washington to serve as state delegates to the President's Highway Safety Conference. These delegates accepted and traveled to the capitol on their own or their company's time, not on the funds of the state as one disgruntled citizen was recently heard to say. Nor did the delegates go to the conference "to have a good time."

Each and every delegate put in a hard day's work so that you and your loved ones might be better protected on the highways of the nation. Even as they attended the conferences gathering ideas from those who are better informed as to the situation, the casualty list in this state was rising.

In this area alone over that same weekend, there were at least two deaths and eleven serious accidents. The delegates have already started plans for a statewide and in some cases, a city wide conference on public safety.

Unless something is done in this and other areas, the slaughter will continue on even greater stages than ever before. Today, drivers are hurtling along highways and the streets of this nation who should not be allowed to touch the steering wheel of automobiles. The Louisiana State Police who are doing a job, bordering on the amazing, have about reached the limit of their ability. The situation is getting more desperate as the days go by and as the new automobiles reach the roads.

Every segment of the population blames the other for the malpractices on the roads. The older drivers denounce the "crazy kids" while the younger drivers state that the older drivers are incapable of driving due to their lack of reflexes. The ladies state that some men should never be allowed the keys to an auto, while the men shudder in horror when they see a lady driver approaching their area of operations.

It is easy to see that the blame is put entirely on every person but ones self. Actually, there are insurances rates and figures that show, to a great degree, that all segments are in some respect, to blame.

In the meantime, the casualty lists rise and the Korean war is made to appear insignificant beside the National Safety Council's figures.

In the meantime, drivers denounce the police who give them tickets and assert that "I'll have your job." Perhaps the citizens sometimes learn that the police are merely attempting to help the situation and since few police know the drivers personally, there could be no "grudge."

Plans are now being started for a State Conference on Highway Safety at which, it is hoped, Governor Thornton of Colorado and Vice President Nixon can be present. These two mentioned officials have shown the greatest interest in the public safety program.

If the ideas of the conference help to save one life, then all the efforts of the delegates will not have been in vain. It is hoped that the actual work towards attaining a greater degree of safety is started in this state immediately.

Shot In The Dark

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

We had a dog that we loved very much, but one of our good neighbors didn't have nerve to call us and say our dog was bothering them, if he was. They up and shot him. Can't something be done about shooting with a 22 rifle in the city limits?

Most everyone owning a dog learns to love them like a member of their family. We had had our dog 6 years and it was hard to give it up knowing one of our good neighbors shot him. We have 4 children that loved him as we got him when he was a small pup. We are deeply hurt over finding him shot.

Last week there were ten dogs poisoned on Malvern St. in 2 days. Surely we have a law in Monroe that prevents cruelty to animals. Here's hoping something will be done to keep other children from losing their dog as ours was lost.

Poison Kills 3 Dogs

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

After reading your write - up in the paper of February 23rd, I am more certain now than before that we have a sneaky character in the neighborhood of the 3000 block of Dick Taylor St., which is my sister's home. There are 3 brothers-in-law here that are great sportsmen and we have only registered beagle hounds that cost $25 up as pups. They are well trained and worth $75 or more now, but I am sorry to say that some inhuman person poisoned and killed 3 of them right in the dog yard which is in my sister's back yard. Also poisoned and killed one feist belonging to my small nephews.

These kids loved their dog which I gave them. The party that did it, in my opinion, is not as good as the dogs they killed and are too yellow to poison them when there is someone at home. I am mentioning no names but the guilty party knows who they are. If the shoe fits, then wear it. This letter goes for all three of us.

Unemployment

Monroe, La.

Editor Morning World:

We will take it for granted that there is, at this time, in this nation wide spread unemployment and the way it looks from here, this will continue for sometime to come. I know this is not a very popular subject to talk about and some people in this country don't like to talk about it, but nevertheless it is a fact just the same that millions of people are without jobs and the situation looks bad from here. Some of our financial experts say there is nothing that should cause alarm at this time and they are inclined (so they say) to let itself work its way out.

Unemployment is hurting all businesses, both large and small. How are people to run a business, when the people that keep businesses going have no money to spend? That is the big question of the day. Now let's see if we can find what caused this depression or recession or readjustment or whatever you are pleased to call it. It matters very little what you call it, the fact remains there are millions of people that cannot find employment and that does matter. What is being done about it? The president is quoted as having said only a few days ago that if it didn't show signs of improvement the next few months, he would step in and do something about it, but what is that something going to be is anybody's guess. He never stated what he had in mind to do; while he makes up his mind unemployment continues to increase at an alarming rate.

Since the invention of the machine age, where most everything is now produced with machinery of one kind or another, hand laborers are no longer wanted; therefore one man and one machine can do the work that it formerly took, say forty or fifty men working by hand to do; therefore these thirty-nine men have been layed off and are no longer wanted in the production of things; hence these men must seek new jobs and there are no new jobs to be had. Machines are displacing hand labor.

What must we do? Automobiles are here to stay. New and better improvements of all kinds of machinery are here to stay. Are we going to allow these improvements and inventions to become a curse to the nation or a blessing to the nation? Which is it going to be?

Individuals cannot own factories that is the average individual. Factories are owned and controlled by the money power, or as they are commonly called, industrialists. The rich own and control the factories, railroads and other public property where millions have to work and by virtue of that ownership they own the big portion of what is produced, in that factory. They make a tremendous profit; therefore the workers get, in wages, a small portion of what they produce—just enough to live on from day to day. The workers stay poor while the owners grow richer each year. These are plain facts. How long will such a condition prevail?

Billy Graham's Trip

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On "The Hour of Decision" broadcast of yesterday, Billy Graham asked the listeners to write to our newspaper editors about the importance of carrying the London Campaign in our daily papers, keeping the people informed about the daily (or as often as can be gotten) progress of this great spiritual undertaking.

I, a regular listener to this religious broadcast, and a reader of much religious literature, will appreciate it very much if you will make an effort to carry as much of the London crusade as possible.

Thank you very much for getting Billy Graham's daily column "My Answer" in the News-Star.

Loyalty Is Never "Presumptuous"

Glenwood Springs, Colo.

Editor, Morning World:

As an officer of the Regular Army, I say that the screams of leftish editors that Secretary Stevens has surrendered the Army to Senator McCarthy are pure tripe.

Gen Zwicker testified that it would be wrong to promote and honorably discharge a Communist, but that it would be loyal for him (Gen. Zwicker) to do it if he were ordered to by higher authority.

Gen. Zwicker thus demonstrated that he cared more for his own security than his country's. Gen. Zwicker's oath of office, and that of every other official of the government, both military and civilian, requires loyalty not just to superior officers but to the "United States". And the "United States" means the people.

When Zwicker or any other Government officer gets an order he knows to be disloyal, his duty under his oath is to protest that order from superior to superior on up to the President, and if the President ignores him it is the duty to protest it to the people.

Not many thus obey their oaths of office. Jimmy Byrnes dropped the matter after protesting to Truman the promotion of Communist Harry Dexter White. Lamar Caudle dropped it after protesting to his superior. Even the celebrated FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, said it would be "presumptuous" to go higher after the Attorney General and the President ignored his report on White's disloyalty.

But there are some who do honor their oath. Gen. Billy Mitchell did; history shows that the security of the nation was saved by it. Gen. MacArthur did, and so did Gen Van Fleet, after their superiors and the President ignored them. All three were tried or fired or retired because they did. But they put their country's security before their own; and America now honors all three for their loyalty.

The GIs sacrifice their lives for their country. Instead of Zwickers, the Army wants more generals who do not think it presumptuous to be loyal; who, when loyalty demands it, are willing to sacrifice their jobs for their country.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Income Tax Reduction

Biggest congressional bandwagon is the personal income tax reduction. More than 100 members including numerous Republicans have introduced bills providing either for increased individual exemptions — from the present $600 to $700 or $800 or percentage cuts, for one year only. Last year Representative Dan Reed (Rep. N. Y.) 77 year old chairman of the house ways and means almost alone among the house majority proposed to reduce individual taxes immediately.

No Shadow Boxing Here — Plenty of confusion here over Indo-China. Most Americans are hazy or indifferent about the danger of Communist victory, fear only that U. S. will get into a new war there. Few realize that if reds close this gateway to southeast Asia, they can shut off much of our tea, rubber, tin and other commodities, for which we depend on Asia almost entirely.

If the French work out at truce with the Indo-Chinese Communists, the U. S. can expect to face demands that we sell Asian Communists strategic materials they need for military use in exchange for non - military commodities we must have.

Fifty six hour week — An Arkansas contractor dug up an old 1912 act limiting work hours on government contracts to stand the department of defense on its ear. Bidding on a grading contract for construction of an air force base, he specified the work should be done under the 1912 act, which permits a contractor to work employees 56 hours weekly without over time. Government representatives let the bid slip by, then found that it would give that bidder a tremendous advantage. Defense representatives assumed that the Walsh - Healy act, specifying working conditions on government projects, would govern the project, but they have learned the old law was never repealed. Legal specialists are trying to find a way out.

Forecasts — Ike will get his rise in debt limit, probably to 290 billions from present 275 billions; Republican leaders who fought the treasury on the request are ready to support it.

1954 may set a new low for strikes. Wage increases have been slowed by reductions in business. Labor, like business and industry wants to know what is ahead. New wage proposals will be deferred in many instances.

Crowns And Thrones May Perish— A Call To Arms

Conquerors, kings, dictators and emperors come and go, powerful civilizations leave their mark, but there is something that never leaves and that is the church.

Fellow Americans, these are bad times coming by the nation. They are trying times and they are confusing times. Never before has a population depended on the strength and the advice of God and prayer as it does now. It appears that He appointed the people of this nation to lead the world to peace and a brighter better world for all peoples of mankind.

The American people in times past have taken the sword of war and have given of their blood and other resources in three terrible wars. They have made sacrifices in order that the world may remain free. They have not asked the peoples overseas for consideration, they ask only that they be allowed to remain free and allowed to worship as they please. Unfortunately, freedom comes only by hard work. Worship comes not by merely attending church once on Sunday, but by living God 24 hours each day, seven days a week and all the weeks of the year. God expects you to work and live His faith.

Now, the peoples all over the world are called to fight for that faith with all their might and main. They are called to prepare to fight for the King of all Kings and they are called to fight for His church wherever it may be. They are called to fight for His church whether it be a little country church or a great cathedral in the city. They are called to fight for the Church whether it be a poor church in finances (there is no such a thing as a poor church in reality) and they are called upon to make many more sacrifices.

The man who has faith shall not perish in this conflict. He who loses faith is lost before he starts. In this conflict of minds which is being waged not necessarily on the battlefields, but in every city, yes, even many homes, faith is what counts. One cannot have that faith by merely showing up in church once a week, but one must pray, and ask God for help and guidance in the days to come.

These are hysterical times in which you live. A careful study of the situation based on a small amount of history will show how the nation presently stands as regards the battle now engaged. Citizens—wherever you may be, this is indeed a day for prayer. Only faith in God can possibly bring the American people through these dangerous times. Yet, look around you. How many people all over the world are asking God for help and for guidance? You'd be surprised. The number is not so large as you might think.

People all over the world have forgotten religion, they are forgetting the Church and they are forgetting how to pray. God can't even get into the classrooms and into some homes of this and other nations. In the name of all that is decent, how can the little children of the great land which everyone loves, which is this wonderful nation, how can they ever realize the beauty and the assistance of prayer if they are not taught the true meaning of God?

Today, people all over the world will be praying. They will be casting their faces to heaven and asking what it is they can do. Young and old, they will be surging to their places of religious worship and they will lift their hearts and their minds to God and ask Him for the guidance needed in the days and the months to come. In this area the people are indeed fortunate. They are served by fine men, forthright soldiers of God representing every segment of His church. They are served by some of the finest soldiers in God's great army. These are the leaders who will be called upon to help the people in this and other communities in the coming period of strife and confusion which lies ahead. Upon their words, everyone must depend.

Every church in this and other cities is as a beacon in the darkness. Every minister is as the bearer of the light. They cannot and they will not fail. They cannot bear the load by themselves however, and you must assist them with your mind and your heart.

As soldiers in God's army, this week, you will be called upon to don your armor of the cross and wear the uniform of God, armor and that uniform which has withstood the test of time. You will be asked to pray. Fellow Americans, it is hoped that you will look at the present events in the world, indeed, even in the nation, and that upon doing so, you will pray as you have never before prayed in your life. Now is not the time for denominational dissension. Does a great victorious army show the enemy a weak line of battle?

Soldiers all, Americans must this and every other Sunday, every other day, take the lead in the war which whether you realize it or not, is a holy one. You are fighting an army equally powerful and perhaps a lot more cunning. You are fighting an army which will show you no quarter and knows absolutely no mercy. It is either victory or defeat, there can be no compromise with destiny. This week, remember the words of God and fear not when you heed them. Remember the laws of God and live these laws each and every day of the year. If you have faith, no matter what happens, you will find in that faith, there is peace and there is the answer to the confusion of the times.

Ministers, wherever you are, let the bells of your church ring loud, louder than ever before. Americans, wherever you are, this is the day of prayer, the signal to take up the cross and march to victory in this, the world day of prayer.

Crowns and thrones may perish, kingdoms rise and wane, but the church of Jesus, constant will remain. Gates of hell can never, 'gainst that church prevail, you have Christ's own promise, and—that cannot fail.

The Chinese Wall Around Monroe

This is as good or better community as any in the United States in which to live. There are few people who have the advantages of a smaller city but still have the other advantages found in larger communities which are to be found in this area.

Actually, all one has to do to appreciate this community is to stay away from it for awhile preferably in some great Northern city where the people are as impersonal as the statues in the Washington Natural History Museum. However, there has in the past years, as in other communities, grown a spirit of encircling oneself in some kind of a wall of protection. The phenomena is hard to define but many people in this area refuse to consider events in the world around them as being important.

The people living in the larger cities, especially the Eastern communities well realize how the foreign and national scene effects them. They are made more aware of it when they enter their own apartment buildings and see huge black arrows pointing in one direction or the other stating in the boldest print, "SHELTER AREA THIS WAY." They are reminded of the importance of the affairs overseas each time they look to the top of a public building and notice an air raid siren. More important, they realize it when they hear the siren's eerie blast.

The people in this area are sometimes inclined to adopt the shortsighted view of any subject, not considering the long term ramifications of the problem at hand. This is most certainly not the only city in the nation to fall under the same spell and there are countless communities all over the nation which do not realize that the internal strife of the Mau Mau in Kenya Colony, or the severe water shortage in Pakistan have definite effect on their lives.

The world has grown smaller due to the air travel, the communications and by the terrible weapons man has so foolishly made. Many times, this newspaper is asked to write "more local editorials." In the belief that there is a great degree of local importance to every national and international event, it is necessary to balance equally the events which happen here in the Twin Cities, in the state, over the nation and in the foreign scene.

Americans, for better or worse, are now asked by their leaders to lead the world. The people sometimes are inclined to forget that it is ultimately they who will pass on the decisions made by the officials of the national government itself attempting to bring the necessary leadership to the world. You, the citizens of this area are all members of this team.

At one time or another, you will all be called to make some kind of decision. At one time or another, due to the power position now held by this nation, events overseas and in other parts of the nation, seemingly unimportant vitally effect your lives.

One finds when he visits this and other communities of similar size, that there has been erected some kind of a protective wall around the area. Much as the Chinese years and years ago attempted to keep out the marauders, a wall is in effect being built to keep out all "bad ideas." A wall is being built to keep the town and area from progressing.

To be certain, the people in this area are very fortunate. They have not the cares and the problems of the bigger cities and that is indeed fortunate, but the problems effecting them, in many ways, effect you. It is hard to define a purely "local problem." Unless it deals with city hall, the streets or some local happening, the event cannot be defined as purely local. On the other hand, events which happen in Ethiopia effecting the amount of the taxes you will pay, or the American troops sent to that area cannot be termed in many respects as anything other than local.

Every American has a tremendous responsibility resting on his and her shoulders today. Upon the decisions of you and the leaders of your nation, depends your future as living human beings and in fact, the future of this planet due to the great power of the hydrogen weapon.

This Chinese type wall of protection now exists only in the minds of some people, and it needs to be removed. What happens other places is today, many times, a local problem of the greatest importance.

The Red Cross

The Red Cross drive begins today all over this nation. It has a great quota which must be filled this year if it is to handle the usual great load of troubles which arise over the nation. The Red Cross was started during the last century as an effort to deal with the filth in military and other hospitals. Its motto, or flag, (the Red Cross), is an inverted flag of Switzerland and stands for humane treatment all over the world.

Everywhere you see the Red Cross you will know that someone is being relieved of pain and their injuries are being cared for. Hurricanes, tornadoes and all other physical or natural calamities are aided by the Red Cross wherever they may occur.

This year, the Red Cross needs more assistance than ever with which to build up its war chest. Many disasters last year nearly depleted the Red Cross treasury and there is an acute need for more money this next year. Red Cross money does not come from the government, it comes from you, the people of this nation.

As the drive continues, this newspaper will deal more extensively with the operations and the work of this organization. The Red Cross drive officially opens this week. Give it all the help you possibly can so that it can help you.

Safety And The Louisiana Delegation

Some weeks ago, Governor Robert Kennon, on the request of President Eisenhower asked numerous men and women from this state to travel to the national capitol at Washington to serve as state delegates to the President's Highway Safety Conference. These delegates accepted and traveled to the capitol on their own or their company's time, not on the funds of the state as one disgruntled citizen was recently heard to say. Nor did the delegates go to the conference "to have a good time."

Each and every delegate put in a hard day's work so that you and your loved ones might be better protected on the highways of the nation. Even as they attended the conferences gathering ideas from those who are better informed as to the situation, the casualty list in this state was rising.

In this area alone over that same weekend, there were at least two deaths and eleven serious accidents. The delegates have already started plans for a statewide and in some cases, a city wide conference on public safety.

Unless something is done in this and other areas, the slaughter will continue on even greater stages than ever before. Today, drivers are hurtling along highways and the streets of this nation who should not be allowed to touch the steering wheel of automobiles. The Louisiana State Police who are doing a job, bordering on the amazing, have about reached the limit of their ability. The situation is getting more desperate as the days go by and as the new automobiles reach the roads.

Every segment of the population blames the other for the malpractices on the roads. The older drivers denounce the "crazy kids" while the younger drivers state that the older drivers are incapable of driving due to their lack of reflexes. The ladies state that some men should never be allowed the keys to an auto, while the men shudder in horror when they see a lady driver approaching their area of operations.

It is easy to see that the blame is put entirely on every person but ones self. Actually, there are insurances rates and figures that show, to a great degree, that all segments are in some respect, to blame.

In the meantime, the casualty lists rise and the Korean war is made to appear insignificant beside the National Safety Council's figures.

In the meantime, drivers denounce the police who give them tickets and assert that "I'll have your job." Perhaps the citizens sometimes learn that the police are merely attempting to help the situation and since few police know the drivers personally, there could be no "grudge."

Plans are now being started for a State Conference on Highway Safety at which, it is hoped, Governor Thornton of Colorado and Vice President Nixon can be present. These two mentioned officials have shown the greatest interest in the public safety program.

If the ideas of the conference help to save one life, then all the efforts of the delegates will not have been in vain. It is hoped that the actual work towards attaining a greater degree of safety is started in this state immediately.

Shot In The Dark

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

We had a dog that we loved very much, but one of our good neighbors didn't have nerve to call us and say our dog was bothering them, if he was. They up and shot him. Can't something be done about shooting with a 22 rifle in the city limits?

Most everyone owning a dog learns to love them like a member of their family. We had had our dog 6 years and it was hard to give it up knowing one of our good neighbors shot him. We have 4 children that loved him as we got him when he was a small pup. We are deeply hurt over finding him shot.

Last week there were ten dogs poisoned on Malvern St. in 2 days. Surely we have a law in Monroe that prevents cruelty to animals. Here's hoping something will be done to keep other children from losing their dog as ours was lost.

Poison Kills 3 Dogs

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

After reading your write - up in the paper of February 23rd, I am more certain now than before that we have a sneaky character in the neighborhood of the 3000 block of Dick Taylor St., which is my sister's home. There are 3 brothers-in-law here that are great sportsmen and we have only registered beagle hounds that cost $25 up as pups. They are well trained and worth $75 or more now, but I am sorry to say that some inhuman person poisoned and killed 3 of them right in the dog yard which is in my sister's back yard. Also poisoned and killed one feist belonging to my small nephews.

These kids loved their dog which I gave them. The party that did it, in my opinion, is not as good as the dogs they killed and are too yellow to poison them when there is someone at home. I am mentioning no names but the guilty party knows who they are. If the shoe fits, then wear it. This letter goes for all three of us.

Unemployment

Monroe, La.

Editor Morning World:

We will take it for granted that there is, at this time, in this nation wide spread unemployment and the way it looks from here, this will continue for sometime to come. I know this is not a very popular subject to talk about and some people in this country don't like to talk about it, but nevertheless it is a fact just the same that millions of people are without jobs and the situation looks bad from here. Some of our financial experts say there is nothing that should cause alarm at this time and they are inclined (so they say) to let itself work its way out.

Unemployment is hurting all businesses, both large and small. How are people to run a business, when the people that keep businesses going have no money to spend? That is the big question of the day. Now let's see if we can find what caused this depression or recession or readjustment or whatever you are pleased to call it. It matters very little what you call it, the fact remains there are millions of people that cannot find employment and that does matter. What is being done about it? The president is quoted as having said only a few days ago that if it didn't show signs of improvement the next few months, he would step in and do something about it, but what is that something going to be is anybody's guess. He never stated what he had in mind to do; while he makes up his mind unemployment continues to increase at an alarming rate.

Since the invention of the machine age, where most everything is now produced with machinery of one kind or another, hand laborers are no longer wanted; therefore one man and one machine can do the work that it formerly took, say forty or fifty men working by hand to do; therefore these thirty-nine men have been layed off and are no longer wanted in the production of things; hence these men must seek new jobs and there are no new jobs to be had. Machines are displacing hand labor.

What must we do? Automobiles are here to stay. New and better improvements of all kinds of machinery are here to stay. Are we going to allow these improvements and inventions to become a curse to the nation or a blessing to the nation? Which is it going to be?

Individuals cannot own factories that is the average individual. Factories are owned and controlled by the money power, or as they are commonly called, industrialists. The rich own and control the factories, railroads and other public property where millions have to work and by virtue of that ownership they own the big portion of what is produced, in that factory. They make a tremendous profit; therefore the workers get, in wages, a small portion of what they produce—just enough to live on from day to day. The workers stay poor while the owners grow richer each year. These are plain facts. How long will such a condition prevail?

Billy Graham's Trip

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On "The Hour of Decision" broadcast of yesterday, Billy Graham asked the listeners to write to our newspaper editors about the importance of carrying the London Campaign in our daily papers, keeping the people informed about the daily (or as often as can be gotten) progress of this great spiritual undertaking.

I, a regular listener to this religious broadcast, and a reader of much religious literature, will appreciate it very much if you will make an effort to carry as much of the London crusade as possible.

Thank you very much for getting Billy Graham's daily column "My Answer" in the News-Star.

Glenwood Springs, Colo.

Editor, Morning World:

As an officer of the Regular Army, I say that the screams of leftish editors that Secretary Stevens has surrendered the Army to Senator McCarthy are pure tripe.

Gen Zwicker testified that it would be wrong to promote and honorably discharge a Communist, but that it would be loyal for him (Gen. Zwicker) to do it if he were ordered to by higher authority.

Gen. Zwicker thus demonstrated that he cared more for his own security than his country's. Gen. Zwicker's oath of office, and that of every other official of the government, both military and civilian, requires loyalty not just to superior officers but to the "United States". And the "United States" means the people.

When Zwicker or any other Government officer gets an order he knows to be disloyal, his duty under his oath is to protest that order from superior to superior on up to the President, and if the President ignores him it is the duty to protest it to the people.

Not many thus obey their oaths of office. Jimmy Byrnes dropped the matter after protesting to Truman the promotion of Communist Harry Dexter White. Lamar Caudle dropped it after protesting to his superior. Even the celebrated FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, said it would be "presumptuous" to go higher after the Attorney General and the President ignored his report on White's disloyalty.

But there are some who do honor their oath. Gen. Billy Mitchell did; history shows that the security of the nation was saved by it. Gen. MacArthur did, and so did Gen Van Fleet, after their superiors and the President ignored them. All three were tried or fired or retired because they did. But they put their country's security before their own; and America now honors all three for their loyalty.

The GIs sacrifice their lives for their country. Instead of Zwickers, the Army wants more generals who do not think it presumptuous to be loyal; who, when loyalty demands it, are willing to sacrifice their jobs for their country.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Income Tax Reduction

Biggest congressional bandwagon is the personal income tax reduction. More than 100 members including numerous Republicans have introduced bills providing either for increased individual exemptions — from the present $600 to $700 or $800 or percentage cuts, for one year only. Last year Representative Dan Reed (Rep. N. Y.) 77 year old chairman of the house ways and means almost alone among the house majority proposed to reduce individual taxes immediately.

No Shadow Boxing Here — Plenty of confusion here over Indo-China. Most Americans are hazy or indifferent about the danger of Communist victory, fear only that U. S. will get into a new war there. Few realize that if reds close this gateway to southeast Asia, they can shut off much of our tea, rubber, tin and other commodities, for which we depend on Asia almost entirely.

If the French work out at truce with the Indo-Chinese Communists, the U. S. can expect to face demands that we sell Asian Communists strategic materials they need for military use in exchange for non - military commodities we must have.

Fifty six hour week — An Arkansas contractor dug up an old 1912 act limiting work hours on government contracts to stand the department of defense on its ear. Bidding on a grading contract for construction of an air force base, he specified the work should be done under the 1912 act, which permits a contractor to work employees 56 hours weekly without over time. Government representatives let the bid slip by, then found that it would give that bidder a tremendous advantage. Defense representatives assumed that the Walsh - Healy act, specifying working conditions on government projects, would govern the project, but they have learned the old law was never repealed. Legal specialists are trying to find a way out.

Forecasts — Ike will get his rise in debt limit, probably to 290 billions from present 275 billions; Republican leaders who fought the treasury on the request are ready to support it.

1954 may set a new low for strikes. Wage increases have been slowed by reductions in business. Labor, like business and industry wants to know what is ahead. New wage proposals will be deferred in many instances.

Shaffier Still Critical After Wreck Friday

Authorities at St. Francis hospital report the condition of Pat Shaffier, 34, 609 Grammont St., to be still critical following a near-fatal auto and truck crash on highway 80, seven miles east of Monroe. Critically injured in the wreck with Shaffier was Mrs. H. G. Hollingsworth, 518 Calypso St. Mrs. Hollingsworth's condition is said to be slightly improved.

W. P. Shaffier, Sr., father of the injured man told reporters that his son was still unconscious and was paralyzed on his right side and had shown little improvement.

Reports indicate that Shaffier suffered a heart attack at the wheel of the auto and when Mrs. H. A. Jasper, also of Monroe and a passenger in the car, attempted to keep it on the road, she swerved into the path of the truck driven by J. T. Lenard. The two vehicles met head-on and the truck plunged off the highway and overturned.

The force of the collision plunged Mrs. Hollingsworth's head through the windshield of the car, severely lacerating her face. Relatives reported that she also suffered a fracture of a leg and arm and other injuries that have not been determined. Mrs. Jasper suffered minor injuries.

The trio in the car were enroute to Collins, Miss., to visit a relative of the two women. The truck passengers are all employees of the Monroe Wholesale Beverage Co. and were returning from a sales trip.

C. RAYMOND HEARD

L. S. U. Post Sought By Ruston Man

RUSTON, La., Feb. 27 (Special) — Charles Raymond Heard, of Ruston, presently serving as president of the Louisiana State Board of Education, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the board from the Third Public Service District which is comprised of some 28 north Louisiana parishes. He is seeking his second term on the board.

A member of the board since 1949, Heard served as chairman of the finance committee for five years prior to being elevated to the presidency.

Prominent in both business and civic circles, Heard heads the Raymond Heard Wholesale Grocery Company which serves the entire northern area of Louisiana. He has served as president of the Louisiana Motor Transport Association and vice-president of the Louisiana Wholesale Grocery Association. He belongs to numerous civic organizations in Ruston and Lincoln Parish.

The son of Mrs. S. J. Heard and the late Mr Heard, Raymond Heard is a native of Lincoln Parish, having been born there on November 25, 1896. He is a graduate of Ruston High School; Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in engineering and attended Louisiana State University as a business administration major for one and one-half years before entering the U. S. Navy during World War I.

Heard is married to the former Miss Mayme Cargill of Ruston. They have three children. Mrs. George Link of Carmi, Illinois; Miss Alice Heard who is doing graduate work at the University of Texas; and Miss Priscilla Heard who will graduate from Ruston High School this year.

"I have been urged by a great many business men, school people and parish superintendents throughout the area to announce for re-election and, because of the interest and confidence shown me, I am again becoming a candidate for state school board member from the Third Public Service District. It has been a great personal satisfaction to see our schools improve as much as they have and I shall continue to work toward that end. I am a firm believer in education in order to quality our future citizens for a better standard of living. I am interested in children from the beginning of their education all the way through college. I am also interested in the welfare of the teachers and taxpayers; and promise to see that the money is spent for the best.

"The board has under its supervision twenty-four trade schools and eight colleges, one-half of which are in the Third Public Service District. In our eight state colleges, we have approximately 14,000 students enrolled at the present time. From a state level, the board spent approximately $90 million dollars last year for education in all schools within its jurisdiction. Our state school system is now recognized as one of the finest in the entire United States.

"I shall continue to work for the improvement of our entire system."

GEORGE T. MADISON

G. Madison To Seek Re-Election

BASTROP, La., Feb. 27. (Special)—George T. Madison, prominent Morehouse Parish attorney and member of the Louisiana State Board of Education since 1931, has announced his candidacy for re-election as a member from the Fifth Congressional district.

In making the announcement, Madison stated "as many of my friends know, I had given serious consideration to retiring from the board at the end of my term as I have devoted a great deal of time to the board's affairs over many years and wished to have more time to devote to my business and other affairs However, a great many citizens, and especially a large number of school people have urged and insisted that I continue on the board. It would be very difficult for me to turn down their request.

"Under the circumstances, I am willing to continue to serve and have, accordingly decided to seek re-election. In order to avoid confusion, I call attention to the fact that the term of the member from the Third Public Service District, which includes the Fifth Congressional district, also expires this year so that the people in the Fifth District will vote for a member to represent their district and also a member to represent the Third Public Service District."

Madison, who has been practicing law in Bastrop as the senior member of Madison, Madison, Files and Shell, of Bastrop and Monroe, since graduation from Tulane Law School in 1921, served as president of the board from 1948 through 1951, having been elected president first in 1948 and re-elected for two additional terms. He declined nomination for the presidency at the completion of his third term, indicating that he favored rotation in the office and asked that some other member of the board be elected.

From 1931, his initial year on the board, until 1948, Madison served as chairman of the finance committee. He was re-appointed chairman of the committee this year, following the election of Raymond Heard, of Ruston, immediate past chairman, to the presidency.

He has served as president of the Louisiana State Bar Association, member of the council for the state law institute, and a member of the House of Delegates for the American Bar Association.

A veteran of both world wars, Madison served as second lieutenant during World War I and was in the reserves until World War II, when he was promoted to colonel, AUS. He saw action in the European and North African theatres during the latter conflict.

Madison is married to the former Miss Frances Davenport of Mer Rouge, La. They have two children, Mrs. J. A. Henderson of Pensacola, Fla., and Mrs. Duke Shackelford of Jones, La.

In making the announcement of his candidacy, Madison said he "believes that the board is now and will be in the next few years faced with some of the most difficult problems in connection with the schools and school system that has ever confronted it and that he hopes that his experience on the board will be of value.

"It has been a privilege and a pleasure to have a part in the very rapid development of the Louisiana school system and I am well pleased with the progress we have made in our schools in the past quarter century.

"I think the number of children in the public schools has doubled since I have been on the board and we now have approximately 14,000 students in the colleges under the State Board of Education in addition to the students in the special schools for the deaf, blind and spastics and in the state trade schools which have been established in most sections of the state. Teachers' salaries have been materially raised and a sound retirement system has been provided for teachers and school employees. This has helped in holding and attracting qualified teachers for the schools of Louisisiana.

"The support given to me and the other members of the state board by the people, and especially by the local school authorities and the members of the teaching profession, has been most gratifying and has assisted us materialy in the development of the schools in our state.

"The people of Louisiana can well be proud of their school system as it compares very favorably with those in other states and in many ways is outstanding.

"The people of the district are familiar with my work and record on the board and if re-elected I promise to continue to work for the best interest of the schools, the school children and the taxpayers of Louisiana."

Shaffier Still Critical After Wreck Friday

Authorities at St. Francis hospital report the condition of Pat Shaffier, 34, 609 Grammont St., to be still critical following a near-fatal auto and truck crash on highway 80, seven miles east of Monroe. Critically injured in the wreck with Shaffier was Mrs. H. G. Hollingsworth, 518 Calypso St. Mrs. Hollingsworth's condition is said to be slightly improved.

W. P. Shaffier, Sr., father of the injured man told reporters that his son was still unconscious and was paralyzed on his right side and had shown little improvement.

Reports indicate that Shaffier suffered a heart attack at the wheel of the auto and when Mrs. H. A. Jasper, also of Monroe and a passenger in the car, attempted to keep it on the road, she swerved into the path of the truck driven by J. T. Lenard. The two vehicles met head-on and the truck plunged off the highway and overturned.

The force of the collision plunged Mrs. Hollingsworth's head through the windshield of the car, severely lacerating her face. Relatives reported that she also suffered a fracture of a leg and arm and other injuries that have not been determined. Mrs. Jasper suffered minor injuries.

The trio in the car were enroute to Collins, Miss., to visit a relative of the two women. The truck passengers are all employees of the Monroe Wholesale Beverage Co. and were returning from a sales trip.

C. RAYMOND HEARD

L. S. U. Post Sought By Ruston Man

RUSTON, La., Feb. 27 (Special) — Charles Raymond Heard, of Ruston, presently serving as president of the Louisiana State Board of Education, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the board from the Third Public Service District which is comprised of some 28 north Louisiana parishes. He is seeking his second term on the board.

A member of the board since 1949, Heard served as chairman of the finance committee for five years prior to being elevated to the presidency.

Prominent in both business and civic circles, Heard heads the Raymond Heard Wholesale Grocery Company which serves the entire northern area of Louisiana. He has served as president of the Louisiana Motor Transport Association and vice-president of the Louisiana Wholesale Grocery Association. He belongs to numerous civic organizations in Ruston and Lincoln Parish.

The son of Mrs. S. J. Heard and the late Mr. Heard, Raymond Heard is a native of Lincoln Parish, having been born there on November 25, 1896. He is a graduate of Ruston High School; Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in engineering and attended Louisiana State University as a business administration major for one and one-half years before entering the U. S. Navy during World War I.

Heard is married to the former Miss Mayme Cargill of Ruston. They have three children, Mrs. George Link of Carmi, Illinois; Miss Alice Heard who is doing graduate work at the University of Texas; and Miss Priscilla Heard who will graduate from Ruston High School this year.

"I have been urged by a great many business men, school people and parish superintendents throughout the area to announce for re-election and, because of the interest and confidence shown me, I am again becoming a candidate for state school board member from the Third Public Service District. It has been a great personal satisfaction to see our schools improve as much as they have and I shall continue to work toward that end. I am a firm believer in education in order to quality our future citizens for a better standard of living. I am interested in children from the beginning of their education all the way through college. I am also interested in the welfare of the teachers and taxpayers; and promise to see that the money is spent for the best.

"The board has under its supervision twenty-four trade schools and eight colleges, one-half of which are in the Third Public Service District. In our eight state colleges, we have approximately 14,000 students enrolled at the present time. From a state level, the board spent approximately $90 million dollars last year for education in all schools within its jurisdiction. Our state school system is now recognized as one of the finest in the entire United States.

"I shall continue to work for the improvement of our entire system."

The programs are open to students and the general public, Jimmy Raymick, president of the Inter-Faith Council, announced.

Each year a speaker of a different denomination is chosen to highlight the program.

The forthcoming event will emphasize "The Student Face to Face with Christ." The theme is in keeping with the design of the assemblies and conferences to show students where spiritual values play important roles in their lives.

Dr. Rasmussen's talks will emphasize the following factors in order of the three general assemblies: "The Student Becomes Aware of God," "The Student Becomes Aware of Others," and "The Student Becomes Aware of Himself."

GEORGE T. MADISON

G. Madison To Seek Re-Election

BASTROP, La., Feb. 27. (Special)—George T. Madison, prominent Morehouse Parish attorney and member of the Louisiana State Board of Education since 1931, has announced his candidacy for re-election as a member from the Fifth Congressional district.

In making the announcement, Madison stated "as many of my friends know, I had given serious consideration to retiring from the board at the end of my term as I have devoted a great deal of time to the board's affairs over many years and wished to have more time to devote to my business and other affairs However, a great many citizens, and especially a large number of school people have urged and insisted that I continue on the board. It would be very difficult for me to turn down their request.

"Under the circumstances, I am willing to continue to serve and have, accordingly decided to seek re-election. In order to avoid confusion, I call attention to the fact that the term of the member from the Third Public Service District, which includes the Fifth Congressional district, also expires this year so that the people in the Fifth District will vote for a member to represent their district and also a member to represent the Third Public Service District."

Madison, who has been practicing law in Bastrop as the senior member of Madison, Madison, Files and Shell, of Bastrop and Monroe, since graduation from Tulane Law School in 1921, served as president of the board from 1948 through 1951, having been elected president first in 1948 and re-elected for two additional terms. He declined nomination for the presidency at the completion of his third term, indicating that he favored rotation in the office and asked that some other member of the board be elected.

From 1931, his initial year on the board, until 1948, Madison served as chairman of the finance committee. He was re-appointed chairman of the committee this year, following the election of Raymond Heard, of Ruston, immediate past chairman, to the presidency.

He has served as president of the Louisiana State Bar Association, member of the council for the state law institute, and a member of the House of Delegates for the American Bar Association.

A veteran of both world wars, Madison served as second lieutenant during World War I and was in the reserves until World War II, when he was promoted to colonel, AUS. He saw action in the European and North African theatres during the latter conflict.

Madison is married to the former Miss Frances Davenport of Mer Rouge, La. They have two children, Mrs. J. A. Henderson of Pensacola, Fla., and Mrs. Duke Shackelford of Jones, La.

In making the announcement of his candidacy, Madison said he "believes that the board is now and will be in the next few years faced with some of the most difficult problems in connection with the schools and school system that has ever confronted it and that he hopes that his experience on the board will be of value.

"It has been a privilege and a pleasure to have a part in the very rapid development of the Louisiana school system and I am well pleased with the progress we have made in our schools in the past quarter century.

"I think the number of children in the public schools has doubled since I have been on the board and we now have approximately 14,000 students in the colleges under the State Board of Education in addition to the students in the special schools for the deaf, blind and spastics and in the state trade schools which have been established in most sections of the state. Teachers' salaries have been materially raised and a sound retirement system has been provided for teachers and school employees. This has helped in holding and attracting qualified teachers for the schools of Louisisiana.

"The support given to me and the other members of the state board by the people, and especially by the local school authorities and the members of the teaching profession, has been most gratifying and has assisted us materialy in the development of the schools in our state.

"The people of Louisiana can well be proud of their school system as it compares very favorably with those in other states and in many ways is outstanding.

Historic Mansions To Be Open For Inspection

Natchez Pilgrimage To Start Today

NATCHEZ, Miss., Feb. 26—UP—This historic Mississippi river port city throws open the doors of its stately Antebellum mansions tomorrow and turns back the pages to Pre-Civil War days for a month long pilgrimage that is expected to draw thousands.

Natchez, for the 23rd season, will recapture the atmosphere, social life and customs of the old south in its celebration starting tomorrow and ending March 31 with a brilliant costume ball.

More than 100,000 tourists visited the 30 historic mansions, chatted with pretty girls dressed in hoop skirts and attended a series of colorful tableaux depicting southern plantation life last season.

Officials of the sponsoring pilgrimage garden club and the Natchez garden club said today they expected "even more" visitors for this year's event which slows life in this bustling industrial and oil town to a gait as slow as a southern drawl.

Miss Rena Jean Whittington, a freshman at the University of Mississippi, will reign as queen of the month-long pilgrimage and George Marshall, Jr., is her royal consort.

On alternate nights a confederate pageant unfurling the colorful, but short-lived, days before the Civil War will be staged.

Dozens of last minute preparations were being completed today as the city prepared to turn back the calendar.

Two other Mississippi cities Vicksburg and Biloxi, were also preparing for an influx of tourists.

Vicksburg's annual showboat with its villian and hero drawing hisses and cheers from an enthusiastic audience opens Tuesday night. Gov. Hugh White will be among the first nighters attending "gold in the hills" aboard the Steamer Sprague.

Biloxi stages its annual Mardi Gras celebration Tuesday night. A dozen bands lead a parade of 15 floats and the reigning monarch, whose name remains a mystery, arrives aboard his imperial yacht at the Biloxi harbor. Hundreds of Gulf coast visitors take part in the merriment.

Former Official Given Five Years

MERIDIAN Miss., Feb. 26 (AP) — Circuit Judge Jesse H. Graham sentenced J. O. Eastland, former Meridian tax collector, to five years in prison today on a charge of embezzling city funds.

His attorneys filed notice of appeal and Eastland was placed under a $5,000 bond.

State Troopers Smash Way Into Gaming Casino

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27—UP—Louisiana State police smashed their way into a Jefferson parish gambling casino-residence for the third time Saturday and Supt. Francis C. Grevemberg, who led the raiders, accused parish officials of condoning gambling.

Eleven persons were booked following the raid and a warrant was issued for the arrest of George L. O'Dwyer, Jr., said by Grevemberg to have been operating the gambling house.

"Every time we make a raid the places bounce back into operation in this parish," he said. "I have received a hundred letters accusing the state police of taking bribes to allow this place to go back into operation. This definitely is not true.

"I wish to urge Jefferson citizens to demand of their officials that they uphold their oath of office. It is unfortunate that Sheriff Frank J. Clancy is so ill he can't attend to business. When he was active he kept his promise to the Kefauver committee to keep the gambling places closed.

"The situation is this—we are getting no co-operation from the Jefferson prosecution officials and the law enforcement officers."

Registration Of All Dogs Ordered By Police Jury

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 27 — UP—A resolution calling for the registration of every dog in Rapides parish has been adopted by the parish police jury.

The resolution was placed into effect after the jurors were told of a possible epidemic of rabies in the parish.

A fine of not more than $50 and imprisonment of not more than 30 days was included in the resolution.

Dr. Kendrick Taylor, health unit director, told the jurors he was interested in enforcing a quarantine to break a possible epidemic of rabies in Rapides parish. He said that many dog owners would not cooperate with a voluntary vaccination program.

He was knocked about three feet by the impact.

Court To Rule On Picketing Dispute

BOGALUSA Feb. 27—UP—District Judge Robert D. Jones was expected to rule next week on a court move by a machinists' union to throw out a petition by nine auto dealers asking a court injunction against union picketing

An attorney for the machinists' local filed exceptions to the petition in district court at Franklinton.

The auto dealers' petition requested a temporary injunction which would stop members of Pine Tree Lodge 1983, International Association of Machinists from picketing their establishments. The union began picketing after a disagreement with the dealers in January.

Judge Jones if he overrules the exceptions to the dealers' petition, will then hear the case for an injunction.

Poland Orders U. S. To Close One Consulate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—UP—The Polish government Saturday ordered the United States to close its consulate at Danzig, Poland, in retaliation to a U. S. order for Poland to close three offices in this country.

The Polish embassy released a note handed by the Polish foreign affairs to the American embassy in Warsaw describing the U.S. action as "highly unfriendly."

The note, expressing "sharp protest" against the U.S. move, added that the Polish government "requests that the government of the United States close its consulate at Gdansk (Danzig) and liquidate its affairs within a reasonable period."

Historic Mansions To Be Open For Inspection

Natchez Pilgrimage To Start Today

NATCHEZ, Miss., Feb. 26—UP—This historic Mississippi river port city throws open the doors of its stately Antebellum mansions tomorrow and turns back the pages to Pre-Civil War days for a month long pilgrimage that is expected to draw thousands.

Natchez, for the 23rd season, will recapture the atmosphere, social life and customs of the old south in its celebration starting tomorrow and ending March 31 with a brilliant costume ball.

More than 100,000 tourists visited the 30 historic mansions, chatted with pretty girls dressed in hoop skirts and attended a series of colorful tableaux depicting southern plantation life last season.

Officials of the sponsoring pilgrimage garden club and the Natchez garden club said today they expected "even more" visitors for this year's event which slows life in this bustling industrial and oil town to a gait as slow as a southern drawl.

Miss Rena Jean Whittington, a freshman at the University of Mississippi, will reign as queen of the month-long pilgrimage and George Marshall, Jr., is her royal consort.

On alternate nights a confederate pageant unfurling the colorful, but short-lived, days before the Civil War will be staged.

Dozens of last minute preparations were being completed today as the city prepared to turn back the calendar.

Two other Mississippi cities Vicksburg and Biloxi, were also preparing for an influx of tourists.

Vicksburg's annual showboat with its villian and hero drawing hisses and cheers from an enthusiastic audience opens Tuesday night. Gov. Hugh White will be among the first nighters attending "gold in the hills" aboard the Steamer Sprague.

Biloxi stages its annual Mardi Gras celebration Tuesday night. A dozen bands lead a parade of 15 floats and the reigning monarch, whose name remains a mystery, arrives aboard his imperial yacht at the Biloxi harbor. Hundreds of Gulf coast visitors take part in the merriment.

Former Official Given Five Years

MERIDIAN Miss., Feb. 26 (AP)—Circuit Judge Jesse H. Graham sentenced J. O. Eastland, former Meridian tax collector, to five years in prison today on a charge of embezzling city funds.

His attorneys filed notice of appeal and Eastland was placed under a $5,000 bond.

State Troopers Smash Way Into Gaming Casino

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27—UP—Louisiana State police smashed their way into a Jefferson parish gambling casino-residence for the third time Saturday and Supt. Francis C. Grevemberg, who led the raiders, accused parish officials of condoning gambling.

Eleven persons were booked following the raid and a warrant was issued for the arrest of George L. O'Dwyer, Jr., said by Grevemberg to have been operating the gambling house.

"Every time we make a raid the places bounce back into operation in this parish," he said. "I have received a hundred letters accusing the state police of taking bribes to allow this place to go back into operation. This definitely is not true.

"I wish to urge Jefferson citizens to demand of their officials that they uphold their oath of office. It is unfortunate that Sheriff (Frank J.) Clancy is so ill he can't attend to business. When he was active he kept his promise to the Kefauver committee to keep the gambling places closed.

"The situation is this—we are getting no co-operation from the Jefferson prosecution officials and the law enforcement officers."

Registration Of All Dogs Ordered By Police Jury

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 27—UP—A resolution calling for the registration of every dog in Rapides parish has been adopted by the parish police jury.

The resolution was placed into effect after the jurors were told of a possible epidemic of rabies in the parish.

A fine of not more than $50 and imprisonment of not more than 30 days was included in the resolution.

Dr. Kendrick Taylor, health unit director, told the jurors he was interested in enforcing a quarantine to break a possible epidemic of rabies in Rapides parish. He said that many dog owners would not cooperate with a voluntary vaccination program.

Automobile Hits Neville Student

Pal London, 13-year-old Neville High School student, was recovering Saturday from minor injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile at the high school Friday afternoon.

Police said London suffered bruises and lacerations when he was struck by an automobile driven by Miss Sally Ann Smith, 17, of 1308 McGuire about 3 p.m. Friday.

According to the officers, London, who lives at 212 Moore ave., was struck by the car when he ran into the driveway in the rear of the high school, directly into the path of the car.

He was knocked about three feet by the impact.

Court To Rule On Picketing Dispute

BOGALUSA Feb. 27—UP—District Judge Robert D. Jones was expected to rule next week on a court move by a machinists' union to throw out a petition by nine auto dealers asking a court injunction against union picketing.

An attorney for the machinists' local filed exceptions to the petition in district court at Franklinton.

The auto dealers' petition requested a temporary injunction which would stop members of Pine Tree Lodge 1983, International Association of Machinists from picketing their establishments. The union began picketing after a disagreement with the dealers in January.

Judge Jones if he overrules the exceptions to the dealers' petition, will then hear the case for an injunction.

N. O. Symphony Group Will Be Here March 23

The Belhaven sextet and chorale along with 33 members from the New Orleans symphony will appear in Monroe in concert on Tuesday evening, March 23, at the Neville High School auditorium. The program is designed to offer a wide variety of music with the first half of the concert being devoted to symphonic, operatic and concert music. The latter part will include lighter tunes of contemporary music.

Tickets are on sale and may be obtained from any member of the Quota Club, Dew's Music store, Hewitt's, or Keene's Shoe Store.

Poland Orders U. S. To Close One Consulate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—UP—The Polish government Saturday ordered the United States to close its consulate at Danzig, Poland, in retaliation to a U. S. order for Poland to close three offices in this country.

The Polish embassy released a note handed by the Polish foreign affairs to the American embassy in Warsaw describing the U.S. action as "highly unfriendly."

The note, expressing "sharp protest" against the U.S. move, added that the Polish government "requests that the government of the United States close its consulate at Gdansk (Danzig) and liquidate its affairs within a reasonable period."

The Danzig consulate had been in a caretaker status for some time. The State Department on Thursday asked Poland to close its consulates at New York, Chicago, and Detroit.

STUDENTS TO PARTICIPATE—Holly Ridge High School students who will participate in the exchange student program are shown above. Holly Ridge High Will Participate In Exchange

By MRS. GLADYS LANE
(World Correspondent)

HOLLY RIDGE, Feb. 27—A long stride, from the days of buggy travel to the Little Red Schoolhouse, is the program being inaugerated in Louisiana by the Holly Ridge High School.

Leon Beasley, principal, announced officially this week that 31 Holly Ridge students would participate in a student exchange program with the Washington - Lee High School in Arlington, Virginia.

This project is an outgrowth of a report presented at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges in Memphis, Tenn. in 1953. Mr. Beasley presented the report, given by a Florida principal, to his faculty, who readily endorsed the project and exchanges began with the Virigina State Department of Education. The Holly Ridge project is the second of its kind in the nation.

The student council at Washington-Lee were presented with the plan and from that is the outgrowth of what is known as "Operation Washington."

Thirty students, all members of the Washington-Lee student council, will arrive in Holly Ridge March 23 and students from Holly Ridge will leave for Arlington on April 5.

The Virginia students will be housed in the homes of Holly Ridge students and citizens of the community, and on the visit to Arlington, Holly Ridge students will stay in the homes of student council members.

By way of contrast Holly Ridge school is located in a rural community of Richland Parish where the chief industry is farming. The enrollment of the school is 750 with 175 students in high school.

The Washington-Lee High School has an enrollment of around 3,500 and is located in a very large urban area, just four miles from the nation's capitol. Many contrasts exist between the schools and regions which will contribute to the educational value of the experiment.

Tentative plans on the day of arrival includes a welcome in the recreation center of the Holly Ridge school. Students will be given class cards and will be escorted through classes by Holly Ridge students. Following the close of classes a picnic will be held.

On the third day of their visit the students will leave for a tour of Louisiana which will include the state capitol, governor's mansion, oil refineries in Baton Rouge and other areas. Sen. W. R. Boles and Jodie Stout are making arrangements for this phase of the tour.

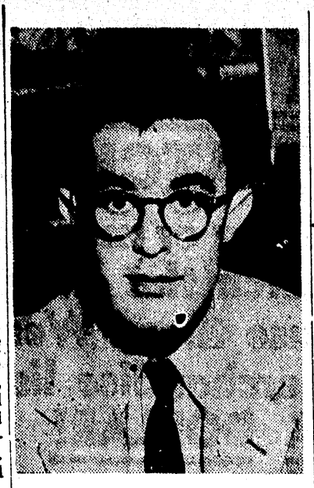

In New Orleans the group will be met by Mayor Morrison.

The two remaining days will be spent in Holly Ridge.

On April 5 Holly Ridge students will get underway for Virginia. Upon arrival they will be presented with class cards so they can attend regular classes. They will be taken on a tour of the country side and Senator Russell Long and Representative Otto Passman have arranged for gallery seats when Congress convenes. They will visit many important points of interest in the nation's capitol including the White House, U. S. Mint, Lee's Arlington home, Mt. Vernon and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Principal Beasley explained that the objectives of the exchange program are four fold. They are: to provide opportunity to the students of both schools to learn of a region of the United States other than their own; to secure a more realistic approach to the problems faced by teen agers in all phases of life and in their own particular regions; to provide a rich opportunity for social and civic development; to give opportunity for learning the background of our present history.

J. B. Thompson, Jr., superintendent of Richland Parish schools, and Cecil Pardue, president of the school board, have both expressed enthusiasm for the program as has Holly Ridge, Richland Parish and northeast Louisiana.

FACULTY MEMBERS—Discussing last minute plans before leaving with students for Arlington, Va., are S. B. DeLee, science instructor, Mrs. T. B. Branch, Home Economics teacher, and M. L. Beaver, assistant principal.

Millsaps School Has Open House For Boy Scouts

Nearly a hundred scouts and parents of Boy Scout Troop 10 gathered at the Millsaps School cafeteria Friday night to celebrate Scoutings 44th anniversary with open house.

After enjoying a fine pot luck dinner planned and prepared by the mothers the program was opened by all pledging allegiance to the American flag. The troop then lined up for uniform inspection conducted by Charles Meltabarger, field scout executive, and J. C. Crawford, district commissioner and former Scoutmaster of the troop. Each patrol then put on a dramatization of some scouting skill and the troop was led by Assistant Scoutmaster Johnny Pearce in a tenderfoot investiture ceremony which admitted the following boys to membership: James Manning, Wolf Patrol, George Russell Coats, Lamar Greer, Jr., Hawk Patrol, Lester Alexander, Owl Patrol.

Highlight of the program was the award of advancements conducted by Scoutmaster W. C. Leonard, who served as master of ceremonies throughout. The following awards were presented: Billy Ray Leonard and Ralph Bird, second class, William Lobrano, first class and home repairs, firemanship, first aid, public health, personal fitness, forestry, safety, and horsemanship merit badges. J. B. Dr. E. J. Young To Take Over At Charity Monday

Dr. E. J. Young, for the past several years director of the Lincoln Parish health unit, Monday will take over as superintendent of the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital here.

Dr. Young will replace Dr. C. P. Gray, who is resigning to devote his full time to private practice.

According to Dr. Gray, his successor—who was named by Dr. Edward Grant, director of state institutions earlier this month—has already been familiarizing himself with the hospital's operations and "will take over full time Monday."

Until 1939, Dr. Young was a general practitioner and surgeon in Monroe. While in Monroe he resided at 405 Alexander Avenue with his wife and two children.

Since leaving Monroe, he has been living in Ruston, where he was in charge of the parish's health activities.

Dr. Young graduated from Northwestern State College, at Natchitoches in 1913, and taught school in Louisiana until 19921. He received his medical degree from the University of Tennessee in 1925 and his baccalaureate degree from Louisiana State University in 1932.

2 Gunmen Take $6,700 In Holdup

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 27 (AP)—Two neatly dressed gunmen, posing as officers, today held up the General Motors Acceptance Corp. office and fled with an estimated $6,700.

The men entered the office shortly before closing time, told a switchboard operator they were from the district attorney's office and wanted to see the manager. One carried a brief case.

Directed to credit manager Roy Haynes' office, they drew pistols and informed Haynes, "We've got bad news for you. We've come for the cash. If you make one move, you're dead."

They marched Haynes to the cashier's section in front of about 5 employes and forced the two cashiers to hand over all bills. The money was stuffed into the brief case and the men fled after warning Haynes against calling police.

School Lunches In Mississippi Prove Popular

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 27—UP—It took a staggering quantity of food last year—41,300,000 pounds—to feed the 184,000 children who answered the lunchtime bell in Mississippi school lunchrooms. Nearly 27,300,000 individual lunches were served.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's marketing service, reporting Saturday on the national school lunch program in Mississippi last year, disclosed it cost an estimated $8,900,000 to perform this feed operation. About 34 percent of all children enrolled in Mississippi schools patronized the school lunchroom last year, compared with 130,000 in 1947.

In the same six-year period, the number of lunches served increased by about 48 per cent—from 18,400,000 in 1947 to nearly 27,300,000 last year. The federal government reimburses the state at the rate of about 8 cents each for what it terms a type A lunch, which includes milk.

Of the total cost of the program last year, the federal government provided $3,600,000 in for the form of cash or commodities; $800,000 was spent by the state, local governments, and private groups; and $4,500,000 came from the parents of participating children. Included in the federal government's contribution to the program were 994,000 worth of commodities acquired through USDA's surplus removal programs.

Holly Ridge High Will Participate In Exchange

By MRS. GLADYS LANE
(World Correspondent)

HOLLY RIDGE, Feb. 27—A long stride, from the days of buggy travel to the Little Red Schoolhouse, is the program being inaugerated in Louisiana by the Holly Ridge High School.

Leon Beasley, principal, announced officially this week that 31 Holly Ridge students would participate in a student exchange program with the Washington - Lee High School in Arlington, Virginia.

This project is an outgrowth of a report presented at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges in Memphis, Tenn. in 1953. Mr. Beasley presented the report, given by a Florida principal, to his faculty, who readily endorsed the project and exchanges began with the Virigina State Department of Education. The Holly Ridge project is the second of its kind in the nation.

The student council at Washington-Lee were presented with the plan and from that is the outgrowth of what is known as "Operation Washington."

Thirty students, all members of the Washington-Lee student council, will arrive in Holly Ridge March 23 and students from Holly Ridge will leave for Arlington on April 5.

The Virginia students will be housed in the homes of Holly Ridge students and citizens of the community, and on the visit to Arlington, Holly Ridge students will stay in the homes of student council members.

By way of contrast Holly Ridge school is located in a rural community of Richland Parish where the chief industry is farming. The enrollment of the school is 750 with 175 students in high school.

The Washington-Lee High School has an enrollment of around 3,500 and is located in a very large urban area, just four miles from the nation's capitol. Many contrasts exist between the schools and regions which will contribute to the educational value of the experiment.

Tentative plans on the day of arrival includes a welcome in the recreation center of the Holly Ridge school. Students will be given class cards and will be escorted through classes by Holly Ridge students. Following the close of classes a picnic will be held.

On the third day of their visit the students will leave for a tour of Louisiana which will include the state capitol, governor's mansion, oil refineries in Baton Rouge and other areas. Sen. W. R. Boles and Jodie Stout are making arrangements for this phase of the tour.

In New Orleans the group will be met by Mayor Morrison.

The two remaining days will be spent in Holly Ridge.

On April 5 Holly Ridge students will get underway for Virginia. Upon arrival they will be presented with class cards so they can attend regular classes. They will be taken on a tour of the country side and Senator Russell Long and Representative Otto Passman have arranged for gallery seats when Congress convenes. They will visit many important points of interest in the nation's capitol including the White House, U. S. Mint, Lee's Arlington home, Mt. Vernon and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Principal Beasley explained that the objectives of the exchange program are four fold. They are: to provide opportunity to the students of both schools to learn of a region of the United States other than their own; to secure a more realistic approach to the problems faced by teen agers in all phases of life and in their own particular regions; to provide a rich opportunity for social and civic development; to give opportunity for learning the background of our present history.

J. B. Thompson, Jr., superintendent of Richland Parish schools, and Cecil Pardue, president of the school board, have both expressed enthusiasm for the program as has Holly Ridge, Richland Parish and northeast Louisiana.

Millsaps School Has Open House For Boy Scouts

Nearly a hundred scouts and parents of Boy Scout Troop 10 gathered at the Millsaps School cafeteria Friday night to celebrate Scoutings 44th anniversary with open house.

After enjoying a fine pot luck dinner planned and prepared by the mothers the program was opened by all pledging allegiance to the American flag. The troop then lined up for uniform inspection conducted by Charles Meltabarger, field scout executive, and J. C. Crawford, district commissioner and former Scoutmaster of the troop. Each patrol then put on a dramatization of some scouting skill and the troop was led by Assistant Scoutmaster Johnny Pearce in a tenderfoot investiture ceremony which admitted the following boys to membership: James Manning, Wolf Patrol, George Russell Coats, Lamar Greer, Jr., Hawk Patrol, Lester Alexander, Owl Patrol.

Highlight of the program was the award of advancements conducted by Scoutmaster W. C. Leonard, who served as master of ceremonies throughout. The following awards were presented: Billy Ray Leonard and Ralph Bird, second class, William Lobrano, first class and home repairs, firemanship, first aid, public health, personal fitness, forestry, safety, and horsemanship merit badges. J. B. Salley, Jr., forestry, nature, machinery, public health, personal fitness; Owen Manning, safety, first aid, and firemanship; Gene Adams, home repairs; Jimmy Crawford, fishing, nature and first aid; Russell Morrow, forestry and nature; Ladell Ward, safety, forestry horsemanship, first aid, firemanship, public health, personal fitness, Richard Graham, forestry, public health, personal fitness. Civil Defense Discusses Need For Zoning Area

The need for zoning of the parish and cities was the topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the local civil defense organization, which meets at the CD headquarters, 400 Stone Avenue. Representatives from Ouachita Parish, Monroe and West Monroe utilities, engineers, police, fire, city officials and the Red Cross participated in the program.

Purpose of the meeting was to lay preliminary plans for the zoning, which will be needed in the preparations for times of disaster. Each parish in District F will develop their own districts and zones with city blocks determined by the population.

Chief H. L. Hales, Monroe fire department, deputy director of fire services for District F, was selected as chairman of the Ouachita Parish zoning committee. Serving with him are C. M. Dunlap, parish engineer; J. O. Fleming, superintendent of the West Monroe waterworks, and L. T. (Dick) Harper, Monroe city engineer.

Zoning is necessary, Chief Hales told the group, not only in disaster, but in preparation of disasters. Surveys of all types of equipment, shelter, first aid stations, and the like, can be made by districts, zones and blocks. Stockpiling of emergency equipment, first aid, food and clothing can be accomplished more realistically, when this is done, he pointed out.

An urban analysis of day and night population density will be started upon completion of the zoning, which is expected early in March, Hales concluded.

YOUNGSTER AND SHOW BIRDS — Twelve-year-old James Agin of Drew community has had considerable success in his one year as a chicken raiser. Starting last spring with 100 New Hampshires, he has received a number of show ribbons on his birds and supplied a growing market for eggs. He will exhibit a pen of four hens and one rooster at the Northeast Louisiana Show at Delhi. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Agin. (Photo by W. B. Aycock)

Will Exhibit At Delhi

Youngster Successful With Poultry Project

A 12-year-old 4-H club member living in Drew Community has developed a small but flourishing poultry business during the past year, and he has show ribbons and egg sales records to offer as proof of his progress.

He is James Agin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Agin, and a student at Drew school where he has been a 4-H club member for about two years.

James started his project with 100 New Hampshire baby chicks provided by the Sears Poultry Foundation on the basis that he would—from his earnings—make enough funds available for the purchase of a similar number of chicks for another club youth starting a poultry project.

He received delivery on the chicks last spring, and nine weeks later exhibited six cockrels at the Alexandria Chicken of Tomorrow show, where his birds placed in the upper fifty per cent of some 800 entries.

At the Ouachita Valley Fair last fall, James exhibited and sold four pullets and a cockrel after winning an award. The following week he exhibited a similar number of birds at the Shreveport State Fair, and sold them following the show. show.

Next week he will take four hens and a rooster to the Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show at Delhi for exhibit and sale.

Through sales and home consumption of some of the chickens, James' flock has been pared to 26 hens and two or three roosters, but he markets about eight dozen eggs a week after supplying the demands for home use.

His flock, started in March of 1953 has been in production for around seven months, and will be kept for egg laying purposes for about five months more, before being sold for meat, James said.

During the past seven months his flock has averaged a production rate of 85 per cent, a standard which he hopes will be maintained until sale time.

James has been encouraged in his poultry work by Drew School Principal, Mrs. A. P. Burkett, and W. B. Aycock, Jr., assistant Ouachita parish county agents, as well as by his parents.

U. S. And Japan Near Agreement On Arms Pact

TOKYO, Sunday, Feb. 28—UP—American and Japanese negotiators Sunday were reported near agreement on a U. S. military aid pact which will commit Japan to rearmament on the side of the free world.

Government officials predicted the "mutual defense assistance" agreement will be signed here this week. Conclusion of the arms aid pact will clear the way for launching Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's five-year defense buildup, which is heavily dependent upon American equipment.

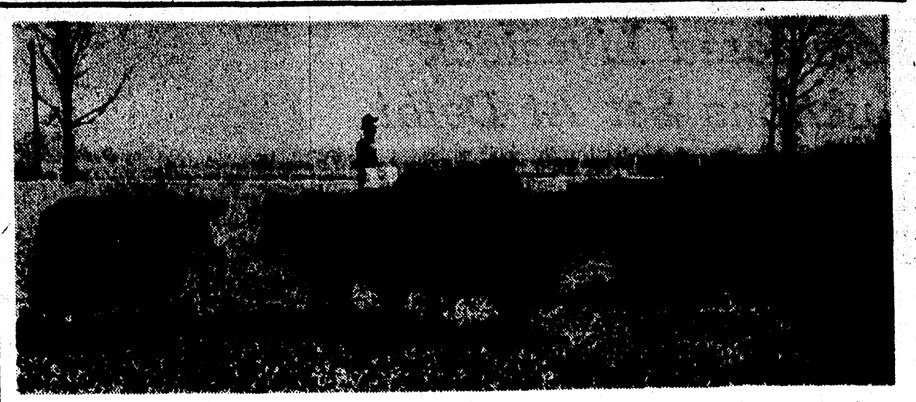

The goal is to permit American forces to withdraw from Japanese bases gradually over the next five years without leaving the strategic Pacific Ocean islands open to quick Communist conquest.

Negotiations have been under way for seven months. Ratification by the parliament (diet) is assured, although the vote is expected to be close and to be preceded by stormy debate.

The U. S. will furnish a large share of the guns, planes and warships for as rapid an initial rearmament drive as Japan is willing to undertake. No dollar price tag is attached to the flexible and continuing aid agreement, but the value of U. S. war materials provided Japan during the first year is expected to reach about $150 million.

Japan also will be given $10 million worth of surplus American wheat this year and paid in wheat for $40 million worth of military equipment the U. S. will order from Japanese factories between now and July 1. The U. S. also promises to pay dollars for another $60 million worth of Japanese-made military equipment, primarily for shipment to the Asian nations allied with the U. S.

Karachi, capital of Pakistan boosted its population 400 per cent from 300,000 to 1,200,000 in five years, says the National Geographic Society.

Refrigerator Poor Place For Cash

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP) —Anthony Giordano, who kept his cash in the refrigerator along with the beer, is looking for a new hiding place today.

Giordano, who operates Gig's Tavern, told police that $217 in bills, that had been wedged between cans of beer in the refrigerator, had been stolen.

"I figured the refrigerator was a safer place than the cash register," he said. "The cash register was robbed a month and a half ago."

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries —the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of the United States and Canada have built for themselves through Life insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in the United States and Canada, and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

National Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all, but particularly those with sons of military age, was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. With Korea no longer an active military theatre, we can convert some of our industrial facilities from production of materiel for human destruction to the satisfying of human wants.

On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights. The curtailment of war production, a temporary catching up with civilian demand in some areas, a determined effort to achieve a balanced budget, and a return to more orthodox management of public debt and fiscal affairs —all have played their part.

We in the Life insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same price. The United States has grown to its present outstanding position on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally this country is strong. Personal savings in the United States are now estimated at approximately 380 billion dollars, exclusive of the holdings of corporate securities by individuals.

We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any country in the world. More than this, the people of this country and Canada have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than 556 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfillment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expenses, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries — the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of the United States and Canada have built for themselves through Life insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in the United States and Canada, and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

National Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all, but particularly those with sons of military age, was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. With Korea no longer an active military theatre, we can convert some of our industrial facilities from production of materiel for human destruction to the satisfying of human wants.

On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights. The curtailment of war production, a temporary catching up with civilian demand in some areas, a determined effort to achieve a balanced budget, and a return to more orthodox management of public debt and fiscal affairs —all have played their part.

We in the Life insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same price. The United States has grown to its present outstanding position on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally this country is strong. Personal savings in the United States are now estimated at approximately 380 billion dollars, exclusive of the holdings of corporate securities by individuals.

We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any country in the world. More than this, the people of this country and Canada have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than $56 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfillment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expenses, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

Negro Woman Kills Husband In Argument

A 42 - year - old Monroe Negro woman was being held in the Ouachita parish jail Saturday on charges of stabbing her husband to death Friday night.

Dead is Charlie Burrell, 45, of No. 3 South 21st street. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Charity Hospital shortly before 10:30 p. m. Friday.

Held in jail is his wife Lena Burrell, who was arrested at the hospital by city detectives and charged with manslaughter.

According to investigating officers, Burrell was apparently stabbed during an altercation with his wife at their residence about 9:30 p. m. Friday.

Detectives said they were called into the case at 10:30 p. m. by hospital authorities; and arrived there to find Burrell dead. His wife was also at the hospital.

She admitted stabbing her husband, the detectives said.

Investigation at the scene of the stabbing revealed there were no eye-witnesses, but Lena Burrell's mother, Bertha Scott, allegedly heard the couple arguing, officers said.

The mother, who lives in a separate apartment at the rear of No. 3 South 21st street, said she heard them arguing, but knew nothing of the stabbing until her daughter called her into the room, according to the detectives.

A Miller's Funeral Home ambulance was called to the residence and took Burrell to the hospital, since, the driver said, Burrell was showing faint signs of life when he arrived.

A doctor at the hospital said Burrell died as the result of a stab wound in the right side of the chest. He was also cut on both arms.

West German House Works On Treaty

BONN, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Bundestag (lower house of Parliament) chopped away today legal obstacles to final ratification by West Germany of the European Defense Treaty.

By a vote of 334-144, the lawmakers approved changes in the constitution making military service compulsory for every man over 18, and declaring specifically it is legal for West Germany to join EDC. The provision for compulsory military service will enable the federal government to put a half million West Germans into the proposed six-nation army.

'Gloomy Dean' Of St. Paul's Dies At Age Of 93

WALLINGFORD, England, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Very Rev. Sir William R. Inge, 93, whose dour predictions earned him fame as the "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's, died today. He had been ailing for some time from bronchitis.

The Church of England leader, who retired in 1934 after preaching 23 years in London's historic St. Paul's Cathedral, was looked on by the public as the embodiment of pessimism. But the waspish philosopher attributed his nickname to the fact "I tried to tell the truth as I saw it."

Such truths were sometimes painful to others. Only recently he remarked that he believed neither in heaven, hell, nor the British Socialists.

Last year, in a newspaper interview Inge (it rhymes with King) summed up his life's findings:

"If I could live my life again, I don't think I should be a clergyman. . . . Perhaps it will be said of me that as I grew older I became a better Christian and a worse churchman. . . . I do not love the human race. I have loved just a few of them. The rest are a pretty mixed lot."

The churchman's remarks often were tinged with a grim humor as he spoke out on many subjects:

Preaching: "It is like throwing a bucket of water over a row of narrow necked vessels. A drop or two may find its way in here and there."

Civilization: "We are approaching another dark age."

In academic circles, Dr. Inge was famed as a classical scholar, philosopher and author of several dozen publications. King George V knighted him in 1930.

Dr. W. R. Matthews, present dean of St. Paul's, paid tribute to his predecessor as "an eminent Christian of a rare kind. He shocked a good many people, but he made them think."

Forgery Charges Placed Against Penn. Couple

A Philadelphia, Penn., couple is being held in the Ouachita parish jail on charges of attempted forgery and theft of $15 from a local concern. The theft charge was an outgrowth of cashing a check obtained under false pretenses.

Sheriff Bailey Grant identified the couple as William Grville Stevenson, 44, and Mary Ella Stevenson, 44. They were arrested by members of the sheriff's department and Monroe city detectives.

According to Sheriff Grant the couple had approached a manager of a local business under the pretense of soliciting advertising for a railroad magazine. The businessman took what he believed to be a $15 advertisement in the magazine. However, when the couple attempted to cash the check in a nearby store, the police were called into the case.

The two had also used the aliases of W. O. Stevenson and Mrs. Elsie O'Conner.

Sheriff Grant said Stevenson was six feet, one inch tall, weighing approximately 160, with brown eyes and hair and fair complexion. He was of slim build.

Mrs. Stevenson, the sheriff said, was five feet, four and one-half inches tall, with grey eyes and brown hair and of heavy build. They were driving a 1941 black Oldsmobile with a Texas license, JT 4493.

Anyone who has been approached by the couple or who has given checks to them is urged to contact the sheriff department at 2-5123 or 2-5814.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The hibernation of the baseball bug is over. While the major clubs are occupying the spotlight nationally with their camps in more temperate zones, the news of the doings only serves to stimulate interest in local baseball plans. Spring has many heralds, and baseball, like the first purple martin of the season to hit our bird box yesterday, is one of them.

But if spring is what it takes to bring out baseball, then Manager Ed Head of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation had no winter at all. Ed, who'll guide our entry in the Cotton States League, has certainly been getting some good weather lately to get Legion Memorial Stadium in condition for the campaign.

The other day we had a story saying Monroe's club was doing this and that. Seems the Twin City Baseball Corporation is going to call our ball club the Twin City Sports and want their publicity reading that way. It's okay by us, but we're just wondering what the rest of the league is going to be doing about it. Greenville, El Dorado, Hot Springs, Meridian, Pine Bluff—they are going to wonder what happened to their Louisiana member when they see Twin City crop up in the standings and wonder who has gone crazy and let in some club they know nothing about. We can just hear them now with their "what happened to Monroe?" At least they'll be able to recognize the tag "Sports."

Along other baseball routes hereabouts, Northeast Louisiana State and Louisiana Tech open spring training tomorrow. Incidentally, Woody Boyles, coach of the Northeast team, is also assistant football coach, and Jim Malone, head grid tutor, has also called for the Indians to open spring football training tomorrow. Picture Boyles running back and forth between the two workouts on adjacent fields. It's possible. But we figure Malone will handle the gridders alone, and leave Boyles with a full rein on the baseball prospects.

With basketball over, except for those teams going to state tournaments, high school baseball is ready to start with Neville expecting to turn out another good team to match the club that won the state Class A title last spring. And, for the kids, Walter Reed tells us the Little Bigger League is making plans to begin operation under the new name of "Babe Ruth League," and the Little League organizations of Monroe and West Monroe have been busy for the past few weeks getting ready for their own programs.

Before we hurry the basketball season out of the way too fast, we want to get in another word for Melvin Gibson, the classy little guard, who was enjoying a 54-point lead yesterday in the race for the scoring championship of the Gulf States Conference. The all-conference ballots are being tabulated, and we hope to learn soon that the Northeast cage wizard has been elected to the team. We feel Gibson's performance for the season is more remarkable because his team finished last in the conference race. Of course, Bill Collingsworth of Northwestern was whittling away at Gibson's lead last night. The Demon ace had 418 points going into his last game against Gibson's 472, and we figure nothing outside a miracle can beat Gibson out.

And still on basketball: We ran into Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein, the former Ouachita High girls' coach, as she was watching the Lions end their regular season against Byrd Friday night, and did a little recalling with her about the deeds of some of her former state champion personnel. Ouachita, under Mrs. Manhein, collected a whole host of state titles back in the 1930s. Before coming to Ouachita she had coached a state champion team for Grayson High. Mrs. Vera Brown, who coaches at Grayson now, was Vera Cook on Mrs. Manhein's titled Grayson outfit.

But known widest through the state is Willie Edna "Tiny" Tarbutton, Baskin High girls' coach, who played at Ouachita for Mrs. Manhein. Miss Tarbutton's Baskin teams have dominated play for years, losing only once since 1947 and that once to Winnsboro a year ago.

Latest of the former Manhein pupils to rise on the local scene again is Mrs. Natalie May, West Monroe High coach. Mrs. May, who was Natalie Wall on the team Mrs. Manhein took to the national tournament at Wichita, Kans., in 1936, attended junior college at Summit, Miss., and also Louisiana College. For a first year high school performance, she put West Monroe high in the north district Class AA race. Mary Lea George, another Manhein product, coached Ouachita's girls to the north district "AA" title this year, and another of Mrs. Manhein's girls, Mrs. Colene Hart Mann, while not coaching, is considered by some, the "best girls' referee" in the state.

Many 'Ifs' Facing Major League Clubs

Individual Stars Also Face Season Of Severe Tests

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Can the American League halt the Yankees' steady pennant march? Can the Dodgers win again and go on to capture their first World Series? Will the old Browns take a page out of the Braves' book and accomplish in Baltimore what the Braves did in Milwaukee last year? Is the miracle of Milwaukee a long run hit or just a one year shot?

How about the individual performers? Can Don Newcombe, Chet Nichols, Willie Mays, and Jerry Coleman pick up where they left off before they went into service? Can Hal Newhouser make a comeback with Cleveland? How bad is Mickey Mantle's knee? Will Vic Raschi succeed in the National League with the Cardinals? Will Bobby Thomson finally reach the heights with the Braves that everybody expected him to reach in New York?

And how about Ted Williams? Can the great Red Sox slugger continue to pound away at his incredible pace of last August and September following his return from Korea? Will Stan Musial regain his National League batting title from Carl Furillo? Is Eddie Mathews ready to challenge Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in one season. Can Robin Roberts notch 20 victories for the fifth year in a row?

These and other questions are waiting to be answered as the 16 major league clubs swing into their spring training season in full force tomorrow. Barring holdouts, every regular is expected in camp by March 1.

All of a sudden, the Yankees' seemingly smooth ride toward their sixth straight flag appears to have hit a rocky road. The unloading of the veteran Raschi, the subborn holdout campaign waged by several of their stars and the ugly charge of complacency hurled at them by general manager George Weiss has lowered the Yankee stock. Rival American League clubs are taking heart.

Cleveland's perennial runners-up expect Dave Philley, formerly of the Athletics, and rookie Gale Wade to steady their outfield and are looking forward to having Art Houtteman from the start of the season. Chicago's White Sox, boasting more punch and speed and improved pitching, think they can stop the Yankees. Boston's improved Red Sox also have pennant ambitions.

The presence of Williams' big bat in the lineup daily and the return of southpaw Leo Kiely has established the Red Sox at least as a dark horse in the American League race.

Walter Alston, Brooklyn's new manager, is counting heavily on Newcombe to take charge of his pitching staff. The big righthander turned in 20 victories in 1951 before departing for the army.

With an offense improved considerably by winter trades that brought Thomson and Danny O'Connell, the Braves are looking to Nichols to augment their already strong pitching staff. The young lefthander was the league's earned run leader in '51.

His fountain pen leading with money, President August S. Busch of the Cardinals is leaving no stone unturned in an effort to bring St. Louis a pennant winner. The $75,000 shelled out for Raschi boosted the total expenditure for players in the last three months to a half million dollars. Rookies Alex Grammas and Tom Alston cost a reported $100,000 each and pitcher Memo Luna cost $50,000.

The return of Mays sets the Giants to dreaming of the 1951 pennant miracle when Willie's recall from Minneapolis spurred them on to a fantastic finish that nipped the Dodgers in a post season playoff. The Giants obtained a pair of fine lefthanders in Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle but a great deal depends upon the condition of the aging veteran righthanders Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen.

The Phillies' training season got off on a sour note due to Roberts' holdout siege. He finally signed yesterday. Pitching is the Phils' main strength. The Cincinnati Redlegs boasting one of their strongest lineups in history, are seeking righthanded pitching strength. The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates are in the rebuilding stage with the accent on rookies.

Manager Bucky Harris insists his Washington club will finish in the first division and insists all he needs to become a pennant contender is another long ball hitter. Baltimore is wiping out the old Brownie look with new faces. Detroit, vastly improved over a year ago, needs some catching and outfield help to break into the first division.

Ten Lettermen Returning To Tech Baseball Squad

RUSTON, La., Feb. 27 (Special)—With 10 lettermen back from the 1953 season, Coach Berry Hinton will get baseball practice underway at Louisiana Tech Monday. A number of freshmen are expected to be out for practice, also.

Tech opens the baseball season March 15 in a game at Biloxi, Miss., with Keesler Field. First home contest for the Bulldogs is March 21 with the Shreveport Sports. Tech's first Gulf States Conference game is scheduled for April 2 at Lake Charles with McNeese State.

Tech's new baseball diamond is almost completed which will allow the Bulldogs to play varsity competition on the campus this year. Last season Tech used Ruston's Fraser Field because the college's new Memorial Gymnasium was being constructed on the site of the old baseball field.

Located just west of Memorial Gymnasium, the new field will have a sodded infield and a fenced outfield. Distance from home plate to the fence in left field is 310 feet, to the fence in right field is 300 feet and to the fence is center field is 345 feet. Bleachers to seat several hundred fans have already been erected.

In collegiate competition last year the Bulldogs won seven and lost four with several scheduled games being rained out. All Tech's home games this season are scheduled to start at 3 p.m.

Asa Bushnell, N. I. T. director and chairman of the selection committee, telephoned Chic Mileham, U. C. athletic director, to ask if the university would accept a bid if it received one.

Mileham said the faculty committee on athletics already had approved an N. I. T. appearance. He quoted Bushnell as replying Cincinnati would know "by the first of the week" about the bid.

Lori Jane Shows Torrid Pace, Wins Hot Springs 'Cap

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Vera E. Smith's Lori Jane, making her first start of the year, set a torrid pace to win the $5,000 Hot Springs Handicap before a crowd of 11,895 at Oaklawn Park today.

A rank outsider, W. M. Peavey's Spartan Jett, closed fast to finish second by three quarters of a length in the event, first test for the $10,000 Arkansas Derby. The pre-race co - favorite with Lori Jane, Timely Tip, raced third.

Lori Jane, with Ralph Borgemenke in the irons, ran Timely Tip into defeat after going half a mile, and then staved off the late challenge from Spartan Jett.

The chestunt winner was timed in 1:13 flat for the six furlongs of fast track, and paid $7, $3.60 and $3. Spartan Jett rewarded his backers with $18 and $6.40, and Timely Tip returned $3.40.

In the co-featured $3,000 Mountain Valley Handicap, the veteran Peu-A-Peu surged up on the outside in the drive toward home to win by two and a half lengths.

Bucky McElroy Awarded Chicago Bears Contract

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fullback William (Bucky) McElroy, who starred on the Mississippi Southern football team which spilled Alabama last fall, today was signed by the Chicago Bears.

McElroy, 195-pounder, who gained more than 2,500 yards in three seasons at Mississippi Southern, was drafted by the Bears at the 1953 National Football League meeting.

McElroy palyed a year at Hines, Miss., Junior College before enrolling at Mississippi Southern where he gained 854, 1,068 and 66 yards in three successive seasons. He also is a place kicker and punter.

Last season, McElroy became a key blocker on offense and a defensive linebacker which reduced his ball-carrying.

McElroy, from Monroe, La., where he starred for Neville High, is married and the father of an infant daughter. As a Mississippi Southern sophomore in 1951, he gained 148 yards against Alabama.

Ford Beats Yank Ultimatum, Signs; Mantle Approves

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Pitcher Whitey Ford and outfielder Mickey Mantle agreed to terms with the New York Yankees today just a few hours after the young hurler reportedly received an ultimatum to sign within 48 hours or be cut out of the club's plans for the coming season.

It is believed the 25-year old moundsman signed for $15,000, an increase of $4,000 over his 1953 pay. Mantle agreed to terms via telephone and will receive an estimated $20,000. That's a $2,000 raise over his salary of last season.

The day's two signings cut the Yankee unsigned block to two—outfielder Gene Woodling, who is expected to sign before Monday, and infielder Billy Martin, recently classified 1A by his California draft board.

The Yankees also announced the sale of Karl Segrist to their Kansas City farm. He is an infielder.

The reported ultimatum to Ford was the second time in less than a week that the club had waved the big stick. Last Tuesday Vic Raschi, one of the club's better pitchers during the post-war era, was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League because he ignored the club's offer.

At that time General Manager George Weiss said some of the players "acted as if they were the employers and we the employees.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Caln Hoy stable's Turn-To lived up to his billing as "the horse most likely to succeed" when he won the $133,600 Flamingo stakes by three and one-half lengths at Hialeah Park today.

The big Irish-bred colt let his running mate, Giant Cracker, set the early pace. Turn-to was second after the first half mile, took the lead at the three-quarter mark, and held it easily.

Turn-To, the even money favorite, returned $4, $2.90 and $2.60. Black Metal paid $3.60 and $4 and show money on Maharajah was $3.10. Turn-To covered the mile and a furlong in 1:49 2-5.

ARMY UPSETS NAVY

Rejected Comes From Last, Wins Santa Anita Run

Jockey Willie Shoemaker brought the brown Kentucky colt up from a dead last position to win the $105,900 top prize by a length and a quarter over the pace setting Imbros, and Cyclotron, a longshot, ran third, a length behind.

Racing before a roaring crowd of 55,000 fans under a hazy sky and over a fast track, Rejected won with a rush in a race timed at 2:01 3/5 for the mile and quarter route.

Rejected, coupled with his as a betting entry stablemate, High Scud, and Mrs. Edward (Betty Greer) Lasker's By Zeus, paid $5.90, $3.20 and $2.50. Andrew Crevolin's speedster, Imbros, paid $7.30 and $5.50, and Clifford Mooers' surprising threat, Cyclotron, $7.70.

Indian Hemp, Alberta Ranches' second betting choice for this 17th running of the famed 'cap, did not get a call, was never a factor and finished a well beaten fifth with Johnny Longden failing in an attempt to win the rich fixture for a fourth time.

Until the pack of 17 candidates hit the dirt heading toward the stretch, it appeared that Rejected, too, would not be heard from.

Imbros won $20,000, Cyclotron $10,000 and High Scud $5,000.

As expected, Indian Hemp's running mate, Thirteen Of Diamonds, was scratched, and so was T. M. Kerr's longshot, Fast Reader.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The hibernation of the baseball bug is over. While the major clubs are occupying the spotlight nationally with their camps in more temperate zones, the news of the doings only serves to stimulate interest in local baseball plans. Spring has many heralds, and baseball, like the first purple martin of the season to hit our bird box yesterday, is one of them.

But if spring is what it takes to bring out baseball, then Manager Ed Head of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation had no winter at all. Ed, who'll guide our entry in the Cotton States League, has certainly been getting some good weather lately to get Legion Memorial Stadium in condition for the campaign.

The other day we had a story saying Monroe's club was doing this and that. Seems the Twin City Baseball Corporation is going to call our ball club the Twin City Sports and want their publicity reading that way. It's okay by us, but we're just wondering what the rest of the league is going to be doing about it. Greenville, El Dorado, Hot Springs, Meridian, Pine Bluff—they are going to wonder what happened to their Louisiana member when they see Twin City crop up in the standings and wonder who has gone crazy and let in some club they know nothing about. We can just hear them now with their "what happened to Monroe?" At least they'll be able to recognize the tag "Sports."

Along other baseball routes hereabouts, Northeast Louisiana State and Louisiana Tech open spring training tomorrow. Incidentally, Woody Boyles, coach of the Northeast team, is also assistant football coach, and Jim Malone, head grid tutor, has also called for the Indians to open spring football training tomorrow. Picture Boyles running back and forth between the two workouts on adjacent fields. It's possible. But we figure Malone will handle the gridders alone, and leave Boyles with a full rein on the baseball prospects.

With basketball over, except for those teams going to state tournaments, high school baseball is ready to start with Neville expecting to turn out another good team to match the club that won the state Class A title last spring. And, for the kids, Walter Reed tells us the Little Bigger League is making plans to begin operation under the new name of "Babe Ruth League," and the Little League organizations of Monroe and West Monroe have been busy for the past few weeks getting ready for their own programs.

Before we hurry the basketball season out of the way too fast, we want to get in another word for Melvin Gibson, the classy little guard, who was enjoying a 54-point lead yesterday in the race for the scoring championship of the Gulf States Conference. The all-conference ballots are being tabulated, and we hope to learn soon that the Northeast cage wizard has been elected to the team. We feel Gibson's performance for the season is more remarkable because his team finished last in the conference race. Of course, Bill Collingsworth of Northwestern was whittling away at Gibson's lead last night. The Demon ace had 418 points going into his last game against Gibson's 472, and we figure nothing outside a miracle can beat Gibson out.

And still on basketball: We ran into Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein, the former Ouachita High girls' coach, as she was watching the Lions end their regular season against Byrd Friday night, and did a little recalling with her about the deeds of some of her former state champion personnel. Ouachita, under Mrs. Manhein, collected a whole host of state titles back in the 1930s. Before coming to Ouachita she had coached a state champion team for Grayson High. Mrs. Vera Brown, who coaches at Grayson now, was Vera Cook on Mrs. Manhein's titled Grayson outfit.

But known widest through the state is Willie Edna "Tiny" Tarbutton, Baskin High girls' coach, who played at Ouachita for Mrs. Manhein. Miss Tarbutton's Baskin teams have dominated play for years, losing only once since 1947 and that once to Winnsboro a year ago.

Latest of the former Manhein pupils to rise on the local scene again is Mrs. Natalie May, West Monroe High coach. Mrs. May, who was Natalie Wall on the team Mrs. Manhein took to the national tournament at Wichita, Kans., in 1936, attended junior college at Summit, Miss., and also Louisiana College. For a first year high school performance, she put West Monroe high in the north district Class AA race. Mary Lea George, another Manhein product, coached Ouachita's girls to the north district "AA" title this year, and another of Mrs. Manhein's girls, Mrs. Colene Hart Mann, while not coaching, is considered by some, the "best girls' referee" in the state.

McElroy, 195-pounder, who gained more than 2,500 yards in three seasons at Mississippi Southern, was drafted by the Bears at the 1953 National Football League meeting.

McElroy palyed a year at Hines, Miss., Junior College before enrolling at Mississippi Southern where he gained 854, 1,068 and 66 yards in three successive seasons. He also is a place kicker and punter.

Last season, McElroy became a key blocker on offense and a defensive linebacker which reduced his ball-carrying.

McElroy, from Monroe, La., where he starred for Neville High, is married and the father of an infant daughter. As a Mississippi Southern sophomore in 1951, he gained 148 yards against Alabama.

Ford Beats Yank Ultimatum, Signs; Mantle Approves

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Pitcher Whitey Ford and outfielder Mickey Mantle agreed to terms with the New York Yankees today just a few hours after the young hurler reportedly received an ultimatum to sign within 48 hours or be cut out of the club's plans for the coming season.

It is believed the 25-year old moundsman signed for $15,000, an increase of $4,000 over his 1953 pay. Mantle agreed to terms via telephone and will receive an estimated $20,000. That's a $2,000 raise over his salary of last season.

The day's two signings cut the Yankee unsigned block to two—outfielder Gene Woodling, who is expected to sign before Monday, and infielder Billy Martin, recently classified 1A by his California draft board.

The Yankees also announced the sale of Karl Segrist to their Kansas City farm. He is an infielder.

The reported ultimatum to Ford was the second time in less than a week that the club had waved the big stick. Last Tuesday Vic Raschi, one of the club's better pitchers during the post-war era, was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League because he ignored the club's offer.

At that time General Manager George Weiss said some of the players "acted as if they were the employers and we the employees.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Cain Hoy stable's Turn-To lived up to his billing as "the horse most likely to succeed" when he won the $133,600 Flamingo stakes by three and one-half lengths at Hialeah Park today.

The big Irish-bred colt let his running mate, Giant Cracker, set the early pace. Turn-to was second after the first half mile, took the lead at the three-quarter mark, and held it easily.

Turn-To, the even money favorite, returned $4, $2.90 and $2.60. Black Metal paid $3.60 and $4 and show money on Maharajah was $3.10. Turn-To covered the mile and a furlong in 1:49 2-5.

Rejected Comes From Last, Wins Santa Anita Run

Jockey Willie Shoemaker brought the brown Kentucky colt up from a dead last position to win the $105,900 top prize by a length and a quarter over the pace setting Imbros, and Cyclotron, a longshot, ran third, a length behind.

Racing before a roaring crowd of 55,000 fans under a hazy sky and over a fast track, Rejected won with a rush in a race timed at 2:00 3/5 for the mile and quarter route.

Rejected, coupled with his as a betting entry stablemate, High Scud, and Mrs. Edward (Betty Greer) Lasker's By Zeus, paid $5.90, $3.20 and $2.50. Andrew Crevolin's speedster, Imbros, paid $7.30 and $5.50, and Clifford Mooers' surprising threat, Cyclotron, $7.70.

Indian Hemp, Alberta Ranches' second betting choice for this 17th running of the famed 'cap, did not get a call, was never a factor and finished a well beaten fifth with Johnny Longden failing in an attempt to win the rich fixture for a fourth time.

Until the pack of 17 candidates hit the dirt heading toward the stretch, it appeared that Rejected, too, would not be heard from.

Imbros won $20,000, Cyclotron $10,000 and High Scud $5,000.

As expected, Indian Hemp's running mate, Thirteen Of Diamonds, was scratched, and so was T. M. Kerr's longshot, Fast Reader.

Pro Grid Eagles Sign Pair Of Big Linemen

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27 (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles announced today that they had signed defensive end Jim Wojciehowski and tackle Cal Roberts to 1954 National Football League contracts.

Wojciehowski, the Eagles' 18th draft choice is a 6-foot-3, 220-pounder from Purdue. Roberts, 6-foot-2 and 240 pounds, was obtained as a free agent. He was signed out of Gustavus-Adolphus by the Giants in 1953 but cut loose after the training camp season.

Other matches on the night's ticket send Chief Apache, the colorful Indian grappler, against Al Massey in the semi-final attraction. The curtain-raiser on the three-bout card will offer George Curtis, Big Jack's younger brother, against wily Elmer Davis.

Aztec, from Mexico City, is a recent addition to Kallio's programs and has already distinguished himself as a proper villain. The big Mexican can be difficult to handle, and Big Jack can look forward to a rough night's work in their 90-minute time limit, two falls to win brawl.

The semi-final, ticketed for an hour time limit, also two falls to win, could prove the most colorful match of the night, particularly with the presence of Chief Apache who, in his very few appearances here, has already a host of fans. The Indian was the star of last Tuesday's eight-man tag team royal, and Kallio can expect a lot of customers to come back this week just to see the long-haired Apache at work. Massey, however, is no opponent to be regarded too lightly, but the sly little Indian has looked like a ring master so far here.

The George Curtis-Elmer Davis preliminary will be a one-fall affair with a 30-minute time limit.

Promoter Kallio last night said there will be no advance in prices for the additional match. It's customary for Kallio to offer only two-match programs. Bill Barney will referee.

Tiger Quint Fights From Behind To Beat Maroons

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 27 (AP) —Louisiana State University had to come from behind tonight to defeat an inspired Mississippi State team 61-57, and preserve its undefeated Southeastern Conference record to remain in the running for a possible playoff with undefeated Kentucky.

Forward Ned Clark hit with a field goal with nine minutes remaining in the final period to put LSU out in front for the first time during the game. With slightly more than four minutes left, LSU held a narrow 55-53 margin, but four foul shots, two each by Clark and guard Norman Magee, clinched the victory.

LSU's All-America center Bob Pettit was held to 20 points, 13 below his season average, by Mississippi State's collapsible defense. Pettit was able to shoot only 12 times and connected on exactly half of his attempts. He added eight points from the free throw line.

Mississippi State, its tight defense and calculated offense led by forward George Cooke, surprised LSU by taking a 22-19 lead in the first quarter and led at halftime 32-31. Mississippi State built up a 42-34 margin midway of the third quarter, but LSU cut the advantage to 46-45 at the end of the third period.

Pettit's 20 points were high for the game. Clark added 12, nine in the second half to aid the LSU spurt while guard Benny McArdle connected on five long field goals for 10 points.

Four of State's starters each contributed 12 points while Cooke was the game's outstanding defensive performer and garnered eight points.

The loss was State's eighth in 12 SEC games. LSU has now won 12 straight conference engagements.

Baskin's Sextet, Central Boys Win Franklin Tourney

GILBERT, La., Feb. 27 (Special) —The Baskin High School girls, undefeated this season, and the Central High boys were crowned champions of Franklin Parish prep basketball here tonight, but Baskin, beaten only once in the last seven seasons, had a hard fight to get past Winnsboro's girls in the finals.

The Baskin sextet shaded Winnsboro, 42-40, in a battle of all-state performers, Alice Humphreys of Baskin and Glenda Bennett of Winnsboro. Miss Humphreys hooped 35 points, and Miss Bennett totalled 32. Baskin's only loss since 1947 was suffered at the hands of Winnsboro's girls last season. Winnsboro tonight led 12-11 at the quarter, trailed 17-13 at the half, but was ahead again 28-23 going into the last period.

Capeador Scores Length Decision At Fair Grounds

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27 (AP) — Brookmeade stables' Capeador turned back the class of the Fair Grounds' handicap division today by turning in a strong stretch run to win the $19,800 Letellier Handicap.

Capeador, sent in from Florida with stablemate First Aid during the week, made his bid under jockey Johnny Heckmann as the field made the final turn and outlasted the strong-finishing Pick And Play to take a length decision.

First Aid, who set the pace for the first mile of the mile and one-eighth feature, took the show spot, a half length behind Pick And Play.

Established as a 2-1 favorite by the capacity crowd of 15,000, Capeador returned $6, $3.20 and $4. Sam L. Wilson's Pick And Play paid $6.40 and $5.60. First Aid returned $4.

Leslie Jane stable's rank outsider Top Brass, took the lead as the 12-horse field went past the grandstand for the first time, but surrendered the pace-making role to First Aid as the field moved into the back stretch. Heckmann, winner of the $100,000-added Widener Handicap at Hialeah last week, allowed Capeador to hold fourth spot through the early running.

Heckmann called on Capeador coming out of the back stretch and Capeador boomed to the front and stood off Pick And Play's desperation charge.

Time of the running was 1:50 3-5, one second off the track record set by Marriage in 1943.

Reverie Knoll farms' Smoke Screen, reigning handicap champion at the Fair Grounds, was second choice in the wagering, but the big gelding turned in a disappointing effort, finishing a well-beaten eighth.

In the $5,000 Mystic Purse, a mile and one-sixteenth prep for the $40,000-added Louisiana Derby March 13, Smokelore of Reverie Knoll farms beat Bill Gruber's Super Devil by a nose.

A 2-1 public choice, Smokelore returned $7, $3.80 and $2.80. Super Devil paid $4.80 and $3.40 with Here's Val returning $3.40 for show money.

SANTEE MISSES

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27 (AP)—Wes Santee of Kansas missed his bid for a new world indoor board mile record in the Big Seven meet tonight but still blazed the 12-lap spruce board in 4:06.5.

Duquesne Takes 2nd Straight Cage Loss

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP) — Duquesne, top-ranked team in the Associated Press poll, lost its second straight game in two nights, bowing to Dayton 61-54 here tonight. The Dukes lost their first game of the season last night to Cincinnati 66-52. Dayton led all the way tonight.

Sterlington Boys, Linville's Girls Claim Tourney

LINVILLE, La., Feb. 27 (Special) Linville's girls and the A. L. Smith boys of Sterlington won champion-hips at the conclusion of the sixth annual Linville Invitational Junior Basekbtall Tournament here tonight, but both finals victories were by the slimmest. Linville's sextet napped Strong, Ark., 27-26, and the Sterlington quint edged Junction City, Ark., 45-44.

Franklin hooped 25 points to lead the Linville girls against Strong, while Hammons, with 20 points, was the mainspring of the Sterlington attack.

Consolation games resulted in the Neville girls defeating Sterlington, 44-28, and the Farmerville boys downing Dubach, 35-34, in an overtime thriller.

Coach James B. Graves, who conducted the tournament, called it one of Linville's most successful and was especially complimentary of the sportsmanship of all teams competing.

Hoosiers Clinch Tie At Worst In Big Ten

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP)— Indiana clinched at least a tie for the Big Ten basketball championship tonight cooling off a red-hot upset-minded Ohio State team, 84-68. The victory kept the Hoosiers out in front in the conference race with an 11-2 mark although second place Iowa beat Michigan State.

Measurements have been made so accurate as to record the distortion of a bar of steel when a housefly lights on it.

Palmer Grabs 4-Stroke Lead As Argentine Skids

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27 (AP) — Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C., shot his third straight under-par round with a 70 today to open up a four-stroke lead over Roberto De Vicenzo after three rounds of the $12,200 Mexican Open.

De Vicenzo, the defending champion from Argentina who was tied with Palmer at the start of today's round, blew up on the fourth hole, taking a 3 over par 7, and ended the round with a 74 and 213 total compared to Palmer's 209.

So Palmer, who blew a five-stroke lead on the final round of last week's Texas Open, will have a four-stroke advantage into the last 18 holes over the 6,679-yard, par 72 Club Mexico course.

Despite the poor round, De Vicenzo held second place by two strokes over a field of five bunched together at 215.

Percy Clifford, Mexico City, took over the lead among the amateurs with a 75, giving him a three-day total of 224. Bob Moncreif, Houston, who had led, turned in a poor 80 for a total of 229. Favored Frank Stranahan, Toledo, forged into second with a 74, for 225.

Lowrey Holdout Closes As Card Gardener Signs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Peanuts Lowrey, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder and the last of the club's holdouts, agreed to contract terms today in a telephone conversation with General Manager Dick Meyer.

Terms were not disclosed. Lowrey, pinch hitting specialist, plans to report to the spring training camp site as soon as he can make transportation arrangements.

Two of the club's $100,000 prospects, shortstop Alex Grammas and first baseman Tom Alston, worked out today for the first time since their ailments were discovered. Grammas hurt his right shoulder in a game at DeLand, Fla., and Alston was bothered by a sore back.

Frenchman Langlois Decisions Gonzales

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP)— Pierre Langlois, French middleweight, won a 10-round decision over Rookie Pedro Gonzales in a nationally-televised fight Saturday night.

Gonzales, tired in the last three rounds, gave ground as his lack of experience began to tell.

Lonsford was picked up by FBI agents about midnight as he left a telephone booth at Hollywood, Fla., 15 miles north of Miami, after telephoning McCleary's home with instructions on delivery of the $6,000 in cash, Powers said.

The two jockeys and two FBI agents dressed as women with a dummy package to represent the money were ready to go to the designated place to meet Lonsford. The man had demanded that the jockeys' wives accompany them, and the FBI men arrayed themselves in skirts and wigs to look like women.

"We traced the phone call and grabbed the man as he left the booth," said Powers. "The jockeys and the FBI agents accompanying them were not needed for the arrest. But they were ready."

McCreary was assigned to ride Goyamo and Atkinson Maharaiah in today's colorful and rich Flamingo, but the race itself did not particularly figure in the plot, the FBI said.

This is the way the scheme was to have been worked, according to the jockeys themselves and in part by the FBI:

Lonsford wanted to know in advance the winners of races and demanded the jockeys signal him as they mounted their horses in the paddock and paraded around the ring on the way to the post.

The little finger on the left hand was to represent post position No. 1 and the little finger of the right hand No. 6. A bandage on any particular finger would indicate horses from No. 1 to No. 10.

If the signals couldn't be used, the jockeys were to take off their caps and rub their heads. They made the head-rubbing signals several times in the past weeks while track police and FBI men searched through the crowd, but never used the bandaged finger signal.

Lonsford actually was present, said the FBI, but escaped detection at the race track. He told the jockeys that he was one of a gang of three, and said the others were "pretty mad" over losses and would kill them if they didn't do as they were told. In reality, Lonsford acted alone, the FBI said.

Lonsford himself faces up to five years imprisonment if convicted on the charge of extortion under the federal statutes.

Porterfield Hit In Head By Ball; Concussion Mild

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) — Bob Porterfield, Washington's league leading pitcher, was hit on the head today by a line drive. He was rushed to a hospital where physicians said he suffered a mild concussion.

Porterfield, who won 22 games last season, was ordered held overnight in the Orange Memorial Hospital for observation.

Porterfield suffered a broken left jaw in 1951 when struck by pitcher Paul Calvert, then with the Detroit Tigers. In Porterfield's first major league game he suffered a broken finger on his pitching hand when struck by a line drive off the bat of Hal Peck, then with Cleveland.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

BRAVES

That was Jack Dittmer serving notice as he donned his Milwaukee Braves' uniform for his first training camp workout that he was out to hold his second base job over the Braves' newcomer from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"If O'Connell is going to replace me at second base, he'll do it only after a tough fight," said Dittmer.

TIGERS

GIANTS

Another arrival was outfielder Bill Taylor, who batted .370 with Nashville in the Southern Association last year. Taylor had been one of three unsigned Giants but announced that he would put his signature to his contract and mail it the club's offices in New York.

That reduced the Giants' unsigned list to two—first baseman Walter Lockman and catcher Ray Noble.

RED SOX

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)— Karl Olson, hard-hitting outfielder, received a five-year farm outright today as the Boston Red Sox officially declared an allotment, lineup, 8-3, in a six innings practice game.

"Olson, Dick Gernert and Hoot Evers have done themselves a lot of good regardless of what they did," manager Lou Boudreau said. "They've all impressed me very much. Fine especially pleased with Evers. He never has played as well for the Red Sox."

Boudreau said coaches and catchers would be permitted to work out tomorrow.

CUBS

MESA, Ariz., Feb. 27 (AP)— The Bob Scheffing team bunched five hits with two walks and an error in the third inning today to defeat the Ray Blades' unit in the Chicago Cubs first intra-squad game.

Bob Zick was the victim of the big inning which featured Bob Talbot's 2-run double. Don Robertson and Hal Meek led the winners' 10-hit attack with three safeties each.

Of the 12 pitchers used in the 6-inning contest, only Joe Kuncl, Warren Hacker and Don Elston retired the side in order.

PIRATES

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) —The so-called "regulars" of the Pittsburgh Pirates face a real battle for their jobs when they report for training Monday, Manager Fred Haney indicated today.

During the past two weeks Haney has been putting more than a score of rookies through their paces. Some of these, he said, will not give up their chance to be major leaguers easily.

Haney said two men who will be top contenders for starting posts are shortstop Gene Alley and Curt Roberts, a Negro second baseman. Neither are expected to hit for the .300 region but Haney said Roberts batting already has convinced him he can be regular if they both record the .250 mark.

Other matches on the night's ticket send Chief Apache, the colorful Indian grappler, against Al Massey in the semi-final attraction. The curtain-raiser on the three-bout card will offer George Curtis, Big Jack's younger brother, against wily Elmer Davis.

Aztec, from Mexico City, is a recent addition to Kallio's programs and has already distinguished himself as a proper villain. The big Mexican can be difficult to handle, and Big Jack can look forward to a rough night's work in their 90-minute time limit, two falls to win brawl.

The semi-final, ticketed for an hour time limit, also two falls to win, could prove the most colorful match of the night, particularly with the presence of Chief Apache who, in his very few appearances here, has already a host of fans. The Indian was the star of last Tuesday's eight-man tag team royal, and Kallio can expect a lot of customers to come back this week just to see the long-haired Apache at work. Massey, however, is no opponent to be regarded too lightly, but the sly little Indian has looked like a ring master so far here.

The George Curtis-Elmer Davis preliminary will be a one-fall affair with a 30-minute time limit.

Promoter Kallio last night said there will be no advance in prices for the additional match. It's customary for Kallio to offer only two-match programs. Bill Barney will referee.

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 27 (AP) — Tickets for a Southeastern Conference basketball playoff between Kentucky and Louisiana State — if played — will cost $3.50, SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said today.

The game to decide the SEC championship will be played in the Vanderbilt field house at Nashville, Tenn., if the two cage leaders end the regular season in a tie.

Moore said the dates that the tickets go on sale would be up to Kentucky and LSU authorities. He said tickets will be available for sale at Baton Rouge, La., Lexington, Ky., and Nashville.

Tiger Quint Fights From Behind To Beat Maroons

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 27 (AP) —Louisiana State University had to come from behind tonight to defeat an inspired Mississippi State team 61-57, and preserve its undefeated Southeastern Conference record to remain in the running for a possible playoff with undefeated Kentucky.

Forward Ned Clark hit with a field goal with nine minutes remaining in the final period to put LSU out in front for the first time during the game. With slightly more than four minutes left, LSU held a narrow 55-53 margin, but four foul shots, two each by Clark and guard Norman Magee, clinched the victory.

LSU's All-America center Bob Pettit was held to 20 points, 13 below his season average, by Mississippi State's collapsible defense. Pettit was able to shoot only 12 times and connected on exactly half of his attempts. He added eight points from the free throw line.

Mississippi State, its tight defense and calculated offense led by forward George Cooke, surprised LSU by taking a 22-19 lead in the first quarter and led at halftime 32-31. Mississippi State built up a 42-34 margin midway of the third quarter, but LSU cut the advantage to 46-45 at the end of the third period.

Pettit's 20 points were high for the game. Clark added 12, nine in the second half to aid the LSU spurt while guard Benny McArdle connected on five long field goals for 10 points.

Four of State's starters each contributed 12 points while Cooke was the game's outstanding defensive performer and garnered eight points.

The loss was State's eighth in 12 SEC games. LSU has now won 12 straight conference engagements.

Baskin's Sextet, Central Boys Win Franklin Tourney

GILBERT, La., Feb. 27 (Special) —The Baskin High School girls, undefeated this season, and the Central High boys were crowned champions of Franklin Parish prep basketball here tonight, but Baskin, beaten only once in the last seven seasons, had a hard fight to get past Winnsboro's girls in the finals.

The Baskin sextet shaded Winnsboro, 42-40, in a battle of all-state performers, Alice Humphreys of Baskin and Glenda Bennett of Winnsboro. Miss Humphreys hooped 35 points, and Miss Bennett totalled 32. Baskin's only loss since 1947 was suffered at the hands of Winnsboro's girls last season. Winnsboro tonight led 12-11 at the half, but was ahead again 28-23 going into the last period.

Capeador Scores Length Decision At Fair Grounds

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27 (AP)— Brookmeade stables' Capeador turned back the class of the Fair Grounds' handicap division today by turning in a strong stretch run to win the $19,800 Letellier Handicap.

Capeador, sent in from Florida with stablemate First Aid during the week, made his bid under jockey Johnny Heckmann as the field made the final turn and outlasted the strong-finishing Pick And Play to take a length decision.

First Aid, who set the pace for the first mile of the mile and one-eighth feature, took the show spot, a half length behind Pick And Play.

Established as a 2-1 favorite by the capacity crowd of 15,000, Capeador returned $6, $3.20 and $4. Sam E. Wilson's Pick And Play paid $6.40 and $5.60. First Aid returned $4.

Leslie Jane stable's rank outsider Top Brass, took the lead as the 12-horse field went past the grandstand for the first time, but surrendered the pace-making role to First Aid as the field moved into the back stretch. Heckmann, winner of the $100,000-added Widener Handicap at Hialeah last week, allowed Capeador to hold fourth spot through the early running.

Heckmann called on Capeador coming out of the back stretch and Capeador boomed to the front and stood off Pick And Play's desperation charge.

Time of the running was 1:50 3-5, one second off the track record set by Marriage in 1943.

Reverie Knoll farms' Smoke Screen, reigning handicap champion at the Fair Grounds, was second choice in the wagering, but the big gelding turned in a disappointing effort, finishing a well-beaten eighth.

In the $5,000 Mystic Purse, a mile and one-sixteenth prep for the $40,000-added Louisiana Derby March 13, Smokelore of Reverie Knoll farms beat Bill Gruber's Super Devil by a nose.

A 2-1 public choice, Smokelore returned $7, $3.80 and $2.80. Super Devil paid $4.80 and $3.40 with Here's Val returning $3.40 for show money.

SANTEE MISSES

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27 (AP)—Wes Santee of Kansas missed his bid for a new world indoor board mile record in the Big Seven meet tonight but still blazed the 12-lap spruce board in 4:06.5.

Duquesne Takes 2nd Straight Cage Loss

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP) — Duquesne, top-ranked team in the Associated Press poll, lost its second straight game in two nights, bowing to Dayton 64-54 here tonight. The Dukes lost their first game of the season last night to Cincinnati 66-52. Dayton led all the way tonight.

Sterlington Boys, Linville's Girls Claim Tourney

LINVILLE, La., Feb. 27 (Special) Linville's girls and the A. L. Smith boys of Sterlington won championships at the conclusion of the sixth annual Linville Invitational Junior Basekbtall Tournament here tonight, but both finals victories were by the slimmest. Linville's sextet nipped Strong, Ark., 27-26, and the Sterlington quint edged Junction City, Ark., 45-44.

Franklin hooped 25 points to lead the Linville girls against Strong, while Hammons, with 20 points, was the mainspring of the Sterlington attack.

Consolation games resulted in the Neville girls defeating Sterlington, 44-28, and the Farmerville boys downing Dubach, 35-34, in an overtime thriller.

Coach James B. Graves, who conducted the tournament, called it one of Linville's most successful and was especially complimentary of the sportsmanship of all teams competing.

Hoosiers Clinch Tie At Worst In Big Ten

Palmer Grabs 4-Stroke Lead As Argentine Skids

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27 (AP) — Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C., shot his third straight under-par round with a 70 today to open up a four-stroke lead over Roberto De Vicenzo after three rounds of the $12,200 Mexican Open.

De Vicenzo, the defending champion from Argentina who was tied with Palmer at the start of today's round, blew up on the fourth hole, taking a 3 over par 7, and ended the round with a 74 and 213 total compared to Palmer's 209.

So Palmer, who blew a five-stroke lead on the final round of last week's Texas Open, will have a four-stroke advantage into the last 18 holes over the 6,679-yard, par 72 Club Mexico course.

Despite the poor round, De Vicenzo held second place by two strokes over a field of five bunched together at 215.

Percy Clifford, Mexico City, took over the lead among the amateurs with a 75, giving him a three-day total of 224. Bob Moncreif, Houston, who had led, turned in a poor 80 for a total of 229. Favored Frank Stranahan, Toledo, forged into second with a 74, for 225.

Lonsford was picked up by FBI agents about midnight as he left a telephone booth at Hollywood, Fla., 15 miles north of Miami, after telephoning McCreary's home with instructions on delivery of the $6,000 in cash, Powers said.

The two jockeys and two FBI agents dressed as women with a dummy package to represent the money were ready to go to the designated place to meet Lonsford. The man had demanded that the jockeys' wives accompany them, and the FBI men arrayed themselves in skirts and wigs to look like women.

"We traced the phone call and grabbed the man as he left the booth," said Powers. "The jockeys and the FBI agents accompanying them were not needed for the arrest. But they were ready."

McCreary was assigned to ride Goyamo and Atkinson Maharajah in today's colorful and rich Flamingo, but the race itself did not particularly figure in the plot, the FBI said.

This is the way the scheme was to have been worked, according to the jockeys themselves and in part by the FBI:

Lonsford wanted to know in advance the winners of races and demanded the jockeys signal him as they mounted their horses in the paddock and paraded around the ring on the way to the post.

The little finger on the left hand was to represent post position No. 1 and the little finger of the right hand No. 6. A bandage on any particular finger would indicate horses from No. 1 to No. 10.

If the signals couldn't be used, the jockeys were to take off their caps and rub their heads. They made the head-rubbing signals several times in the past weeks while track police and FBI men searched through the crowd, but never used the bandaged finger signal.

Lonsford actually was present, said the FBI, but escaped detection at the race track. He told the jockeys that he was one of a gang of three, and said the others were "pretty mad" over losses and would kill them if they didn't do as they were told. In reality, Lonsford acted alone, the FBI said.

Lonsford himself faces up to five years imprisonment if convicted on the charge of extortion under the federal statutes.

Lowrey Holdout Closes As Card Gardener Signs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Peanuts Lowrey, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder and the last of the club's holdouts, agreed to contract terms today in a telephone conversation with General Manager Dick Meyer.

Terms were not disclosed. Lowrey, pinch hitting specialist, plans to report to the spring training camp site as soon as he can make transportation arrangements.

Two of the club's $100,000 prospects, shortstop Alex Grammas and first baseman Tom Alston, worked out today for the first time since their ailments were discovered. Grammas hurt his right shoulder in a game at DeLand, Fla., and Alston was bothered by a sore back.

Frenchman Langlois Decisions Gonzales

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP)— Pierre Langlois, French middleweight, won a 10-round decision over rookie Pedro Gonzales in a nationally-televised fight Saturday night.

Gonzales, tired in the last three rounds, gave ground as his lack of experience began to tell.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)— Bob Porterfield, Washington's league leading pitcher, was hit on the head today by a line drive. He was rushed to a hospital where physicians said he suffered a mild concussion.

Porterfield, who won 22 games last season, was ordered held overnight in the Orange Memorial Hospital for observation.

He recovered consciousness in the club house after 15 minutes.

Henry D. M. Captures Feature At Sunshine

OLDSMAR, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)— Henry D. M. came from far back in the stretch to win the fifth running of the $2,500 Justin V. O'Conor Memorial Handicap at Sunshine Park today.

Henry D. M., ridden by Vernon Bush, caught the front - running Birdie Lulley in the last sixteenth to win by a length and a half. Pinocchio also closed fast but failed by a nose to overtake Birdie Lulley.

The winner, owned by Felix M. Poncelet, paid $19.10, $7.80 and $5.70. Time for the six furlongs was 1:12 3-5.

N. C. S. TRIUMPHS

RALEIGH, Feb. 27 (AP)—N. C. State closed out its regular schedule by drubbing George Washington of the Southern Conference and eighth ranked in the nation, 81-63, before 9,500 basketball fans in Reynolds Coliseum tonight.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

BRAVES

That was Jack Dittmer serving notice as he donned his Milwaukee Braves' uniform for his first training camp workout that he was out to hold his second base job over the Braves' newcomer from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"If O'Connell is going to replace me at second base, he'll do it only after a tough fight," said Dittmer.

TIGERS

GIANTS

Another arrival was outfielder Bill Taylor, who batted .350 with Nashville in the Southern Association last year. Taylor had been one of three unsigned Giants but announced that he had put his signature to his contract and mailed it the club's offices in New York.

That reduced the Giants' unsigned list to two—first baseman Whitey Lockman and catcher Ray Noble.

RED SOX

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) — Karl Olson's bases-loaded single ignited a five - run first inning rally today as the Boston Red Sox regulars defeated an all-pitchers lineup, 8-3, in a six innings practice game.

"Olson, Dick Cernert and Hoot Evers have done themselves a lot of good reporting as early as they did," manager Lou Boudreau said. "They've all improved their hitting. I'm especially pleased with Evers. He never has played as well for the Red Sox."

Boudreau said only pitchers and catchers would be permitted to work out tomorrow.

CUBS

MESA, Ariz., Feb. 27 (AP) —The Bob Scheffing team bunched five hits with two walks and an error in the third inning today to defeat the Ray Blades' unit in the Chicago Cubs first intra-squad game.

Bob Zick was the victim of the big inning which featured Bob Talbot's 2-run double. Don Robertson and Hal Meek led the winners' 10-hit attack with three safeties each.

Of the 12 pitchers used in the 6-inning contest, only Joe Kuncl, Warren Hacker and Don Elston retired the side in order.

PIRATES

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP) —The so-called "regulars" of the Pittsburgh Pirates face a real battle for their jobs when they report for training Monday, Manager Fred Haney indicated today.

During the past two weeks Haney has been putting more than a score of rookies through their paces. Some of these, he said, will not give up their chance to be major leaguers easily.

Haney said two men who will be top contenders for starting posts are shortstop Geir Allie and Curtis Roberts, a Negro second baseman. Neither are expected to hit in the .300 class but Haney said their fielding already has convinced him they can be regulars if they hit around the .260 mark.

REDLEGS

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Tom Acker, recently discharged from the army where he spent two years as a foot soldier, is finding spring training for the Cincinnati Redlegs a picnic.

"What time do we come out this afternoon?" shouted the tall, lanky-legged pitcher at Manager Birdie Tebbetts after fire-balling it for two hours this morning.

ORIOLES

Trainer Eddie Weidner said the injury was "not too serious," although subsequent swelling might limit the hurler's activities for a while. Rookie catcher Chuck Thomas hit the blow that felled Kretlow.

You'll Love Us...

. . . when we tell you this distinctive 6-room, 3-bedroom home with a double carport and a 150'x180' corner lot on the Northside can be purchased for only $1000 down. And you'll love us even more when we tell you that among its 1464 sq. feet of living area are such features as: Hotpoint sink unit AND dishwasher; Hot Point hot water heater; 3 spacious bedrooms; separate living and dining room; real fireplace in living room. This is the first time on the market . . . so better hurry! It's located at 321 HOWARD ST.

Country Livin'...

. . . and a 100 per cent G. I. loan "to boot"! It's seldom indeed that you will find a home in the country with a 100 per cent G. I. loan, but "we've got the goods" 7 miles north of Monroe on Venable Lane, and it's solid masonry too! Here's the happiest 5-room home with breezeway and attached garage on an acre of land that you've seen anywhere . . . for among the 1020 sq. feet of living area are these features: copper plumbing; bath has a tub and shower; the floors are asphalt tile throughout; it has a 30-gallon water heater as well as plaster walls for minimum upkeep. It's vacant and selling for the VA appraised value $8650.

100% G. I.

For a "breath taking" experience we'd like to show you a home that's as modern as tomorrow with all interior walls pine-paneled as well as other unusual features. For, among the 900 sq. feet of this one are these features: 42" attic fan with automatic shutters); copper plumbing; the unique kitchen (13'x13') has washer plumbing, Vent-a-hood, an abundance of pine-paneled cabinet space and it's on the front. The home has aluminum screens throughout; and there's a walk-in closet in one bedroom. This fine home is situated on a 52'x150' corner lot that's literally covered with flowers and shrubbery of all kinds. It's priced at only $7800 and located at 3410 Polk St.

Don't Look...

. . . at this truly magnificent home at 1411 PARK AVE. unless you're in the market for a large "family" home in one of Monroe's choicest neighborhoods! For, here is a roomy 2-story home containing 11 rooms, 5 bedrooms, 3 baths plus two sun porches and a breezeway. Not only is it large but the interior has just been redecorated with plush wall-to-wall carpets in all rooms but two downstairs rooms . . . the 16'x20' living room has real fireplace and excellent taste in wallpaper . . . the kitchen has loads of cabinet space, breakfast room and a GE dishwasher . . . there are (3) floor furnaces . . . the attic is insulated and the 75'x240' corner lot is beautifully landscaped. It's shown by appointment only so call today!

A Woman Screamed...

. . . "YOU mean it's a 6-room, 2-bedroom and pine-paneled den home only 3 years old for only $1100 down?" Yes'um . . . and that's not all, for among the 1138 sq. feet of this one are other exciting features: the living room is spacious (14'x25'); it has copper plumbing . . . separate dining room . . . 42" attic fan . . . floor furnace . . . glistening oak floors and loads of other fine features. It's vacant and located at 1612 S. 4th just two blocks to the Plum St. school with monthly payments as low as $60 including taxes and insurance. You wants' look?

100% G. I.

Pay only the closing costs and move into this 6-room, 3-bedroom home on an 80'x150' corner lot at 2710 N. 8th in W. Monroe. Among the many refined features are these: 42" attic fan and floor furnace; bath has shower; the upper level bedrooms opens into an attic that can easily be converted into another bedroom, or a spacious den with just a little amount of work; the attached garage has overhead door and has entrance leading into hall. This is the first time on the market and you can move in and enjoy it with payments of $63.

Bashful Budget?

If that's the case and you're in need of a comfortable 3-bedroom home, look no further than 1009 Ark. Road in W. Monroe. For . . . here is a 3½ year-old home loaded with livable features: there's a 30-gallon water heater; 42" attic fan and a floor furnace; one of the bedrooms has DOUBLE closets; there are 3 aluminum awnings outside; disappearing stair to attic for storage; it also has an 8'x12' screened porch . . . AND the best feature of all: only $950 down turns the key with monthly payments as low as $55. Call for appointment to see today!

Your Best Deed...

. . . is a deed to a home like 3104 GORDON AVE. with its many refreshing features. Features like these: 912 sq. feet of living area; beautifully decorated throughout with excellent taste in wallpaper; tremendous walk-in closet in one bedroom and another in the hall; the 9'x12' kitchen has unusual cabinet space, washer plumbing, utility closet and serving bar; it has 42" attic fan and floor furnace; the hardwood floors fairly glisten; in fact, the whole house looks as if it has never been lived in before. It's vacant and only $1050 down turns the key. Will show anytime!

A Dame...

. . . exclaimed . . . "You mean only $500 down buys this home at 1304 S. 1st? Yep, and with monthly payments as low as $47 . . . and look what it buys: a captivating 2 bedroom home with natural woodwork . . . folding stair to attic . . . kitchen with double sink, washer plumbing and dining area . . . the back yard is fenced . . . and the home has 812 sq. feet of living area! It's a once-in-a-lifetime buy, and it's vacant. You wants' look?

A Family Home!

It's tailor made for a family such as yours, for it combines the best of locations with the utmost of comfortable living. This home possesses: 2 spacious bedrooms for a lifetime of sliding door closets; and a pine-paneled den; 1378 sq. feet of living area with a living room that's carpeted wall-to-wall; a pine-paneled kitchen with nice cabinet space, vent-a-hood; the pine-paneled dining area has a built-in china closet; the house has aluminum frame windows for a lifetime of trouble free living; it has attic fan and 42" panel-ray heaters and the bath has shower and built-in dressing table. All of the above superlatives fit only one home and that's 805 S 6th. It's already financed and $2763 turns the key!

A Bargain?

Well, it all depends on how you define the word "bargain," but in my book anytime a house sells for $1000 less than the FHA appraised value . . . well that's a bargain! That's the case exactly when it comes to 708 S. 5th in West Monroe . . . for here is a 7-room, 3-bedroom and den home selling for $1000 less than the FHA appraised value and only $1800 down buys it and all its exciting features: 3 bedrooms and a den; separate living and dining room with a fireplace in living room; has large aluminum screened front porch; it's on an 81'x150' lot; spacious kitchen with breakfast area; and last, but not least . . . it's less than a block to Mitchell Lane Grammar School.

"Don't Quote Me"...

. . . but the owner is rather anxious to sell and for a good reason . . . he and his family have moved to Georgia, and his spotless home is vacant here. It's a 5-room, 2-bedroom beauty on a 70'x160' lot at 1102 COLE AVE. with a new 30-gallon water heater . . . roomy living room and a separate dining room . . . both bedrooms are 14'x14' . . . there's a 42" attic fan and there's a separate garage. $1550 down buys it, so call for appointment!

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

You'll Love Us...

. . . when we tell you this distinctive 6-room, 3-bedroom home with a double carport and a 150'x150' corner lot on the Northside can be purchased for only $1000 down. And you'll love us even more when we tell you that among its 1464 sq. feet of living area are such features as: Hotpoint sink unit AND dishwasher; Hot Point hot water heater; 3 spacious bedrooms; separate living and dining room; real fireplace in living room. This is the first time on the market . . . so better hurry! It's located at 321 HOWARD ST.

Country Livin'...

. . . and a 100 per cent G. I. loan "to boot"! It's seldom indeed that you will find a home in the country with a 100 per cent G. I. loan, but "we've got the goods" 7 miles north of Monroe on Venable Lane, and it's solid masonry too! Here's the happiest 5-room home with breezeway and attached garage on an acre of land that you've seen anywhere . . . for among the 1020 sq. feet of living area are these features: copper plumbing; bath has a tub and shower; the floors are asphalt tile throughout; it has a 30-gallon water heater as well as plaster walls for minimum upkeep. It's vacant and selling for the VA appraised value $8650.

100% G. I.

For a "breath taking" experience we'd like to show you a home that's as modern as tomorrow with all interior walls pine-paneled as well as other unusual features. For, among the 900 sq. feet of this one are these features: 42" attic fan (with automatic shutters); copper plumbing; the unique kitchen (13'x13') has washer plumbing, Vent-a-hood, an abundance of pine-paneled cabinet space and it's on the front. The home has aluminum screens throughout; and there's a walk-in closet in one bedroom. This fine home is situated on a 52'x150' corner lot that's literally covered with flowers and shrubbery of all kinds. It's priced at only $7800 and located at 3410 Polk St.

Don't Look...

. . . at this truly magnificent home at 1411 PARK AVE. unless you're in the market for a large "family" home in one of Monroe's choicest neighborhoods! For, here is a roomy 2-story home containing 11 rooms, 5 bedrooms, 3 baths plus two sun porches and a breezeway. Not only is it large but the interior has just been redecorated with plush wall-to-wall carpets in all rooms but two downstairs rooms . . . the 16'x30' living room has real fireplace and excellent taste in wallpaper . . . the kitchen has loads of cabinet space, breakfast room and a GE dishwasher . . . there are (3) floor furnaces . . . the attic is insulated and the 75'x240' corner lot is beautifully landscaped. It's shown by appointment only so call today!

A Woman Screamed...

. . . "YOU mean it's a 6-room, 2-bedroom and pine-paneled den home only 3 years old for only $1100 down?" Yes'um . . . and that's not all, for among the 1138 sq. feet of this one are other exciting features: the living room is spacious (14'x25'); it has copper plumbing . . . separate dining room . . . 42" attic fan . . . floor furnace . . . glistening oak floors and loads of other fine features. It's vacant and located at 1612 S. 4th just two blocks to the Plum St. school with monthly payments as low as $60 including taxes and insurance. You wanta' look?

100% G. I.

Pay only the closing costs and move into this 6-room, 3-bedroom home on an 80'x150' corner lot at 2710 N. 8th in W. Monroe. Among the many refined features are these: 42" attic fan and floor furnace; bath has shower; the upper level bedrooms opens into an attic that can easily be converted into another bedroom, or a spacious den with just a little amount of work; the attached garage has overhead door and has entrance leading into hall. This is the first time on the market and you can move in and enjoy it with payments of $63.

Bashful Budget?

If that's the case and you're in need of a comfortable 3-bedroom home, look no further than 1009 Ark. Road in W. Monroe. For . . . here is a 3½ year-old home loaded with livable features: there's a 30-gallon water heater; 42" attic fan and a floor furnace; one of the bedrooms has DOUBLE closets; there are 3 aluminum awnings outside; disappearing stair to attic for storage; it also has an 8'x12' screened porch AND the best feature of all: only $950 down turns the key with monthly payments as low as $55. Call for appointment to see today!

Your Best Deed...

. . . is a deed to a home like 3104 GORDON AVE. with its many refreshing features. Features like these: 912 sq. feet of living area; beautifully decorated throughout with excellent taste in wallpaper; tremendous walk-in closet in one bedroom and another in the hall; the 9'x12' kitchen has unusual cabinet space, washer plumbing, utility closet and serving bar; it has 42" attic fan and floor furnace; the hardwood floors fairly glisten; in fact, the whole house looks as if it has never been lived in before. It's vacant and only $1050 down turns the key. Will show anytime!

A Dame...

. . . exclaimed . . . "You mean only $500 down buys this home at 1304 S. 1st? Yep, and with monthly payments as low as $47 . . . and look what it buys: a captivating 2 bedroom home with natural woodwork . . . folding stair to attic . . . kitchen with double sink, washer plumbing and dining area . . . the back yard is fenced . . . and the home has 812 sq. feet of living area! It's a once-in-a-lifetime buy, and it's vacant. You wanta' look?

A Family Home!

It's tailor made for a family such as yours, for it combines the best of locations with the utmost of comfortable living. This home possesses: 2 spacious bedrooms (both with sliding door closets) and a pine-paneled den; 1378 sq. feet of living area with a living room that's carpeted wall-to-wall; a pine-paneled kitchen with nice cabinet space, vent-a-hood; the pine-paneled dining area has a built-in china closet; the house has aluminum frame windows for a lifetime of trouble free living; it has attic fan and (3) panel-ray heaters and the bath has shower and built-in dressing table. All of the above superlatives fit only one home and that's 805 S. 6th. It's already financed and $2763 turns the key!

A Bargain?

Well, it all depends on how you define the word "bargain," but in my book anytime a house sells for $1000 less than the FHA appraised value . . . well that's a bargain! That's the case exactly when it comes to 708 S. 5th in West Monroe . . . for here is a 7-room, 3-bedroom and den home selling for $1000 less than the FHA appraised value and only $1800 down buys it and all its exciting features: 3 bedrooms and a den; separate living and dining room with a fireplace in living room; has large aluminum screened front porch; it's on an 81'x150' lot; spacious kitchen with breakfast area; and last, but not least . . . it's less than a block to Mitchell Lane Grammar School.

"Don't Quote Me"...

. . . but the owner is rather anxious to sell and for a good reason . . . he and his family have moved to Georgia, and his spotless home is vacant here. It's a 5-room, 2-bedroom beauty on a 70'x160' lot at 1102 COLE AVE. with a new 30-gallon water heater . . . roomy living room and a separate dining room . . . both bedrooms are 14'x14' . . . there's a 42" attic fan and there's a separate garage. $1550 down buys it, so call for appointment!

Poise, that much-admired, much-desired quality, includes many things. Among them are correct carriage and a well-modulated voice. And you can learn these as well as you learned to dress smartly.

Even when planning a very short trip it is wise to carry a bit of soap with you. It is an unfortunate fact that one frequently encounters its absence when visiting public places in unknown communities.

Mrs. T. W. Stark Entertains Mangham Club

The Mangham Literary Club was pleasantly entertained last Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. T.W. Stark, with Miss Ola Cooper, hostess.

Our leader for the evening introduced our guest speaker, Mrs. John C. Kenton, who had been invited to help us observe Federation Day. She spoke on "Years of Achievement, 1890-1953." As always, Mrs. Kenton spoke interestingly and enthusiastically on club work. She said in part, "No one would be more surprised than Jennie June Croly, "mother" of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, were she to see the amazing development of her daring little "Sorosis" of the 1860's into the vast national and international organization which is the General Federation today, with its overall membership of some 15,000 clubs and 11,000,000 women. The General Federation was born in 1890. Its primary function has always been education, and adult education has been its continuing goal. G. F. W. C. is a group of Americans who have made a vast and memorable contribution to our democracy. Who but club women fought for reforms which we now regard as routine—better labor conditions, opportunities for vocational training, forty years ago began advocating the eight-hour working day, international arbitration of disputes, higher salaries for teachers, 85 per cent of libraries and many others.

Our history is a democracy at work. There is hardly a phase of our democratic system that has not felt the impact of their ceaseless efforts to build a better life. Behind every great movement or organization, there are the little people. Those who serve in humble capacities, remote from headquarters and through serving they become a flowing tributary to the great, powerful current that is GFWC."

Mrs. Theo Jones than gave an autobiography of the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren, whose term of office was 1952-1954. This brief insight into the life and work of Mrs. Ahlgren was enjoyed by all present.

Girl Scout News

Somehow the cook badge always seems popular among Intermediate Scouts. In fact, National says it sells more of that badge than any other. Seems we've mentioned that several troops have been working on cooking lately, Troops 7, 21, 23, and 34, to mention a few.

Troop 23, under the leadership of Mrs. R. H. Hofler and Mrs. Theo Herr, brought their badge activities to a climax last Saturday with a spaghetti supper at Mrs. Hofler's. The girls invited their mothers and Miss Annis Klie, Girl Scout executive director, who, we are sure, accepted with alacrity.

The girls arranged two long tables, using dark green and yellow as the color scheme. Yellow candles and jonquils and forsythia formed the decorative centerpieces. The girls had prepared all the food with aid of their leaders, one patrol making the meat balls and sauce for spaghetti, one being responsible for the salad and the third making the cake with sauce for dessert.

Bet those mothers were proud to see their daughters, all in their uniforms, serving the dinner so nicely and having such a good time doing it! They report that the food was delicious and that most of them accepted seconds.

What about Helen Hofler, in whose kitchen all this activity went on? Well, she says the girls came at 3:00 to get an early start. Every Scout leader knows that the patrol system makes for orderliness and efficiency in getting things done. Furthermore, the girls did all the dishwashing afterward, their leader reports. We still think she deserves a lot of credit, though, for her patience in helping the girls to see the project through.

After dinner, the girls reported to their guests on the other activities they had completed to earn the badge and were, in turn, presented with the badge to wear proudly on the sleeve of the uniform.

Girls who took part in this activity are: Jolene Buttita, Rose Ann Cascio, Veronica Hervey, Kay and Faye Ferraci, Carolyn Herr, Jo Ellington Scroggs, Henrietta Henderson, Adeline Elias, and Judy Williams. Congratulations to these young cooks and their leaders for a fine piece of work!

Troop 57, some of them at least, spent last Saturday at Pine Wood, enjoying the out of doors to the fullest. Only eager Scouts would have completed plans for an outdoor day during the hard rain of the day before. The weather cooperated, however, the girls reporting that they were not even aware of the dust storm. Asked for the highlight of the day, the girls agreed that it was hiking. Not content with a morning hike to the river, they went back again in the afternoon to pick up more shells and to make more discoveries.

The girls who went are Ruthie Boner, Patty Pierce, Barbara Segars, Patricia McMullen, Linda Kay Owens, Priscilla McPherson, and Judy Reagan. Mrs. F. F. Boner is leader of the troop.

Time flies, as we've all discovered, and here is Girl Scout birthday time again. We'll be a year older on March 12, 42 years old now, to be exact.

On next Sunday, the girls of the Twin Cities will hold their annual birthday program at 3:00 o'clock at Ouachita Parish High School. All Brownies and Scouts will bring birthday pennies for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund and will also present Kits for Korea which they have made. A short program will be given by the girls.

The girls invite their parents and friends to join with them in celebrating another anniversary. Of course, it goes without saying, every Scout and Brownie should be present.

Mrs. J. Glanton Speaks To Service Club

FERRIDAY — The Community Service club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Leo Purvis with Mrs. Cecil Long as co-hostess. Mrs. Jules Glanton was the speaker of the evening and she spoke on the hobbies of children and handcraft of all kinds.

Mrs. Glanton pointed out that the problem was in the form of a question. She said: "Are hobbies of children helpful or a waste of time and money?" Of course, she said, "the conclusion is that hobbies should be encouraged in children and some of the beneficial effects were presented.

After the talk the club acted as a panel and discussed the subject from a personal standpoint, as to how patient each one was with her children, and much encouragement was given. Some of the mothers then told of the particular hobbies of their own boys and girls. This discussion was in line with the general course for the year.

The next time you are the happy recipient of a corsage, don't think you must wear it on your dress when it doesn't lend itself to the design. Take it apart to arrange in your hair, or pin it to your purse. Or tack a few of the flowers to some velvet ribbon to make a wrist corsage.

Style Fads Inspire Child's Clothes Care

Ribbons are one of the top fashion fads of the sub-teen crowd this season. They are seen on hats, hair, blouses, just about anywhere a youngster may think to put one.

The fad has one very definite virtue: It affords a mother an opportunity to train her daughter in wardrobe care.

It is no trouble to point out the difference between a fresh ribbon and a slightly soiled one that has become crumpled with repeated knotting.

And when she sees how easy it is to keep her ribbons looking crisp, any young miss will be interested in assuming this responsibility.

All she need do is whisk her ribbons through lukewarm suds and rinse them a few times in clear water. Then, after rolling them in a towel to remove excess moisture, she can "paste" them against the bathroom tile or over the edge of the bathtub to dry flat.

If added stiffness is desired, pressing will be necessary. She should use a cool iron and press the ribbons on the wrong sides with a press cloth between them and the iron to prevent shine.

These instructions apply to all ribbons but velvet, which should be taken from the final rinse water and hung on a towel rack to drip-dry.

Abram Morehouse DAR Will Place Historical Marker

The Abram Morehouse Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held its February meeting in the home of Mrs. George T. Madison in Bastrop. Mrs. W. M. Taylor was associate hostess.

Since the placing of markers in spots of historic significance is a major activity of the D. A. R., the chapter received with approval the news that sufficient research had been done by the committee to name the place of the first marker in Morehouse Parish. Mrs. Conrad McDuffie, chairman, announced the home site of Abram Morehouse had been designated as the most appropriate place.

The shaft will be known as the Prairie Mer Rogue marker and will pay tribute to Abram Morehouse and his 1804 neighbor, Josiah Davenport. It will be located by the side of the highway about a mile west of Mer Rouge. Formal unveiling ceremonies are scheduled for the month of May.

Mrs. Duke Shackleford presented the names of the four girls who were to represent the chapter at the Baton Rouge Good Citizen pilgrimage. They were Rose Cornish, of Bastrop, Rita Harris of Bonita, Betty Miles of Mer Rouge and Martha Ann Loughridge of Oak Ridge.

Mrs. R. E. Barham led the flag salute, Mrs. A. B. Conger talked on national defense, Mrs. Will Gray gave the president general's message.

Mrs. Hadley Leavell, program chairman introduced Miss Frances Flanders, regent of Fort Miro Chapter D. A. R. in Monroe. Miss Flanders spoke to the group on American heritage.

The dining room was decorated in a George Washington motif. Mrs. Joseph Davenport of Mer Rouge and Mrs. J. B. Shackelford presided at the silver services during the refreshment hour. Mrs. James Madison served the cherry tarts.

Other guests present with Miss Flanders were Mrs. Flood Madison of Monroe, Mrs. Turpin Davidson of Mer Rouge and Mrs. E. D. Shaw, Jr. of Bastrop.

The couple pledged their vows before an altar of tall floor baskets of white stock and gladioli interspersed with greenery against a background of glowing white tapers in seven branched wrought iron candelabra entwined with ivy.

Mrs. Wilson mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding, a green antique shantung model with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The bride's table, overlaid with handsome blue satin damask, was centered with an arrangement of tiny cherubs encircled with garlands of English ivy and pink sweetheart roses. At one end of the table was a tiered wedding confection embossed with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom standing beneath an arch and wedding bells.

Ferriday Garden Club Meets

FERRIDAY — The regular meeting of the Ferriday Garden Club was held Thursday at the REA building. Mrs. U. B. Evans presided. Mrs. Stanley Maxwell was called upon to explain the "Litterbug" campaign, which is being sponsored by the National Federation of Garden Clubs and which has in turn been taken up by the local garden clubs throughout the country.

The Ferriday Club has become interested in this project and has decided to put the ideals of the "litterbug" campaign into practice. With the aim in view to make Ferriday more beautiful for the passersby and the people of the community, also, the Ferriday Garden Club has allied itself with the national litterbug campaign. Signs must be erected to prevent tourists from throwing excess food and needless things from the car windows and to prevent people from dumping cans and garbage in unsightly places. It was pointed out that the city must be kept clean so that residents can establish their civic pride.

Mrs. Stanley Maxwell was appointed chairman of the campaign. In addition to the "litterbug" campaign, another highlight of the meeting was the talk given by Mrs. S. H. Lambdin of the Natchez Garden Club on "Flowers from Cuban Gardens." Mrs. Lambdin illustrated her talk with some of the plant material which she recently brought back with her from Cuba and Florida and with which she had success in her own garden. This was most enjoyable. Also interesting were the slides Mrs. U. B. Evans showed on Cuban gardens and bulbs. Mrs. Evans also contributed old fashioned bulbs of the name variety in display on a large table and the Ferriday Garden Club was very interested in studying them.

Mrs. C. T. Payne was appointed to make arrangements for the Ferriday club to enter the state show March 28 in DeRidder.

Character Education Topic For Bono Nostrorum Club

The Bono Nostrorum Club met in the home of Mrs. C. E. Tillman with Mrs. B. N. Hixon and Mrs. C. N. Underwood as co-hostesses.

Mrs. H. L. Murray, the president, called the meeting to order, and asked Mrs. Jones to lead in prayer. After the salute to the flag, Mrs. Murray introduced Mrs. E. T. Lee, chairman of education. Mrs. Lee made a report on new trends in education.

Mrs. Murray then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Mable Nash, whose subject was "Character Education." Mrs. Nash said the materials for her talk came from current magazines and a recent book. Stressing that the fundamental aim of all education, of which character education is a part is to help the child to grow, to develop, to become the best citizen he is capable of becoming. Inside each person there are hidden powers that would develop if given the encouragement. Instead of becoming a thief, a boy might be a great doctor; instead of a murderer, he might be an artist.

How then can we help children? First, give them understanding; second, give them sympathy and have patience with their problems; third, provide the opportunity for an education so they may develop into the person God intended they should; and fourth, help them to understand the place God should have in their lives and His plan for a life after death.

The meeting was turned back to the president, who conducted a lengthy business session at which time the delegates to the district and state conventions were appointed. They were Mrs. T. G. McKay, Miss Ethel Watson, Mrs. H. L. Murray, and Mrs. E. T. Lee. Mrs. R. N. McIntyre was to serve as an alternate. Mrs. Murray asked that these serve for both meetings.

There being no further business, delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdame E. D. Baker, W. E. Hixon, B. N. Hixon, Mary Laird, C. McConnell, T. G. McKay, Mable Nash, C. W. Jones, R. N. McIntyre, H. L. Murray, Maude Parham, H. G. Tillman, C. N. Underwood, C. E. Tillman, E. T. Lee, and Misses Virgie Evans and Kate Talbert.

Waterproof Garden Club Meets In Feb.

The Waterproof Garden Club met in the study hall of the Waterproof High School for their February meeting.

All of her ideas were illustrated with slides which showed how space might be used both for beauty and for utility.

Following the program a social was enjoyed in the Home Ec. department, where delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. S. C. Young, Mrs. John Tillman, Mrs. W. W. Tennant and Mrs. F. Preis.

Miss S. Geiling Talks To B&PW

The health and safety committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club, together with the legislation committee, entertained the club at the YWCA on Tuesday, February 23. Much ingenuity was noted in the flower arrangements, which were lovely spring flowers of red, white and blue in honor of the father of our country.

Mrs. Sarah Kennon, chairman of the health and safety committee, called the meeting to order and introduced members of the entertaining committees. Mrs. Eloise Stanhope then delighted everyone with two expertly played piano solos.

The club felt very fortunate in having Miss Shirley Geiling, psychiatric social worker at the Shreveport Child Guidance Center, with us. She had brought the film "Angry Boy," and after the showing she led us in a discussion of the film and other matters pertaining to the subject. Mrs. Austin Miller was very helpful in operating the machine.

After several important announcements were made, and business discussed, the guests were invited to the dining room which lends itself so well to entertaining. The table had been carefully decorated, again using the red, white and blue flowers, these being interspersed with George Washington hatchets and stumps. Also, there were many tall tapers. The hostesses served a truly delicious plate lunch to the large gathering of members and friends. Those responsible for the enjoyable evening were: Sara Kennon, Pauline Welch, Dorothy Blacketer, Agnes Krogmire, Clara Dennis, Flora Seaman, Dora Anish, Lela King Breard, Ruth Thomas, Myrtle Porter, Lillie Mae Carroll, Olive Terry, Mrs. Sid Moore, and Margaret Coenen.

Unique Penetrating Cream Carries Vitamins that "Starved" Skin Needs Most!

"Externally applied vitamins can be absorbed to correct skin-vitamin deficiency!" Recent testimony of chemists and dermatologists, as reported in leading medical journals and newspapers, confirms the findings of COTY, maker of fine beauty creams for many decades, with their COTY VITAMIN A-D COMPLEX-CREAM, now in successful use for almost two years.

COTY "Vitamin A-D" COMPLEX-CREAM

—a perfectly balanced formula of vitamins plus a unique cream base of great penetrating power—"carries" vitamins into "starved", dried-out skin. Scientific research has now proved that even though your diet may include adequate amounts of both vitamins A and D, it's entirely possible your system does not absorb them efficiently, so they are of no help to troubled skin areas. Likewise, no amount of externally-applied vitamins can have beneficial results if it merely "sits" on the skin surface. To rebuild itself, the skin must absorb vitamins! The answer to both problems may lie in the unique penetrating quality of

COTY "Vitamin A-D" COMPLEX-CREAM

Case histories reveal that flakiness, dry skin lines and rough patches of vitamin-deficient skins disappear with use of COTY VITAMIN A-D COMPLEX-CREAM. Sensitive, "thin" skins seem built up, "filled out"—and bumpy, coarse-grained complexions show remarkable reduction of large pores and blemishes. Discover the amazing changes that occur in your complexion, when you apply vitamins to your skin with COTY VITAMIN A-D COMPLEX-CREAM.

'Roamin' In The Rural'

This spring - like weather gives each of us a desire to drive out into the country. So when you drive don't forget to go by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson's on the Avant Road and see the daffodils in bloom.

At the Stout's, both A. T. and T. L. on Columbia highway you can see flowering quince (cydonia prunifolia) used around the entire two home grounds at the back. This is the best variety of spirea to group with flowering quince as it blooms at the same time. Forsythia can also be used with this rose spirea prunifolia, blooms at the same time. Spirea thunbergi, although a smaller blossom than the spirea prunifolia, blooms at the same time. It has been beautiful this year too. It is excellent to use in these group plantings.

When the quince and spirea have finished blooming it's time to prune them. To prune these plants remove any dead or diseased or old undesirable wood, cutting it out at the ground. Do not "bob" off the branches of these plants and call it pruning it.

You will be transplanting vegetables and flowers soon, so give them a booster shot to get them off to a good start. This booster shot is made by dissolving one pound of balance fertilizer (5-10-5) in six gallons of water then after placing plant, use one-half cup of this mixture around plant. This is the recommendation of the state extension horticulturist in Baton Rouge.

Who doesn't like fresh sweet corn? It's time to plant sweet corn. Plantings may be continued until May 1. The extension service recommends Aristogold Bantam Evergreen, Golden Security and Iona varieties for home and commercial plantings. For home gardening, plant sweet corn in blocks or a number of short rows, rather than one or two long rows. This helps to get cross polination which is necessary for corn.

It will soon be time to spray japonicas, flowering quince and many other plants for scale. Get the bulletin "Camellias for the Yard" for this information.

Council Budget Committee

The Council Budget committee composed of Mrs. J. H. Carroll, Mrs. Fred Riser, Mrs. B. O. Avant, Mrs. J. R. Agin, Mrs. J. P. McKnight, Mrs. H. H. Robert and council president, Mrs. A. T. Stout, will meet Saturday, March 6 at 9 o'clock in the Agricultural Building West Monroe.

There are two other important dates in home demonstration work during the month of March. They are March 20, the regular council meeting date and March 26 hobby day. You'll hear more about this hobby day - but mark it on your calendar now.

Landscape Special

Miss Winona Chauffe, extension landscape specialist, will spend March 4 with the agent assisting rural women with landscape plans. Mrs. O. Cloyd, McClendon and Mrs Loyd Coon, Liberty, will be result demonstrators in this work.

Simple Sewing Workshops

Dates and plans for two simple sewing workshops will be announced later — watch for them.

Maben and hostess of the home, delicious refreshments were served from the dining table overlaid with handsome cut work linen cloth, with decor of Sarah Frost camellias and lighting from the mellow glow of tall, slim red candles in branched silver candelabra. Out of town guests were Mesdames C. R. Caudle, Carroll Gamble, C. A. Diehl, and Bert Cochran, all of Eudora, Ark., and Mrs. W. J. Avery of Alexandria.

Who doesn't like fresh sweet corn? It's time to plant sweet corn. Plantings may be continued until May 1. The extension service recommends Aristogold Bantam Evergreen, Golden Security and Iona varieties for home and commercial plantings. For home gardening, plant sweet corn in blocks or a number of short rows, rather than one or two long rows. This helps to get cross polination which is necessary for corn.

It will soon be time to spray japonicas, flowering quince and many other plants for scale. Get the bulletin "Camellias for the Yard" for this information.

East Carroll Garden Club Has Silver Tea

LAKE PROVIDENCE — The East Carroll Garden Club entertained at a Valentine silver tea at the "Twin Oaks" home of Mrs. Edward Davis Schneider, on Tuesday, Feb. 9 at three in the afternoon.

Guests were welcomed into the spacious living room decorated in effective decorations of early spring flowers, by Mesdames O. S. Brown, Pete Key and R. K. Howard.

Invited into the dining room by Mrs. C. R. Brown, Mrs. W. H. Maben and hostess of the home, delicious refreshments were served from the dining table overlaid with handsome cut work linen cloth, with decor of Sarah Frost camellias and lighting from the mellow glow of tall, slim red candles in branched silver candelabra. The heart shaped mints and napkin emblems helped carry out the Valentine motif. Mrs. James Henry Gilfoil, Jr., graciously presided at the coffee service, and Miss Eunyce Howard poured tea from the family heirloom silver service.

Out of town guests were Mesdames C. R. Caudle, Carroll Gamble, C. A. Diehl, and Bert Cochran, all of Eudora, Ark., and Mrs. W. J. Avery of Alexandria.

The second tailoring workshop with the women of Ouachita Parish was completed this past week, bringing a total of six suits and eight coats made by the women participating.

The women doing tailoring in the second workshop were: Mrs. Cleburne White, Cadeville Club; Mrs. J. M. Adams and Mrs. R. D. Pipes, Claiborne Club; Mrs. L. A. Whitlock and Mrs. J. L. Joyner, Lenwil Club; and Mrs. M. L. Spangler, McClendon Club. The average cost of the garments made by the 14 women was $18.10.

See you next Sunday.

Hazel Fain Is Bride Of Ira J. Tilley

Miss Hazel Fain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fain of Winnsboro, became the bride of Ira J. Tilley of Shreveport in a double-ring ceremony on February 13. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown. The bodice was brocaded lace over white satin and the skirt was pleated white nylon tulle. Her white pearl-studded hat held her finger-tip veil. As an accessory, she wore a single string of pearls and carried a bouquet of orchids with white streamers over a white Bible.

Miss Annie Loris Fain, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a rose-colored dress of net over satin with a corsage of white carnations and a white straw hat.

Mrs. Elizabeth Landis, pianist, accompanied Mr. Everett McClang as he sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rest To Keep Youthful Vigor

Ethel Barrymore, replying to a query about her seemingly inexhaustible supply of energy, has said that once a month she takes to her bed for 24 hours. During that interval she just revels in inactivity.

Miss Barrymore's plan may not appeal to you, but, if you are a busy careerist or housewife, you should have some plan for fortifying energy. Whether you think you need one day a month in bed or an evening a week lounging around the house, be faithful to your program.

Your revitalizing program might begin with a few limbering exercises—the stretch and pull kind that make the muscles feel good, rather than sore.

Next, draw a warm, soothing bath. If you don't already have one, you'll find a rubber head cushion a perfect accessory. After an hour's boiling in the tub, pat on a fragile fragrance as a further indorsement to a serene mood.

In the opinion of one perfume house, its body sachet, a powdered perfume, is designed for this type of extravagance. It can be sprinkled liberally over the body without disturbing any budget.

And the scent, the firm claims, is also the perfect complement to a relaxing bath. Wild roses, honeysuckle, jasmin and heliotrope are prominent in this fragrant bouquet of the perfumer's art.

Before the mood leaves you, get into bed and enjoy the fact of being there while the rest of the household is still a beehive. If you find it fun, give yourself a manicure before turning out the light.

And to coax sweet dreams, the perfume house suggests that you touch your pillow with a light sprinkle of the sachet.

United Church Women Observe Day Of Prayer

On Friday, March 5 at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. all United Church Women of Monroe and West Monroe will meet together as individuals in prayer to strengthen the power for good in the world.

It is pointed out that glory of the Christian church has always been its missionary fervor and because of missions the Christian community is found today in all the representative areas of the world. For centuries, women have prayed for a better world individually and in groups.

Mrs. Dana Dawson, wife of Bishop Dawson of the Kansas area of the Methodist Church, will speak at the morning and evening services. The morning service will be held in the First Methodist Church of Monroe and the evening service at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, chairman of world relations, will be assisted in the morning service by Mrs. D. V. Loflin, Jr., as leader. At the evening service, the leader will be Mrs. Cecil Massey.

A special children's observance will be held at 3:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church in the educational building, at St. Paul's Methodist Church and the First Methodist Church in West Monroe with Mrs. Charles Chisholm as general chairman.

Professional story tellers will afford the children a treat. Leaders of these services are: Mrs. L. G. Cook, Mrs. Irene Depkin, Mrs. Daisy Bergerow.

On Wednesday, preceding the World Day of Prayer, a retreat will be conducted at St. Paul's Methodist Church from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Church women in Monroe and West Monroe and the outlying area are invited to take advantage of the opportunity of the Lenten season and draw apart for prayer and meditation. The women are requested to bring sandwiches for the luncheon hour.

Bride Juggles Five Careers

NEW YORK — Busiest bride in town is Nita Jonas Kopelman, who looks like a teen-ager and conducts enough businesses to keep a tycoon on the run.

Her latest enterprise happened by accident, after her mother had a "chicken - in - the - basket" party last summer at Southampton, Nita, being a thrifty soul, hated to see all those baskets go to waste, so she made beach hats out of them, dreamed up some bags to match and sold the works to Saks Fifth Avenue.

Other stores heard about these gay beach accessories and swamped her with orders. So Nita found herself in business, manufacturing beach hats and bags which she calls "She - She Originals."

Nita's main business, however, is writing children's books and songs, which are published in the "Little Golden Books" series, with records to match. Her current hit song for the kindergarten set is "The Goofy Song," which four-year-old hep cats insist really sends them. Coming soon are a new version of "The Reluctant Dragon" and "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," which Nita will call "The Circus Song."

One of her recent literary successes is "The Golden Book of Dogs," and soon to be published is a companion piece, "The Golden Book of Horses."

"Whenever we have company I make toasted cheese sandwiches and brownies. That's as far as I go."

She was recently married to Melvin Kopelman, a retailing executive, who fully approves of all his wife's varied careers. Keeps her out of mischief, he says.

Spring Coiffure Will Lift Morale

A new professional permanent means a new you — for every woman needs a new permanent and a new coiffure regularly to add to the joy of living. Beauty - wise women know this and take advantage of professional beauty care to lift their morale and to keep up a smart appearance.

With the coiffures in vogue today, a professional permanent is even more important than usual. It brings out the subtleties of a customized haircut, the secret of today's hairstyles.

During National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 21-27th, dedicated to more beautiful women, consult your hairdresser about a permanent that will emphasize the natural beauty of your hair, and harmonize with your own particular personality. All beauty notes this spring are stressing individuality. There can be no such thing as a carbon copy of any hairstyle for all women.

Each must be translated and customized for each individual, for each individual's face and personality. Here's where your hairdresser comes in. Let his professional skill translate today's coiffure for you.

In this way you will be assured of getting the right permanent for your hair, which is as different from that of other people's as are your personality and facial features.

You know that the color of your hair differs from that of everyone you know. Its texture is even more varied than its color. That is why the permanent you need to bring out the natural beauty of your hair can be properly determined only by an expert who has devoted years of technical improvements, which has resulted in a permanent wave that can be given in comfort, with speed and efficiency. A far cry from what women endured years ago in their search for beauty.

REV. JOYNER

BEN A. HYNUM

Bishop Martin To Come Here To Dedicate Church

Dedication Service of the Southside Methodist Church, 1623 South 4th Street, Monroe, will be held March 6, 7:30 p.m. with Bishop Paul E. Martin presiding assisted by Rev. James T. Harris, district superintendent, and several other ministers.

This church has been called the "miracle church" because of its rapid growth and progress since organization, July 13, 1952. In June, 1952, Lea Joyner was assigned the responsibility of organizing a congregation in this section of the city. On July 13, 1952, under the capable leadership of Rev. W. H. Giles, district superintendent, the first meeting was held in the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall with 125 charter members. At this first service, the necessary committees were set up for organization and carrying on the work of the church.

At a very early date, plans were made for erecting a building. The contract was awarded W. C. Sally Construction Co. and on August 31, 1952 the first service was held in the new sanctuary at the present site.

In July, 1953, the debt was completely liquidated and the church was ready for dedication. At this time this church saw the need for a parsonage and plans were formulated. In September of 1953, the minister was able to occupy the new parsonage located at 1618 South 5th built by Better Monroe Homes. The property at this time is valued at $10,000.00. The church has 260 members, with an active W. S. C. S. led by Mrs. W. O. Danzey; a Sunday School enrollment of 180 with Mrs. G. F. Snapp, superintendent; each of the commissions active; and active men's club with James P. Pettit president; an active Boy Scout troup, with Herman and Jack Wilson leaders; a choir of 21 voices led by Robert L. Jones and Mrs. W. P. Stewart; an all men's choir of 12 voices sing for the night service; an altar guild led by Miss Pearl LeFevere; a board of stewards led by Charles E. Vaughan that is unsurpassed in loyalty and sincerity of purpose. From the beginning of the church there has been a feeling of "togetherness" among the members that has made the progress so great.

Four chairmen are listed as follows: W. P. Stewart, commission on education; Pete J. Medak, commission on finance; Mrs. Pete Medak, commissions on missions; Mrs. Myrtle Mae Foster, commission on evangelism.

The Lord has already blessed this church by calling one of its members, Robert Warner, into the ministry. Robert is now in seminary in emory University in Atlanta, Ga.

The members of this church as well as the pastor is deeply grateful for all the kind deeds shown and the many contributions that the people in the Twin Cities and friends in other areas have made. This church could not have been built without the help that God has given through you as his workers. Thank you each and everyone. Already the church has outgrown itself and a fund has been set aside for a "future sanctuary fund." It is hoped at a very early date this dream and need can be met.

Each and everyone is invited to attend the dedication service, March 6 at 7:30 p.m. and the reception to follow in the new parsonage.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My mother died six months ago. I am not an old person and yet I keep thinking of heaven and of meeting my mother again. Is this a good sign? T. W. A.

ANSWER: This is natural and right when the thought of Heaven and of departed loved ones stimulates us to nobler and purer acts and accomplishments. It is often said that the people who keep thinking and talking of Heaven become distracted and even disloyal in their daily work - a - day duties and tend to dream out their time in make - belief. In reality it is quite otherwise. You have only to think of the Apostle Paul. The fact of being close to the goal, his "being with Christ," added a new intensity to life as far as he was concerned. He could say, "I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ; nevertheless, to abide in the flesh is more needful for you." (Phil. 1:23-24) Christ also said, "I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day. The night cometh when no man can work." The truth is, a great hope like immortality is something which a man has to live for. It was Emerson who said "I do not wish to live to wear out my boots." No, the thought of Heaven is not a mere antidote to death — it is a vitalization of life. The man who is living in the light and glory of Heaven is as much alive as the worldly man and more. He loves his family, he is an open-hearted friend, the helpful neighbor, the loyal citizen, the attentive and intelligent worker in his daily life. Time with its contents is full of reality and value to him. He simply lives his life with a right perspective. That is the trouble with so many people today. They have little perspective.

Miss Daily, who has served the past year as associate director of the church agency, succeeds the Rev. Ewing T. Wayland, director of the program since its beginning in June, 1952

A native of Texarkana, Miss Daily is a graduate of Scarritt College, Methodist school in Nashville, Tenn., and is a former employee of the Texarkana Gazette. She joined the Methodist information staff in January, 1953. In addition to distributing news releases for the Methodist Church to the press, she is a frequent contributor to Methodist church periodicals in Arkansas, Nashville, Tenn., and Chicago.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

For many years I have been interested in comparing what have seemed to me parallel passages in the Old and New Testaments.

When, for instance, I read the conclusion of the Ninetieth Psalm, which rises to a great climax of faith after an expression of human moods of frustration, I like to turn to the passage that climaxes Paul's chapter concerning the Resurrection in Corinthians 15.

Psalm 90:16,17: "Let Thy work appear unto Thy servants, and Thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish Thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish Thou it."

And here is I Corinthians 15:58: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

There are other striking parallels, as between passages in the prophecy of Amos and the words of Jesus on social wrongs, in Matthew 23.

But perhaps the most impressive of all is the parallel of the Shepherd Psalm 23 with Christ's description of Himself as the Good Shepherd in John 10:1-18.

To the beauty of the Shepherd of the Psalm as bountiful giver, leader, guide and comforter, even in the passage through the valley of the shadow of death, is added the sacrificial note of the Good Shepherd comforting others in death and giving His life for the sheep.

I think it is this that enforces so strongly one's sense of the unique nature and mission of Jesus. Claims of divinity, touched with boastfulness, only evoke deep repulsion; but there is no such reaction to the Master's self-description.

He is, indeed, the Good Shepherd, claiming only to live and serve His fellowmen; a Shepherd of sheep, willing to die that others might live.

Here is the full description of the Shepherd—the Good Shepherd actually laying down His life. Even as Jesus spoke these words, the shadow of the Cross was upon Him. The Shepherd Song of Psalm 23, if touched with tragedy, was soon to be touched with glory.

Dedication Service of the Southside Methodist Church, 1623 South 4th Street, Monroe, will be held March 6, 7:30 p.m. with Bishop Paul E. Martin presiding assisted by Rev. James T. Harris, district superintendent, and several other ministers.

This church has been called the "miracle church" because of its rapid growth and progress since organization, July 13, 1952. In June, 1952, Lea Joyner was assigned the responsibility of organizing a congregation in this section of the city. On July 13, 1952, under the capable leadership of Rev. W. H. Giles, district superintendent, the first meeting was held in the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall with 125 charter members. At this first service, the necessary committees were set up for organization and carrying on the work of the church.

At a very early date, plans were made for erecting a building. The contract was awarded W. C. Sally Construction Co. and on August 31, 1952 the first service was held in the new sanctuary at the present site.

In July, 1953, the debt was completely liquidated and the church was ready for dedication. At this time this church saw the need for a parsonage and plans were formulated. In September of 1953, the minister was able to occupy the new parsonage located at 1618 South 5th built by Better Monroe Homes. The property at this time is valued at $40,000.00. The church has 260 members, with an active W. S. C. S. led by Mrs. W. O. Danzey; a Sunday School enrollment of 180 with Mrs. G. F. Snapp, superintendent; each of the commissions active; and active men's club with James P. Pettit president; an active Boy Scout troup, with Herman and Jack Wilson leaders; a choir of 21 voices led by Robert L. Jones and Mrs. W. P. Stewart; an all men's choir of 12 voices sing for the night service; an altar guild led by Miss Pearl LeFevere; a board of stewards led by Charles E. Vaughan that is unsurpassed in loyalty and sincerity of purpose. From the beginning of the church there has been a feeling of "togetherness" among the members that has made the progress so great.

Four chairmen are listed as follows: W. P. Stewart, commission on education; Pete J. Medak, commission on finance; Mrs. Pete Medak, commissions on missions; Mrs. Myrtle Mae Foster, commission on evangelism.

The Lord has already blessed this church by calling one of its members, Robert Warner, into the ministry. Robert is now in seminary in emory University in Atlanta, Ga.

The members of this church as well as the pastor is deeply grateful for all the kind deeds shown and the many contributions that the people in the Twin Cities and friends in other areas have made. This church could not have been built without the help that God has given through you as his workers. Thank you each and everyone. Already the church has outgrown itself and a fund has been set aside for a "future sanctuary fund." It is hoped at a very early date this dream and need can be met.

Each and everyone is invited to attend the dedication service, March 6 at 7:30 p.m. and the reception to follow in the new parsonage.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My mother died six months ago. I am not an old person and yet I keep thinking of heaven and of meeting my mother again. Is this a good sign? T. W. A.

ANSWER: This is natural and right when the thought of Heaven and of departed loved ones stimulates us to nobler and purer acts and accomplishments. It is often said that the people who keep thinking and talking of Heaven become distracted and even disloyal in their daily work - a - day duties and tend to dream out their time in make - belief. In reality it is quite otherwise. You have only to think of the Apostle Paul. The fact of being close to the goal, his "being with Christ," added a new intensity to life as far as he was concerned. He could say, "I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ; nevertheless, to abide in the flesh is more needful for you." (Phil. 1:23-24) Christ also said, "I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day. The night cometh when no man can work." The truth is, a great hope like immortality is something which a man has to live for. It was Emerson who said "I do not wish to live to wear out my boots." No, the thought of Heaven is not a mere antidote to death — it is a vitalization of life. The man who is living in the light and glory of Heaven is as much alive as the worldly man and more. He loves his family, he is an open-hearted friend, the helpful neighbor, the loyal citizen, the attentive and intelligent worker in his daily life. Time with its contents is full of reality and value to him. He simply lives his life with a right perspective. That is the trouble with so many people today. They have little perspective.

GEORGIA DAILY

Georgia Daily Information Head For Methodists

Miss Georgia Daily has been named director of Methodist information, the news service of The Methodist Church in the Arkansas-Louisiana episcopal area, according to an announcement by Dr. Aubrey G. Walton of Little Rock, chairman of the area commission which supervises the office.

The announcement was made following Miss Daily's election at the annual meeting Wednesday, February 17, in Little Rock of the joint commission of the Arkansas Methodist and The Louisiana Methodist, which has the responsibility of the news bureau's program for the Little Rock, north Arkansas and Louisiana conferences of the Methodist Church.

Miss Daily, who has served the past year as associate director of the church agency, succeeds the Rev. Ewing T. Wayland, director of the program since its beginning in June, 1952

A native of Texarkana, Miss Daily is a graduate of Scarritt College, Methodist school in Nashville, Tenn., and is a former employee of the Texarkana Gazette. She joined the Methodist information staff in January, 1953. In addition to distributing news releases for the Methodist Church to the press, she is a frequent contributor to Methodist church periodicals in Arkansas, Nashville, Tenn., and Chicago.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

For many years I have been interested in comparing what have seemed to me parallel passages in the Old and New Testaments.

When, for instance, I read the conclusion of the Ninetieth Psalm, which rises to a great climax of faith after an expression of human moods of frustration, I like to turn to the passage that climaxes Paul's chapter concerning the Resurrection in Corinthians 15.

Note the parallelism of hope, faith and triumph as we set these passages side by side:

Psalm 90:16,17: "Let Thy work appear unto Thy servants, and Thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish Thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish Thou it."

And here is I Corinthians 15:58: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

There are other striking parallels, as between passages in the prophecy of Amos and the words of Jesus on social wrongs, in Matthew 23.

But perhaps the most impressive of all is the parallel of the Shepherd Psalm 23 with Christ's description of Himself as the Good Shepherd in John 10:1-18.

To the beauty of the Shepherd of the Psalm as bountiful giver, leader, guide and comforter, even in the passage through the valley of the shadow of death, is added the sacrificial note of the Good Shepherd comforting others in death and giving His life for the sheep.

I think it is this that enforces so strongly one's sense of the unique nature and mission of Jesus. Claims of divinity, touched with boastfulness, only evoke deep repulsion; but there is no such reaction to the Master's self-description.

He is, indeed, the Good Shepherd, claiming only to live and serve His fellowmen; a Shepherd of sheep, willing to die that others might live.

The picture of the Good Shepherd has been enriched in legend and in art, but no enrichment has equaled what is here in Our Lord's original words.

Here is the full description of the Shepherd—the Good Shepherd actually laying down His life. Even as Jesus spoke these words, the shadow of the Cross was upon Him. The Shepherd Song of Psalm 23, if touched with tragedy, was soon to be touched with glory.

Rose Lovers At Work In Garden

The weather man upset our yard pictures for last Sunday. The white magnolia in Miss Biedenharn's yard didn't have a single bloom, but I'm sure you were not disappointed because the purple one right beside it was so beautiful.

The North Side Garden Club did quite a face lifting on the West Monroe library yard. Annie Gray Noe is busy landscaping several of the city schools. The patio Garden Club planted the Monroe approach to the new bridge. There were complaints that the large ligustrums were causing blind corners, so these were cut to the ground. When they come out they can be kept pruned low. For the evergreen back ground of these two approaches the girls used abelias because they are so very hardy and require little care. The plants that look like dead sticks are dwarf crape myrtles, twenty of the pink and ten of the lavender ones. There were six polyantha roses left from previous years planting. These were grouped to make a good showing. Eugene Flournoy was afraid we'd discarded them. He makes that crossing several times a day and has enjoyed the roses blooming from March until frost. Note the girls mulched all plants with pine straw. If we'll keep plenty of leaves and straw around our plants at schools, parks and other public places, the upkeep will be next to nothing.

Have you noticed the primrose jasmine Mr. Joe Ellis is using in projects around Monroe? They have been particularly beautiful this year because they were pruned and fertilized last year. Any plant even as common as the jasmine responds to good care. They are very beautiful down College Avenue.

The shrubs Mrs. Noe is using around KNOE enhance the lines and beauty of the building, yet are fine, hardy plants. Some of these are nandinas, crape myrtle, photinia and eleagnus.

The Welcome Garden Club and Home Garden Club planted the new Salvation Army Home. The Home Garden Club is now planting an avenue of mimosas in Bernstein Park. If I've missed any projects, please call me — everybody is interested.

Garden Jobs

You're finding lots of red spider, white fly and scale on camellias and other slick leaf evergreens. You know how the scale looks. To find red spider rub your finger on the back of a leaf. The finger will be red if that old pest is there. White fly leaves the black sooty deposit that is so unsightly and stunts the growth of plants. Spray with oil emulsion for all three of the above troubles, but wait until camellias have finished blooming. Use amounts specified on outside of can — no more — no less.

You've been waiting to prune those roses so now is the time. We used to think all bush roses had to be pruned low. That, now, is a matter of taste. If you want large bushes and long stem roses, just prune out the old wood. If you want more roses and low growing plants, prune low. Leave three or four good canes and prune to an outside bud so the new growth will grow that way. Don't prune climbing roses until after they bloom. Then cut out the oldest canes where they join the main stem. After you have cut this old cane, chop it up in 4 or 6 inch pieces. They'll fall to the ground and you won't have to tear the entire vine down to get the pruned part out.

After pruning, spray with bordeaux mixture for leaf spot, spraying the bush and the ground. Fertilize and mulch. Keep sulphur on hand for dusting for leaf spots every two weeks.

As your bulbs quit blooming fertilize with bone meal. This food will be there as the tops die, and as the blooms are being made for another year.

Quoting Mrs. Jo Evans, Haphazard Plantation, Ferriday "Feed your day lilies with a complete fertilizer. They'll bloom without it but the blossoms will be larger and deeper in color if fed at this time."

I hope Mrs. C. B. Hammett's paper white narcissus are still blooming as profusely as they were Monday. Drive down Renwick St. to the 300 house and see. If you don't think red buds can be pruned to bush form drive down to 3005 South Grand, the Milton Ford home and see the one in their yard. I believe this small tree would live longer if we'd prune it heavier.

The red buds are in bloom in the boulevard down Lee Avenue and they're worth seeing. Also, the primrose jasmine planted next to the sea wall on South Grand.

Dates

The date for the hat workshop is still indefinite — Blanche Ray is on the sick list and as always Blanche is so necessary when we think of hat working. The TV show on KNOE, Tuesday at 2:45 will be on pruning. You're invited to tune in.

Time out. See you next Sunday.

Biggest Garden Thrill Is Raising Plants From Seed

Amateur gardeners assert that their do - it - yourself hobby is not only the most widely practiced today, but the most ancient of all the avocations now followed in leisure hours by millions of Americans.

They can cite history to prove that the fascination of growing your own plants has appealed to men since history began. Ancient rulers with armies of servants found pleasure in planning gardens and personally planting them.

Not every garden owner today can make the same boast as Cyrus. But garden club members will agree that the keenest thrill to be won from this hobby is experienced when a flower blooms on a plant which grew from a seed or bulb which you planted, like Cyrus, with your own hands.

The difference between growing a garden and admiring those grown by others finds a parallel in athletic sports. No spectator can ever share completely the physical benefits and sense of achievement which the player enjoys.

While its greatest rewards are in mental and physical health, gardening with your own hands in these times pays substantial material profits which the whole family can share.

The social contacts which develop from activity in gardening are not the least of its rewards. The rapid expansion of the garden club movement among both men and women is based upon the spreading interest in this hobby.

Many clubs require that their members be "dirt gardeners" who plant things with their own hands. To qualify for membership in this fraternity, winter is an excellent time to begin. A seed box in a sunny window gives the best of all initiations to the practice of plant growing. Every tiny seedling can be seen as an individual, dependent on your care, and by watching its progress or decline, as you succeed or fail, lessons can be learned far more quickly than in the garden.

Growers Meet At La. Tech

Last Monday a group of interested bulb growers met on the Louisiana Tech campus with Professor John Wright, floriculturist and President Ropp to see the plot of ground that is being prepared for the bulb test garden.

This new project at Louisiana Tech is sponsored by the Louisiana Garden Club Federation. The detailed drawings shown by Mr. Wright and the interested discussion by the group promises real beauty next spring.

The Fifth District was represented at the South Atlantic Regional meeting of Federated Garden Clubs held in Alexandria this week by our current director, Mrs. Zollie Meadows, Ruston and our director-elect, Mrs. E. B. Knotts, Sicily Island.

Among other garden club members attending were Mrs. Lamonte Wright and Mrs. B. H. Talbot, Ruston, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, state radio chairman, Mrs. J. W. Golson, Mrs. V. S. Garnett and your garden center secretary. It is a stimulating experience to meet and exchange ideas with garden club members of other states.

Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Mrs. Archie Dickerson judged our weekly flower show, which was provided by the Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro.

Second place was awarded to Mrs. Doyle Perritt for a crescent design in tints and tones of yellow using forsythia and calendulas in a soft green bowl.

Third place award went to Mrs. Faye Walter for a lovely mass arrangement using the purple blooms of magnolia soulangeana and pussywillow in a low white container.

In the horticulture section, Mrs. J. W. McLemore, Jr. was awarded a blue ribbon for marguerite daisies. Mrs. Billy Duplissy was awarded blue ribbons for fine white iris and yellow dutch hyacinths.

Miss Irene Newhall of Monroe displayed a bouquet of lovely white "swan's neck" narcissus. This beautiful flower can only be found in old gardens and is no longer available commercially.

Vegetable Plot Pays Big Bonus

Profits from your own vegetable plot are not measured in money alone. The whole family shares in them, the pay-off being better appetites and consequently improved health.

The sun - tan which mother and children may acquire in the easy cultivation of a small garden should not be compared with the temporary kind expensively acquired in two weeks at the beach.

The work of caring for a vegetable garden is not difficult. After the ground has been spaded, no task involves more muscle than sweeping the floor. Modern methods of cultivating stir the soil no deeper than one inch. Adequate fertilization increases yield and quality, so that a small area gives a big harvest.

An average garden plot for a family of four is 1,000 square feet. There is a wide latitude in the choice of vegetables to grow. The heaviest yield can be obtained from what the research men call "efficient" vegetables, which give the most food from the least land.

Heaviest yield can be obtained from vegetables of which we eat the leaves. These include the "greens" which are cooked, and the salad leaves, which are eaten raw. These are the "green, leafy foods" which are so rich in vitamins.

Next in food production are vegetables of which we eat the roots, stems, or seed pods. Beets, carrots, parsnips, broccoli, snap beans, turnips and onions all give heavy yields, are rich in calorie value, vitamins and minerals.

Don't discard any of these on the theory that you do not like them, unless you have eaten them when half grown, fresh from the garden.

Vegetables which give the lowest return in food value for the space they occupy are those of which we eat the seed or fruits, such as melons, cucumbers, squash, sweet corn, peas and lima beans. But if you can grow these on stakes, trellises or fences, thus exploiting the air rights of your garden area, you can afford these luxury crops even in a small garden.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Crab Apple Trees Will Fit Any Yard

The flowering crab apples are beautiful little trees which put on a big show of blossoms in early spring and another show of small crab apple fruits in the Fall. None of the crab apples is over twenty feet high. Most of them are not much more than large shrubs. They fit into yards and gardens wherever you might find room for a big shrub, and yet, they do look like miniature trees. If you have had bad luck with the Japanese flowering cherries, try some crab apples because they are usually much longer lived in the Southern States than the cherries. Everybody is familiar with our own native crab apples that grow all over the South. People who have one in their garden will tell you that it is a beautiful thing when it blooms with the tulips and blue phlox. "But . . ." they will say, " . . . it gets cedar apple rust." After the leaves are about grown, little yellow spots appear all over them, and they soon fall. The oriental crab apples do not get this rust so badly, and for this reason they are better trees for the landscape.

A search through the catalogues will show you that there are over twenty different kinds of oriental crab apples for sale in this country by the nurseries. At the Arnold Arboretum in Boston, there is a great collection of them which is one of the features of spring up there as any Southerner who has ventured so far north will tell you. In our parks and gardens here in the South, you will be amazed at the big show of blossoms put on by the various kinds of crab apple. Perhaps the best known crab is called the Japanese Flowering Crab Apple which you will find under the Latin name Malus floribunda. It was introduced to cultivation about 1862 and can be found blooming in old gardens everywhere. The long branches of buds and partly opened flowers are gorgeous either in the garden or as cut flowers. The little trees are rounded in outline and beautiful even when not in flower. The fruit in the Fall is not especially attractive, but all of the experts agree that this kind is one of the best for flowers, year in, year out. A fine combination of colors can be achieved by planting two or three Japanese crabs with one carmine crab apple in front of them. The carmine crab has crimson buds and rose madder flowers when they open. This is the combination you will see repeated over and over again wherever crabs are grown. It is not a tiresome one, however.

If you lie the red flowkered crab apples, you can have more of this color by planting the Parkman variety with double flowers or the Eley variety with wine red single flowers. Just be sure to plant them in front of the white or pink varieties because they need the contrast to show up. Of course, a dark background of evergreens of some kind makes any shrubs or flowering trees show up better than if they had nothing behind them but sky.

A later variety of light pink crab is the Scheidecker crab apple. This is the one which grows those unusually long sprays of blossoms two or three feet long every spring. The variety was introduced by a German named Spath in Berlin in 1888. It will get to be twenty feet high when mature and is a more upright tree than most crabs. Then there are the double flowered varieties like Bechtel and the River's crab apple. The Bechtel crab is the one you have probably seen in gardens and thought was a double flowered Japanese cherry. A lot of people do. There are now some double varieties of oriental crab apples which are better for gardens because they are not as susceptible to cedar apple rust as the Bechtel crab which is a selected variety of a native species here in the United States. If you want a beautiful double flowered crab, try Catherine or Dorothea.

When Fall comes around, the tiny fruits that hang so abundantly on many of the crab apple trees are just as beautiful as the flowers were in the Spring. The Japanese crab and the Scheidecker crab which bloom so profusely do not, however have very showy fruits on them. For showy fruits, plant the Cherry crab or the Cutleaf crab both of which produce little red and yellow apples in abundance. The fruits of the Purple crab are actually purplish and those of the Arnold crab are bright golden yellow. There is a good deal of variety in the shape of crab apples, too. Some are almost pear shaped.

Bordeaux mixture with which gardeners used to spray just about everything in sight in the Spring is not effective against cedar apple rust on crab apples. A colloidal sulphur spray with something to make it stick and sprayed onto the trees just as the young leaves begin to uncurl should be repeated every week till the leaves are grown. If the trees get scale, spray them with an oil spray of one part oil to fifteen parts water.

CHOOSE FROM THOUSANDS OF THE FINEST FIELD GROWN ROSES

These are not the ordinary "cheap" roses that have been flooding the market, but are the finest quality, sturdy, healthy rose bushes available. Rose Lovers At Work In Garden

The weather man upset our yard pictures for last Sunday. The white magnolia in Miss Biedenharn's yard didn't have a single bloom, but I'm sure you were not disappointed because the purple one right beside it was so beautiful.

The North Side Garden Club did quite a face lifting on the West Monroe library yard. Annie Gray Noe is busy landscaping several of the city schools. The patio Garden Club planted the Monroe approach to the new bridge. There were complaints that the large ligustrums were causing blind corners, so these were cut to the ground. When they come out they can be kept pruned low. For the evergreen back ground of these two approaches the girls used abelias because they are so very hardy and require little care. The plants that look like dead sticks are dwarf crape myrtles, twenty of the pink and ten of the lavender ones. There were six polyantha roses left from previous years planting. These were grouped to make a good showing. Eugene Flournoy was afraid we'd discarded them. He makes that crossing several times a day and has enjoyed the roses blooming from March until frost. Note the girls mulched all plants with pine straw. If we'll keep plenty of leaves and straw around our plants at schools, parks and other public places, the upkeep will be next to nothing.

Have you noticed the primrose jasmine Mr. Joe Ellis is using in projects around Monroe? They have been particularly beautiful this year because they were pruned and fertilized last year. Any plant even as common as the jasmine responds to good care. They are very beautiful down College Avenue.

The shrubs Mrs. Noe is using around KNOE enhance the lines and beauty of the building, yet are fine, hardy plants. Some of these are nandinas, crape myrtle, photinia and eleagnus.

The Welcome Garden Club and Home Garden Club planted the new Salvation Army Home. The Home Garden Club is now planting an avenue of mimosas in Bernstein Park. If I've missed any projects, please call me — everybody is interested.

Garden Jobs

You're finding lots of red spider, white fly and scale on camellias and other slick leaf evergreens. You know how the scale looks. To find red spider rub your finger on the back of a leaf. The finger will be red if that old pest is there. White fly leaves the black sooty deposit that is so unsightly and stunts the growth of plants. Spray with oil emulsion for all three of the above troubles, but wait until camellias have finished blooming. Use amounts specified on outside of can — no more — no less.

You've been waiting to prune those roses so now is the time. We used to think all bush roses had to be pruned low. That, now, is a matter of taste. If you want large bushes and long stem roses, just prune out the old wood. If you want more roses and low growing plants, prune low. Leave three or four good canes and prune to an outside bud so the new growth will grow that way. Don't prune climbing roses until after they bloom. Then cut out the oldest canes where they join the main stem. After you have cut this old cane, chop it up in 4 or 6 inch pieces. They'll fall to the ground and you won't have to tear the entire vine down to get the pruned part out.

After pruning, spray with bordeaux mixture for leaf spot, spraying the bush and the ground. Fertilize and mulch. Keep sulphur on hand for dusting for leaf spots every two weeks.

As your bulbs quit blooming fertilize with bone meal. This food will be there as the tops die, and as the blooms are being made for another year.

Quoting Mrs. Jo Evans, Haphazard Plantation, Ferriday "Feed your day lilies with a complete fertilizer. They'll bloom without it but the blossoms will be larger and deeper in color if fed at this time."

I hope Mrs. C. B. Hammett's paper white narcissus are still blooming as profusely as they were Monday. Drive down Renwick St. to the 300 house and see. If you don't think red buds can be pruned to bush form drive down to 3005 South Grand, the Milton Ford home and see the one in their yard. I believe this small tree would live longer if we'd prune it heavier.

The red buds are in bloom in the boulevard down Lee Avenue and they're worth seeing. Also, the primrose jasmine planted next to the sea wall on South Grand.

Dates

The date for the hat workshop is still indefinite — Blanche Ray is on the sick list and as always Blanche is so necessary when we think of hat working. The TV show on KNOE, Tuesday at 2:45 will be on pruning. You're invited to tune in.

Time out. See you next Sunday.

Biggest Garden Thrill Is Raising Plants From Seed

Amateur gardeners assert that their do - it - yourself hobby is not only the most widely practiced today, but the most ancient of all the avocations now followed in leisure hours by millions of Americans.

They can cite history to prove that the fascination of growing your own plants has appealed to men since history began. Ancient rulers with armies of servants found pleasure in planning gardens and personally planting them.

Not every garden owner today can make the same boast as Cyrus. But garden club members will agree that the keenest thrill to be won from this hobby is experienced when a flower blooms on a plant which grew from a seed or bulb which you planted, like Cyrus, with your own hands.

The difference between growing a garden and admiring those grown by others finds a parallel in athletic sports. No spectator can ever share completely the physical benefits and sense of achievement which the player enjoys.

While its greatest rewards are in mental and physical health, gardening with your own hands in these times pays substantial material profits which the whole family can share.

Decorative gardening not only rewards the gardener but adds substantially to the value of the home where it is practiced.

The social contacts which develop from activity in gardening are not the least of its rewards. The rapid expansion of the garden club movement among both men and women is based upon the spreading interest in this hobby.

Many clubs require that their members be "dirt gardeners" who plant things with their own hands. To qualify for membership in this fraternity, winter is an excellent time to begin. A seed box in a sunny window gives the best of all initiations to the practice of plant growing. Every tiny seedling can be seen as an individual, dependent on your care, and by watching its progress or decline, as you succeed or fail, lessons can be learned far more quickly than in the garden.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

Crab Apple Trees Will Fit Any Yard

The flowering crab apples are beautiful little trees which put on a big show of blossoms in early spring and another show of small crab apple fruits in the Fall. None of the crab apples is over twenty feet high. Most of them are not much more than large shrubs. They fit into yards and gardens wherever you might find room for a big shrub, and yet, they do look like miniature trees. If you have had bad luck with the Japanese flowering cherries, try some crab apples because they are usually much longer lived in the Southern States than the cherries. Everybody is familiar with our own native crab apples that grow all over the South. People who have one in their garden will tell you that it is a beautiful thing when it blooms with the tulips and blue phlox. "But . . ." they will say, " . . . it gets cedar apple rust." After the leaves are about grown, little yellow spots appear all over them, and they soon fall. The oriental crab apples do not get this rust so badly, and for this reason they are better trees for the landscape.

A search through the catalogues will show you that there are over twenty different kinds of oriental crab apples for sale in this country by the nurseries. At the Arnold Arboretum in Boston, there is a great collection of them which is one of the features of spring up there as any Southerner who has ventured so far north will tell you. In our parks and gardens here in the South, you will be amazed at the big show of blossoms put on by the various kinds of crab apple. Perhaps the best known crab is called the Japanese Flowering Crab Apple which you will find under the Latin name Malus floribunda. It was introduced to cultivation about 1862 and can be found blooming in old gardens everywhere. The long branches of buds and partly opened flowers are gorgeous either in the garden or as cut flowers. The little trees are rounded in outline and beautiful even when not in flower. The fruit in the Fall is not especially attractive, but all of the experts agree that this kind is one of the best for flowers, year in, year out. A fine combination of colors can be achieved by planting two or three Japanese crabs with one carmine crab apple in front of them. The carmine crab has crimson buds and rose madder flowers when they open. This is the combination you will see repeated over and over again wherever crabs are grown. It is not a tiresome one, however.

If you lie the red flowkered crab apples, you can have more of this color by planting the Parkman variety with double flowers or the Eley variety with wine red single flowers. Just be sure to plant them in front of the white or pink varieties because they need the contrast to show up. Of course, a dark background of evergreens of some kind makes any shrubs or flowering trees show up better than if they had nothing behind them but sky.

A later variety of light pink crab is the Scheidecker crab apple. This is the one which grows those unusually long sprays of blossoms two or three feet long every spring. The variety was introduced by a German named Spath in Berlin in 1888. It will get to be twenty feet high when mature and is a more upright tree than most crabs. Then there are the double flowered varieties like Bechtel and the River's crab apple. The Bechtel crab is the one you have probably seen in gardens and thought was a double flowered Japanese cherry. A lot of people do. There are now some double varieties of oriental crab apples which are better for gardens because they are not as susceptible to cedar apple rust as the Bechtel crab which is a selected variety of a native species here in the United States. If you want a beautiful double flowered crab, try Catherine or Dorothea.

When Fall comes around, the tiny fruits that hang so abundantly on many of the crab apple trees are just as beautiful as the flowers were in the Spring. The Japanese crab and the Scheidecker crab which bloom so profusely do not, however have very showy fruits on them. For showy fruits, plant the Cherry crab or the Cutleaf crab both of which produce little red and yellow apples in abundance. The fruits of the Purple crab are actually purplish and those of the Arnold crab are bright golden yellow. There is a good deal of variety in the shape of crab apples, too. Some are almost pear shaped.

Bordeaux mixture with which gardeners used to spray just about everything in sight in the Spring is not effective against cedar apple rust on crab apples. A colloidal sulphur spray with something to make it stick and sprayed onto the trees just as the young leaves begin to uncurl should be repeated every week till the leaves are grown. If the trees get scale, spray them with an oil spray of one part oil to fifteen parts water.

Garden Center Notes

Growers Meet At La. Tech

Last Monday a group of interested bulb growers met on the Louisiana Tech campus with Professor John Wright, floriculturist and President Ropp to see the plot of ground that is being prepared for the bulb test garden.

This new project at Louisiana Tech is sponsored by the Louisiana Garden Club Federation. The detailed drawings shown by Mr. Wright and the interested discussion by the group promises real beauty next spring.

The Fifth District was represented at the South Atlantic Regional meeting of Federated Garden Clubs held in Alexandria this week by our current director, Mrs. Zollie Meadows, Ruston and our director-elect, Mrs. E. B. Knotts, Sicily Island.

Among other garden club members attending were Mrs. Lamonte Wright and Mrs. B. H. Talbot, Ruston, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, state radio chairman, Mrs. J. W. Golson, Mrs. V. S. Garnett and your garden center secretary. It is a stimulating experience to meet and exchange ideas with garden club members of other states.

Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Mrs. Archie Dickerson judged our weekly flower show, which was provided by the Garden Gate Garden Club of Winnsboro.

First place award went to Mrs. James Holmes for a lovely line-mass design of white narcissus and nephthytis leaves in a chartreuse container.

Second place was awarded to Mrs. Doyle Perritt for a crescent design in tints and tones of yellow using forsythia and calendulas in a soft green bowl.

Third place award went to Mrs. Faye Walter for a lovely mass arrangement using the purple blooms of magnolia soulangeana and pussywillow in a low white container.

In the horticulture section, Mrs. J. W. McLemore, Jr. was awarded a blue ribbon for marguerite daisies. Mrs. Billy Duplissy was awarded blue ribbons for fine white iris and yellow dutch hyacinths.

Miss Irene Newhall of Monroe displayed a bouquet of lovely white "swan's neck" narcissus. This beautiful flower can only be found in old gardens and is no longer available commercially.

Vegetable Plot Pays Big Bonus

Profits from your own vegetable plot are not measured in money alone. The whole family shares in them, the pay-off being better appetites and consequently improved health.

The sun - tan which mother and children may acquire in the easy cultivation of a small garden should not be compared with the temporary kind expensively acquired in two weeks at the beach.

Gardeners, young and old, enjoy all - season tan, with all the benefits that come from an abundance of vitamin D.

The work of caring for a vegetable garden is not difficult. After the ground has been spaded, no task involves more muscle than sweeping the floor. Modern methods of cultivating stir the soil no deeper than one inch. Adequate fertilization increases yield and quality, so that a small area gives a big harvest.

An average garden plot for a family of four is 1,000 square feet. There is a wide latitude in the choice of vegetables to grow. The heaviest yield can be obtained from what the research men call "efficient" vegetables, which give the most food from the least land.

Heaviest yield can be obtained from vegetables of which we eat the leaves. These include the "greens" which are cooked, and the salad leaves, which are eaten raw. These are the "green, leafy foods" which are so rich in vitamins.

Next in food production are vegetables of which we eat the roots, stems, or seed pods. Beets, carrots, parsnips, broccoli, snap beans, turnips and onions all give heavy yields, are rich in calorie value, vitamins and minerals.

Don't discard any of these on the theory that you do not like them, unless you have eaten them when half grown, fresh from the garden.

Vegetables which give the lowest return in food value for the space they occupy are those of which we eat the seed or fruits, such as melons, cucumbers, squash, sweet corn, peas and lima beans. But if you can grow these on stakes, trellises or fences, thus exploiting the air rights of your garden area, you can afford these luxury crops even in a small garden.

"THE COMMAND"—CinemaScope production from Warner Bros., is represented by artist's panoramic drawing featuring highlights from the WarnerColor film. Fiery action and tempestuous romance against a background of limitless horizons are said to be in store for movie fans in "The Command." Guy Madison, Joan Weldon and James Whitmore head the starring cast with Harvey Lembeck in support. "The Command" marks the first story of the great American frontier filmed in the CinemaScope process with the Anamorphic lens. It opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre.

Transitors operate on about one-millionth of a watt. A tube requires one watt merely to heat its filament.

'The Command', Filmed In Cinemascope Here ,Wed.

The first CinemaScope production of an American frontier drama, "The Command," opens this week on Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. Guy Madison, Joan Weldon, and James Whitmore portray the leading roles in the Warner Bros. epic which marks the studio's entry into the new dimension family.

CinemaScope, already hailed one of the greatest advancements in the history of motion pictures on the basis of its record-breaking acceptance by the public, is the process which utilizes the anamorphic lens invented by Prof. Henri Chretien of France. Without wearing special glasses, the viewer is said to be transported into the story by the scope and magnitude of the picture shown upon the new Walker Screen which reaches from proscenium to proscenium, almost the entire width of the Paramount Theatre stage.

"The Command," in color by WarnerColor, features a story based on a fictional work of James Warner Bellah which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "The White Invader." Set in 1878 on the battleground of the Western plains, "The Command" is said to depict the war which for all time resolved the possession of the territory known today as Wyoming. The story centers about the activities of a cavalry command led by a young medical officer, played by Guy Madison.

Personal Drama

When the ranking field officer is killed in a skirmish it remains for Madison to assume the command and lead his depleted forces in a last ditch effort to hold the territory. The personal drama of the young doctor is said to play an important part of the film story. The resentment of the men against following an untested officer into battle, the fiery romance of Madison and Joan Weldon, and the personal feud between the doctor and James Whitmore, his hard-fighting top sergeant, are the dramatic elements which enter into the screenplay.

New Screen Vistas

The CinemaScope film was produced on location in the rugged mountain country of California. In addition to the action and drama, the CinemaScope epic is also said to offer scenic beauty in new vistas. The mountains, the plains, the Western sky are reportedly reproduced in CinemaScope and WarnerColor in unique dimension. These backgrounds will unfold on the huge curved screen at the Paramount, Wednesday at regular admission prices!

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Lifetime Of Interest In Women's Beauty

A famous and distinguished friend of mine called my attention to Nina Debrova because of the wonderful results he had seen her accomplish with the thinning hairline and with skin troubles. He felt that she would provide helpful and interesting "Why Grow Old?" information.

I had luncheon with Miss Debrova recently at her New York apartment. Her whole life has been extremely fascinating and she is one of the most fascinating parts of it. She is slim and well contoured with an extremely youthful face and loads of verve.

What interested me most is the fact that her present success is a natural outgrowth of her native interests, experience, background and training. It just had to happen!

Studied Ballet

Nina was born in Russia. As a child she studied ballet and became impressed with the importance of good body tone and fine posture. The Revolution came along and put a stop to all that. Later on, she studied pharmaceutical chemistry, following in the footsteps of her father and three generations of pharmacists before him.

She came to America as a very young bride and did all sorts of odd jobs to help her husband finish his education. Along with this, she made cosmetics. She had watched her father make cosmetics for her lovely mother, who was very diligent and faithful in her daily use of them.

Nina says, "I always had the dream of doing something to make women beautiful. I think this dream was stimulated by watching mother giving care to her face and hair every single day, with such charming results."

So as she helped her husband get his education she made cosmetics for herself and her friends, experimenting constantly. For years she has sent them to faraway places. Then came more study and more experimenting.

Diet Important

Her entire theory of skin and hair care is so very sound. She thinks that diet plays a great role in the beauty of both. She says that dandruff and itching scalp and loss of hair, if neglected, will eventually result in baldness and that local scalp and hair hygiene can arrest an advanced condition and cure a beginning.

She believes greatly in stimulation. She herself gives a marvelous scalp massage which includes the neck and the muscles over the shoulders and down the back.

Stimulation, cleanliness and a fine diet are her three "musts." With this in mind she was the first to create a liquid cleansing cream, long before anyone brought it out, and has worked for years on the hair lotion which will dissolve dandruff and is cleansing and stimulating to the scalp.

Remember, diet, stimulation and cleanliness are the magic words for beauty!

Tomorrow: "Correct Hair Care Should Start Early."

"THE COMMAND"—CinemaScope production from Warner Bros., is represented by artist's panoramic drawing featuring highlights from the WarnerColor film. Fiery action and tempestuous romance against a background of limitless horizons are said to be in store for movie fans in "The Command." Guy Madison, Joan Weldon and James Whitmore head the starring cast with Harvey Lembeck in support. "The Command" marks the first story of the great American frontier filmed in the CinemaScope process with the Anamorphic lens. It opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre.

'The Command', Filmed In Cinemascope Here Wed.

The first CinemaScope production of an American frontier drama, "The Command," opens this week on Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. Guy Madison, Joan Weldon, and James Whitmore portray the leading roles in the Warner Bros. epic which marks the studio's entry into the new dimension family.

CinemaScope, already hailed one of the greatest advancements in the history of motion pictures on the basis of its record-breaking acceptance by the public, is the process which utilizes the anamorphic lens invented by Prof. Henri Chretien of France. Without wearing special glasses, the viewer is said to be transported into the story by the scope and magnitude of the picture shown upon the new Walker Screen which reaches from proscenium to proscenium, almost the entire width of the Paramount Theatre stage.

"The Command," in color by WarnerColor, features a story based on a fictional work of James Warner Bellah which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "The White Invader." Set in 1878 on the battleground of the Western plains, "The Command" is said to depict the war which for all time resolved the possession of the territory known today as Wyoming. The story centers about the activities of a cavalry command led by a young medical officer, played by Guy Madison.

Personal Drama

When the ranking field officer is killed in a skirmish it remains for Madison to assume the command and lead his depleted forces in a last ditch effort to hold the territory. The personal drama of the young doctor is said to play an important part of the film story. The resentment of the men against following an untested officer into battle, the fiery romance of Madison and Joan Weldon, and the personal feud between the doctor and James Whitmore, his hard-fighting top sergeant, are the dramatic elements which enter into the screenplay.

New Screen Vistas

The CinemaScope film was produced on location in the rugged mountain country of California. In addition to the action and drama, the CinemaScope epic is also said to offer scenic beauty in new vistas. The mountains, the plains, the Western sky are reportedly reproduced in CinemaScope and WarnerColor in unique dimension. These backgrounds will unfold on the huge curved screen at the Paramount, Wednesday at regular admission prices!

REDS SEEK GREEK TRADE

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 27 (AP)—Red Romania has expressed a desire to restore trade relations with Greece, Foreign Minister Stephen Stephanopoulos announced tonight.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Lifetime Of Interest In Women's Beauty

A famous and distinguished friend of mine called my attention to Nina Debrova because of the wonderful results he had seen her accomplish with the thinning hairline and with skin troubles. He felt that she would provide helpful and interesting "Why Grow Old?" information.

I had luncheon with Miss Debrova recently at her New York apartment. Her whole life has been extremely fascinating and she is one of the most fascinating parts of it. She is slim and well contoured with an extremely youthful face and loads of verve.

What interested me most is the fact that her present success is a natural outgrowth of her native interests, experience, background and training. It just had to happen!

Studied Ballet

Nina was born in Russia. As a child she studied ballet and became impressed with the importance of good body tone and fine posture. The Revolution came along and put a stop to all that. Later on, she studied pharmaceutical chemistry, following in the footsteps of her father and three generations of pharmacists before him.

She came to America as a very young bride and did all sorts of odd jobs to help her husband finish his education. Along with this, she made cosmetics. She had watched her father make cosmetics for her lovely mother, who was very diligent and faithful in her daily use of them.

Nina says, "I always had the dream of doing something to make women beautiful. I think this dream was stimulated by watching mother giving care to her face and hair every single day, with such charming results."

So as she helped her husband get his education she made cosmetics for herself and her friends, experimenting constantly. For years she has sent them to far-away places. Then came more study and more experimenting.

Diet Important

Her entire theory of skin and hair care is so very sound. She thinks that diet plays a great role in the beauty of both. She says that dandruff and itching scalp and loss of hair, if neglected, will eventually result in baldness and that local scalp and hair hygiene can arrest an advanced condition and cure a beginning.

She believes greatly in stimulation. She herself gives a marvelous scalp massage which includes the neck and the muscles over the shoulders and down the back.

Stimulation, cleanliness and a fine diet are her three "musts." With this in mind she was the first to create a liquid cleansing cream, long before anyone brought it out, and has worked for years on the hair lotion which will dissolve dandruff and is cleansing and stimulating to the scalp.

Song Successes Must Be Promoted And Plugged

By LESTER LEE
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, February 27 — What does the public like in popular songs? Well, if I knew the answer, I'd be a millionaire—and so would hundreds of other composers and lyricists. All you can do is to keep trying to find the magic formula — if there's any such thing.

Perhaps I can partially answer my own question by saying that there's no particular trend right now — or perhaps at any time. It's all very simple — maybe. All you have to do is dream up a tune which catches the imagination, tastes and memory of millions of people — and then you have a smash hit. You hope. And, of course, couple that number with lyrics which appeal to the same millions of people.

We have a hit, it seems, in "Sadie Thompson's Song." Without seeming to boast, I wish to say I composed it, with lyrics by Ned Washington, who wrote the words of the number. Then the memory for such hits as "High Noon." The "Sadie Thompson's Song" has been nominated by the Academy Award for "Oscar" honors.

Generally speaking, songs don't become successes merely on their own. They must be plugged—promoted into the consciousness of the public — or they are apt to be overlooked. Even a song of outstanding quality must be accorded this treatment All this is accomplished sometimes through the medium of a fine picture, such as "Sadie Thompson," and through radio and television presentations and plugs and sale of records and sheet music, plus ads.

Great song hits are not just born. They're developed into successes by continuous promotion that familiarizes their tunes and lyrics so that you can hum or sing them. This format applies to practically every hit of modern times. Even a truly great number can be lost in the shuffle without application of this effective technique. It's repetition that "sells" a song to the public—not an isolated presentation of the number. Then the memory retains the tune and words which, otherwise, would not register.

How are songs sold to the firms which publish them? Well, directly by the writers, in most instances. Naturally, a composer builds up a reputation through years of effort, and this opens the proper doors in the publishing field. Hit songs have a certain magic in creating a market for the works of both composers and lyric writers. But the tune being offered, of course, must stand on its own two musical feet.

Nowadays, a hit can bring its writers an average of $30,000, sometimes more and sometimes a little less. Translated, this means a sale of approximately 200,000 copies of sheet music and 1,000,000 records. Personally, I was lucky with "Pennsylvania Polka," which helped me considerably financially, and also such numbers as "Sabre Dance" and "A Dreamer With a Penny."

Some film producers have tried to substitute old standard numbers for new ones without much success. The public, which is pretty smart in 1954, generally demands fresh material, not threadbare numbers which have been played out over the years. In terms of promotion, too, old standard numbers have little or no value in helping put over a motion picture, as compared with tunes hot off the composer's piano. And, inasmuch as film producers benefit financially from new songs which originate in their productions, they find it most advantageous to use new music.

A composer's career is not one for people who want to discover an easy way to get rich. Writing music is really a tough assignment which necessitates not only talent but the ability to apply it hour after hour, without regard for the family clock. Blood, sweat and tears often go into the composition of a number, hit or otherwise.

I feel that the quality of popular music is increasing all the while, and this may especially be true of songs used in connection with motion pictures.

I feel that a very important contribution to any motion picture is the "mood" or "character" type of song. In "Sadie Thompson's Song" we have a number which describes the character portrayed by Rita Hayworth and the exact mood she creates.

There is only one way to become a composer or lyricist. That is by intensely studying the songs which are in the "hit" category. You don't write songs by just wishing to do so. You must familiarize yourself with their requirements in both the music and lyric departments. So, embryonic song writers, study your medium.

MILK CONTROL ASKED

STONEWALL, La., Feb. 27 —UP—The Northwest Louisiana Milk Producers association said Friday it was asking the federal government to control the milk market in the area. About 150 members of the association resolved unanimously to ask for a federal milk law in a meeting in the schoolhouse here Wednesday night. If the law is granted, the government would control moving of milk out of the area and set prices paid to producers.

Living Costs In January Close To Record Levels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —UP— Living costs, pushed up by soaring coffee and pork prices, rose close to record levels in January, to reverse two months of decline, the government reported Friday.

The three-tenths of one per cent rise reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics fell short of the October record, however. As a result, 1 million workers in the automobile, aircraft and farm equipment industries will take a one cent an hour pay cut.

Bureau director Ewan Clague described the price situation as one of overall "stability." He said he expects the next index to remain at about the present level, despite further increases in coffee prices since the report was compiled.

The bureau reported that the index of living costs at mid-January, as determined by a survey of 46 cities, stood at 115.2 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. It compared with 114.9 per cent in December reached last October.

The January rise reversed a two-months trend in which the cost of living had declined slightly in November and December. Normally, the cost of living goes down in January.

The 1 million workers in the three vital industries received a 2-cent hourly wage hike Dec. 1 as a result of the October index. But because the index did not return to the October level, they will lose half that increase March 1.

The pay cut is the first for workers in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries since last April, when their wages also were reduced one cent an hour because of a decline in the index.

Clague termed it a healthy sign that prices remained strong despite rising unemployment and the current economic dip. The January index was 1.1 per cent above a year ago and 13.2 per cent above the June, 1950, level.

The bureau reported that the January increase resulted chiefly from a 3.1 per cent rise in coffee prices and a 6.5 per cent increase in pork prices. It noted that coffee prices have continued to rise since mid-January.

The Federal Trade Commission is conducting an investigation to determine if producers, importers and traders pushed up coffee prices artificially.

Song Successes Must Be Promoted And Plugged

By LESTER LEE
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, February 27 — What does the public like in popular songs? Well, if I knew the answer, I'd be a millionaire—and so would hundreds of other composers and lyricists. All you can do is to keep trying to find the magic formula — if there's any such thing.

Perhaps I can partially answer my own question by saying that there's no particular trend right now — or perhaps at any time. It's all very simple — maybe. All you have to do is dream up a tune which catches the imagination, tastes and memory of millions of people — and then you have a smash hit. You hope. And, of course, couple that number with lyrics which appeal to the same millions of people.

We have a hit, it seems, in "Sadie Thompson's Song." Without seeming to boast, I wish to say I composed it, with lyrics by Ned Washington, who wrote the words for such hits as "High Noon." The "Sadie Thompson's Song" has been nominated by the Academy Award for "Oscar" honors.

Generally speaking, songs don't become successes merely on their own. They must be plugged—promoted into the consciousness of the public — or they are apt to be overlooked. Even a song of outstanding quality must be accorded this treatment. All this is accomplished sometimes through the medium of a fine picture, such as "Sadie Thompson," and through radio and television presentations and plugs and sale of records and sheet music, plus ads.

Great song hits are not just born. They're developed into successes by continuous promotion that familiarizes their tunes and lyrics so that you can hum or sing them. This format applies to practically every hit of modern times. Even a truly great number can be lost in the shuffle without application of this effective technique. It's repetition that "sells" a song to the public—not an isolated presentation of the number. Then the memory retains the tune and words which, otherwise, would not register.

How are songs sold to the firms which publish them? Well, directly by the writers, in most instances. Naturally, a composer builds up a reputation through years of effort, and this opens the proper doors in the publishing field. Hit songs have a certain magic in creating a market for the works of both composers and lyric writers. But the tune being offered, of course, must stand on its own two musical feet.

Nowadays, a hit can bring its writers an average of $30,000, sometimes more and sometimes a little less. Translated, this means a sale of approximately 200,000 copies of sheet music and 1,000,000 records. Personally, I was lucky with "Pennsylvania Polka," which helped me considerably financially, and also such numbers as "Sabre Dance" and "A Dreamer With a Penny."

Living Costs In January Close To Record Levels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —UP— Living costs, pushed up by soaring coffee and pork prices, rose close to record levels in January, to reverse two months of decline, the government reported Friday.

The three-tenths of one per cent rise reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics fell short of the October record, however. As a result, 1 million workers in the automobile, aircraft and farm equipment industries will take a one cent an hour pay cut.

Bureau director Ewan Clague described the price situation as one of overall "stability." He said he expects the next index to remain at about the present level, despite further increases in coffee prices since the report was compiled.

The bureau reported that the index of living costs at mid-January, as determined by a survey of 46 cities, stood at 115.2 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. It compared with 114.9 per cent in December reached last October.

The January rise reversed a two-months trend in which the cost of living had declined slightly in November and December. Normally, the cost of living goes down in January.

The 1 million workers in the three vital industries received a 2-cent hourly wage hike Dec. 1 as a result of the October index. But because the index did not return to the October level, they will lose half that increase March 1.

The pay cut is the first for workers in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries since last April, when their wages also were reduced one cent an hour because of a decline in the index.

Clague termed it a healthy sign that prices remained strong despite rising unemployment and the current economic dip. The January index was 1.1 per cent above a year ago and 13.2 per cent above the June, 1950, level.

The bureau reported that the January increase resulted chiefly from a 3.1 per cent rise in coffee prices and a 6.5 per cent increase in pork prices. It noted that coffee prices have continued to rise since mid-January.

The Federal Trade Commission is conducting an investigation to determine if producers, importers and traders pushed up coffee prices artificially.

About 150 members of the association resolved unanimously to ask for a federal milk law in a meeting in the schoolhouse here Wednesday night. If the law is granted, the government would control moving of milk out of the area and set prices paid to producers.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, B. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Apparently, yes. Psychologists Albert Ellis, Ruth Doorbar, Henry Guze, and Lemon Clark, M. D., showed colored photographs of a model both with and without nylon hose. Seventy per cent of the men and 66 per cent of the women preferred the stocking-legged view. Attention, bathing beauties! Surprisingly, both men and women preferred tan nylons to black.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Psychologists had 150 women college students, ages 18 to 24, recall as many "unpleasant experiences" of their childhood and teenage as they could in 20 minutes. Unpleasant experiences recalled up to age 5 were of "pain and unpleasant sensations"; those from 6 to 12, "difficulties of learning to live in a social world"; those from 12 to 18, "feelings of inadequacy and insecurity."

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No, says Attorney James Geroulis. He has collected the following pippins from "perfectly sober" (?) drivers: "Honest, Judge, I hadn't drunk a thing." "I had a few, but not enough to make me drunk." "Honest, I only had two glasses of beer." "I had an accident and, while waiting, had a quick one in a nearby saloon." "I was merely having an argument with my wife."—and a dozen more.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: A few months ago my friend bet his brother that he could take his brother's girl away from him and keep her affection for a year. The wager was a big one and I am holding it for the boys. At the time, it all sounded like a lark but as of now I feel like a heel to have any part of it. The girl has always been like a kid sister to me even lending me money when I was short. She has really fallen for the jerk (my friend), even though he spends nothing on her as he takes her to family affairs or a movie; often she travels a half a mile to meet him when he can't get the car. This bet was to be a secret among us three but I have now found out that his parents are in on it, treat the girl nicely but all laugh and kid about it when she isn't around. It makes me sick to my stomach.

The girl is so madly in love with the boy she can't see through him. I told the boys that I was through and would tell her about it (though I hate to be the one). They laugh and say they and their parents will deny it and that the girl won't believe it. Please tell me what to do. —A. B. C.

What do you mean "the jerk?" You are all "jerks" to tamper with an innocent girl's affections. What can you do? There is little you can do, now. If the girl fancies herself in love with the No. 1 jerk anything you tell her will make no impression whatsoever. However, you can try. Return the wager money to your lovely, chivalrous friends, tell them you feel obligated, as a gentleman-jerk, to warn the girl whether she believes you or not, and then do it. Apologize for your part, tell her all you can do is state the facts and hope that she will believe you or at least use her eyes and head and not to fall too deeply until you are proved or disproved. Incidentally, don't tell anyone I told you, but I think you are in love with the girl, too.

Dear Ann Landers. I have been going out with a fellow whom I love very much. He says he loves me but it is difficult for me to believe him as he is a divorced man and all he talks about is his former wife. I keep telling him that I am not particularly interested but it does no good. He claims we are going steady but he still dates other girls. He gets mad at every little thing and now he's mad at me and won't take me out. What should I do.—Dixie

Be glad he's mad because you didn't stand a chance against the former wife, anyway. Find someone who isn't looking for a sympathetic shoulder on which to weep and can't see beyond the shoulder for the love he holds for someone else.

Dear Ann Landers: We are two girls 12 and 13. We would like you to answer the following questions: (1) Are we too young to wear lipstick? (2) Go to the show with boys who kiss us? (3) Let boys hold us tight and dance cheek to cheek at our monthly school dances?

At our school we are considered, "Hoods." — Two Hoods

"Hoods," and proud of it, eh, kids? To questions 1, 2 and 3, you are too young . . . period. Two young to be out of nursery school because you are acting like tots of that age who must call attention to themselves by any means even if it results in degrading yourselves. Whom do you think you are impressing? You are making fools of yourselves. In a few short years you will be writing me and asking why "nice" boys don't date you. The answer lies in the pattern you are setting right now . . . being two "hoods."

Dear Mrs. Landers: My husband is very good-looking and dresses beautifully when we go out somewhere special. However, at other times he goes around mostly on the sloppy side, even needing a shave or haircut. I don't mind this for myself but am embarrassed when we meet friends as I want to feel proud of him. What do you suggest?—Mrs. D. P.

PS—I hesitate to say anything to him as in other ways he is a perfect husband.

Well, hesitate no longer. It is an accumulation of these petty little irritating things that build up to a boiler full of steam and causes marriages to go up in smoke. Get it off your chest. Tell your good-looking husband how much it means to you and that he is not doing justice to his looks. Tell him he can go "native" when at home and on weekends if he feels he must, but out of respect for you to please "look smart" when out with you in public.

Dear Mrs. Landers: While shopping in a downtown department store I met the loveliest girl I have ever seen . . . a salesgirl. I would like to see her again and ask her for a date. How does one go about such a thing?—Stupid

Funny, but that procedure isn't listed! However, it looks as if it's going to cost you a pretty penny. You'll have to start buying the little lady's wares and ask absorbing questions about the merchandise each time until you become a familiar figure.

That accomplished, you 'fess up that you are more interested in her than the sales and see if there is a corresponding spark. If so, . . . well, for heaven's sake, do I have to date her, too?

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have a sister who has two dogs and everywhere she goes she takes them with her. If she does not, she makes me stay with them as if they were children and I a baby sitter! Her husband gets mad because the dogs lie all over other people's furniture, but she doesn't care. Children are afraid of them, too, but it doesn't bother her. She says she would rather have dogs any day as they listen and mind, whereas children do not. Please tell us what to do before we all go crazy with those dogs.—No Name

How ridiculous. Your brother-in-law ought to have his head examined for putting up with such nonsense. And the rest of you should not allow the dogs in your homes. If your sister doesn't like having the dogs excluded from the invitations, let her stay away, too. Pass the word around among the relatives (and friends) to refuse the dogs entrance until your sister begins to show more consideration for their homes and feelings.

Dear Mrs. Landers: We have been married for 16 years and have two children. We were quite happy for the first 14 years. Then my wife began to cheat and tell me the most outlandish lies in her efforts to convince me that she didn't do anything wrong. I am seven years her senior, am a good provider and have always seen that she wasn't bored with married life; we went out together at least once a week. She doesn't do too much housework, seems to crave a "fast" life and thinks everyone is playing up to her. I have seen her kissing another man and then watch her act as though nothing were wrong. How naive does she think I am? I don't know what to do and think constantly of the children who may be the ones to suffer.—A. I.

Some women can't bear the thought of growing older and think they can cheat old lady age by having men assure them with their love and attention that they are as young and desirable as they once were. Give it to your wife straight from the shoulder instead of snooping around trying to catch her kissing other men. Tell her you are not going to let her make a fool of herself or you or jeopardize the emotional rights of your children and that she will either seek help to get over her "fling," give up her tom-catting herself, or get out. You might be able to help by giving her more love and attention.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of News-Star—World.)

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Apparently, yes. Psychologists Albert Ellis, Ruth Doorbar, Henry Guze, and Lemon Clark, M. D., showed colored photographs of a model both with and without nylon hose. Seventy per cent of the men and 66 per cent of the women preferred the stocking-legged view. Attention, bathing beauties! Surprisingly, both men and women preferred tan nylons to black.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Psychologists had 150 women college students, ages 18 to 24, recall as many "unpleasant experiences" of their childhood and teenage as they could in 20 minutes. Unpleasant experiences recalled up to age 5 were of "pain and unpleasant sensations"; those from 6 to 12, "difficulties of learning to live in a social world"; those from 12 to 18, "feelings of inadequacy and insecurity."

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No, says Attorney James Geroulis. He has collected the following pippins from "perfectly sober" (?) drivers: "Honest, Judge, I hadn't drunk a thing." "I had a few, but not enough to make me drunk." "Honest, I only had two glasses of beer." "I had an accident and, while waiting, had a quick one in a nearby saloon." "I was merely having an argument with my wife."—and a dozen more.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: A few months ago my friend bet his brother that he could take his brother's girl away from him and keep her affection for a year. The wager was a big one and I am holding it for the boys. At the time, it all sounded like a lark but as of now I feel like a heel to have any part of it. The girl has always been like a kid sister to me even lending me money when I was short. She has really fallen for the jerk (my friend), even though he spends nothing on her as he takes her to family affairs or a movie; often she travels a half a mile to meet him when he can't get the car. This bet was to be a secret among us three but I have now found out that his parents are in on it, treat the girl nicely but all laugh and kid about it when she isn't around. It makes me sick to my stomach.

The girl is so madly in love with the boy she can't see through him. I told the boys that I was through and would tell her about it (though I hate to be the one). They laugh and say they and their parents will deny it and that the girl won't believe it. Please tell me what to do. —A. B. C.

What do you mean "the jerk?" You are all "jerks" to tamper with an innocent girl's affections. What can you do? There is little you can do, now. If the girl fancies herself in love with the No. 1 jerk anything you tell her will make no impression whatsoever. However, you can try. Return the wager money to your lovely, chivalrous friends, tell them you feel obligated, as a gentleman-jerk, to warn the girl whether she believes you or not, and then do it. Apologize for your part, tell her all you can do is state the facts and hope that she will believe you or at least use her eyes and head and not to fall too deeply until you are proved or disproved Incidentally, don't tell anyone I told you, but I think you are in love with the girl, too.

Dear Ann Landers. I have been going out with a fellow whom I love very much. He says he loves me but it is difficult for me to believe him as he is a divorced man and all he talks about is his former wife. I keep telling him that I am not particularly interested but it does no good. He claims we are going steady but he still dates other girls. He gets mad at every little thing and now he's mad at me and won't take me out. What should I do.—Dixie

Be glad he's mad because you didn't stand a chance against the former wife, anyway. Find someone who isn't looking for a sympathetic shoulder on which to weep and can't see beyond the shoulder for the love he holds for someone else.

Dear Ann Landers: We are two girls 12 and 13. We would like you to answer the following questions: (1) Are we too young to wear lipstick? (2) Go to the show with boys who kiss us? (3) Let boys hold us tight and dance cheek to cheek at our monthly school dances?

At our school we are considered, "Hoods." — Two Hoods

"Hoods," and proud of it, eh, kids? To questions 1, 2 and 3, you are too young . . . period. Two young to be out of nursery school because you are acting like tots of that age who must call attention to themselves by any means even if it results in degrading yourselves. Whom do you think you are impressing? You are making fools of yourselves. In a few short years you will be writing me and asking why "nice" boys don't date you. The answer lies in the pattern you are setting right now . . . being two "hoods."

Dear Mrs. Landers: My husband is very good-looking and dresses beautifully when we go out somewhere special. However, at other times he goes around mostly on the sloppy side. even needing a shave or haircut. I don't mind this for myself but am embarrassed when we meet friends as I want to feel proud of him. What do you suggest?—Mrs. D. P.

PS—I hesitate to say anything to him as in other ways he is a perfect husband.

Well, hesitate no longer. It is an accumulation of these petty little irritating things that build up to a boiler full of steam and causes marriages to go up in smoke. Get it off your chest. Tell your good-looking husband how much it means to you and that he is not doing justice to his looks. Tell him he can go "native" when at home and on weekends if he feels he must, but out of respect for you to please "look smart" when out with you in public.

Dear Mrs. Landers: While shopping in a downtown department store I met the loveliest girl I have ever seen . . . a salesgirl. I would like to see her again and ask her for a date. How does one go about such a thing?—Stupid

Funny, but that procedure isn't listed! However, it looks as if it's going to cost you a pretty penny. You'll have to start buying the little lady's wares and ask absorbing questions about the merchandise each time until you become a familiar figure.

That accomplished, you 'fess up that you are more interested in her than the sales and see if there is a corresponding spark. If so, . . . well, for heaven's sake, do I have to date her, too?

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have a sister who has two dogs and everywhere she goes she takes them with her. If she does not, she makes me stay with them as if they were children and I a baby sitter! Her husband gets mad because the dogs lie all over other people's furniture, but she doesn't care. Children are afraid of them, too, but it doesn't bother her. She says she would rather have dogs any day as they listen and mind, whereas children do not. Please tell us what to do before we all go crazy with those dogs.—No Name

How ridiculous. Your brother-in-law ought to have his head examined for putting up with such nonsense. And the rest of you should not allow the dogs in your homes. The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

A TALE AT THE EXPLORERS' CLUB, BENGALI---

GULLIQUE ISLE, HAVING NO REAL GOVERNMENT, IS RUN BY EX-PIRATES. IT HAS BEEN CORRECTLY CALLED THE MOST EVIL PLACE ON EARTH.

"AS THE SAYING GOES, IT IS WIDE OPEN, WITH CRIME, GAMBLING AND EVEN A RUMORED SLAVE MART. THE ONLY LAW IS THE GUN.

"WE WERE TAKEN BEFORE THE UNCROWNED KING OF THE ISLAND, A HUGE, INCREDIBLE ROGUE NAMED RAMA," CONTINUES CALDER.

WELCOME TO GULLIQUE. ALWAYS GLAD TO SEE TOURISTS IF THEY LIKE TO GAMBLE.

WE'VE NOT COME TO GAMBLE. OUR SHIP WAS FORCED IN BY THE STORM.

YOU ARE A SCIENTIST, A WRITER? MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO WRITE MY LIFE STORY. I AM AMAZING, FANTASTIC.

I'M SURE OF THAT. HOWEVER, WE MUST MOVE ON WHEN THE WEATHER CLEARS.

"I'LL ADMIT I WAS SCARED," SAYS CALDER. "IT WAS A PIRATES' DEN! CONFUSED, I LOOKED ABOUT THE ROOM···

FOR YOUR SHIP THERE IS A DOCKING FEE OF TEN THOUSAND A NIGHT.

TEN THOUSAND~BUT THAT IS FANTASTIC! WE CAN'T AFFORD IT

"THERE, ON THE WALL, I SAW AN ODD THING. A GUN BELT, WITH A SKULL ON IT, HUNG AS A TROPHY. I ASKED RAMA ABOUT IT···
